Passengers are booked to any point on the principal Railroad Routes in the United States and Canada, or through to Liverpool, London, or Paris, &c., with special advantages, and may, without extra cost, avail themselves of the Southern Pacific Railroad (with its connections) now open; thus avoiding the winter's cold of the more Northern Route; and for a slight additional charge may go through the Southern States to New Orleans, and thence to New York.

Passengers have choice of the unrivalled Atlantic steamships of Cunard, Inman, White Star, and other lines. And ALL first-class passengers are allowed 250lb. baggage FREE OF CHARGE.

Tickets are good until used, and allow passengers to stop off as long as they choose, to visit all places of interest in America and Canada. Stop-over privileges are also allowed on steamers' tickets for Auckland and Honolulu.

THROUGH FARE TO LONDON,
FIRST CLASS ... £66 and upwards.

Time cards, railway maps, and guide books, showing all routes to any point in United States, may be had on application.

Passengers proceeding eastward can connect with the steamers of the Pacific Mail S. S. Co., leaving ports in China and Japan for San Francisco.

Drafts, payable in gold in San Francisco, issued by the undersigned.

For rates of passage and freight, and all other information, apply to GILCHRIST, WATT, and CO., General Agents, 1, Bent-street, Sydney.

REFRIGERATORS. OUR PATENT SELF-VENTILATING REFRIGERATORS.
Over 200 to select from. Sizes suitable for cottage or mansion. These Refrigerators have been long and favourably known in America. Being constructed self-ventilating on scientific principles, a gradual and constant change of air is secured, while the rotation of air equalises the temperature, thus saving from 25 to 50 per cent. of ice.
The Refrigerators are mounted on castors and consequently are moved with great ease. Our prices are from 37s 6d to 126s.

NEW BUSINESS:
The new business of the year 1882 consisted of 6466 policies, assuring £2,222,541 and producing a new annual premium revenue of £73,372, 3s 10d; this amount exceeds the new business of any previous year of the Society's history.
EXISTING BUSINESS:
The policies in force at 31st December, 1882, numbered 50,712, assuring £18,566,094.
The annual income was £885,495 3s 9d.
The ACCUMULATED FUND WAS £4,349,584 0s 11d.
DISTRIBUTION OF SURPLUS.
The Seventh Quinquennial Investigation and Division of Profits will take place as at 31st December, 1883, and all policies effected before that date will participate therein.
ANNUAL DIVISIONS OF SURPLUS.

H. G. SWYNY, Managing Director.

MUTUAL LIFE ASSOCIATION OF AUSTRALASIA.
Established 1869, and Incorporated by Act of Parliament.
The Second Oldest Mutual Life Office in Australasia, and the First to Free Assurance from Restrictions.
BONUS YEAR, 1883-4.
ALL POLICIES EFFECTED BEFORE 30th JUNE, 1884, will participate in the DIVISION OF PROFITS to be then made.
At the last investigation, viz., 30th June, 1879, a surplus of £11,000 was shown, out of funds amounting to £112,746, by an absolutely pure premium valuation.
At the close of the present Quinquennium it may be confidently expected the INVESTED FUNDS WILL EXCEED £350,000.
The Association's POLICIES are INDEFEASIBLE from date of issue, and NON-FORFEITABLE while surrender value lasts. Its Conservative Management secures business at a lower rate of expenditure than any other Mutual Life Office established in Australia within the last THIRTY YEARS; and careful selection of lives has resulted in a remarkable reduction of its yearly mortality experience, as regards number, amount, and per centage on the existing Assurances.
For Tables of Rates, and full particulars, apply at any of the Offices below mentioned.

ALL USE IT. IT IS AT EVERY PICNIC. IT IS IN EVERY KITCHEN.
It obtained the Gold Medal at the New Zealand Exhibition and the Silver Medal at the Perth Exhibition.
It gives the finish to every dish, for gravies, soups, game, fish, or cold meats. It assists digestion, and increases the appetite. It has a place at Government House, and is seen at every respectable artisan's. The protectionists use it because it is colonial, the freetrader because it is cheap. It is the especial favourite with all classes because, as one of the Sydney clergymen wrote, "It is the best yet made." It is the

THE SITE OF THE SYDNEY HOSPITAL.

A public meeting was held last evening, in the Protestant Hall, to protest against the removal of the Sydney Hospital from its present site. There was a fairly large audience, several of the directors of the hospital being among the number.

Mr. John Sutherland, M.L.A., occupied the chair, and the following were also on the platform:—Messrs. F. Abigail, M.L.A.; E. W. O'Sullivan, J. C. Neild, F. Dixon, James Dooley, T. S. Parrott, W. B. Cole, D. Doran, M. J. Madden and Hay Zlotkowski (hon. secs.). Apologies for absence were received from:—Sir Alfred Stephen, M.L.C.; Messrs. Thomas Garrett, H. Copeland, W. T. Poole, Jacob Garrard, G. N. Griffiths, J. M'Elhone, and Dr. Tarrant, Ms.L.A.; Dean Cowper, Canon Stephen, and the Rev. John Osborne.

The CHAIRMAN read the advertisement calling the meeting. He had informed the deputation that waited on him some ten days ago, after arguing the matter out with them for some time, that he had not the slightest objection to occupy the chair at the meeting. He was of opinion that the present hospital site was a proper one. He had been a member of the Government which put this site in trust for the people of this country. For a hospital he believed no better site in the colony could be chosen. It might be disputed whether the Government, or the trustees, or the committee had a right to lay out the amount of money. He did not know anything of that at present, and he laid himself free to determine that for himself when the evidence came before him in another place. This was essentially a question for the working class of the country, who were most deeply interested in the institution. It was not the wealthy who were concerned in the matter, but the working men who, in the hours of sickness and the time of accident, found shelter in the hospital. They were the taxpayers of the country and the occupiers of the institution, and it was their duty to take this question up, and if they neglected it they would neglect their duty, not only to themselves but to their fellow-men. He hoped that all the speakers would receive a fair hearing.

Mr. O'SULLIVAN moved the first resolution,—"That we, the citizens of the city of Sydney and suburbs, in public meeting assembled, protest against the removal of the Sydney Hospital from its present site." He was present as a working man to protest against the removal of the hospital from its present site, because he believed an institution of the kind they had in Sydney was essential to the necessities of a large city, and he did not know of any site more admirable for such a purpose than the one it at present occupied. It held a central place, and was thus accessible from all sides. It also possessed the advantages of a clear atmosphere and a pleasant prospect, and these had much to do with the speedy recovery of patients. He did not say that they should confine all their patients to one hospital, and no doubt, rapidly as Sydney was extending, it would in time become necessary to have other hospitals; and for infectious diseases, if it were necessary, he thought the Victoria Barracks could be better used than as now for housing 73 officers and 85 soldiers. It was no argument that because the hospital in Macquarie-street came "twixt the wind and the nobility" of a certain number of parvenus it, Macquarie-street it should be removed. In every other part of the world they could find similar institutions in the centres of population, and no objection was raised. He thought they had sufficient grounds on which to contend against the contemplated stoppage of the hospital works. He protested against any personal or private influence being brought to bear on Ministers of the Crown to dissuade them against continuing the building of the new hospital. Up to that time they had had no public discussion on this subject; but on the contrary, they found a number of persons running to the Colonial Secretary, and he, with his indecision of character, had given them hope that he might abolish the institution on its present site and establish it somewhere else. Some years ago Parliament had decided by its decisive vote that the site of the hospital should remain where it now is, and he held that the mind of the Colonial Secretary should not be attempted to be influenced until the people, by their representatives in Parliament, had decided on this matter, and he thought they would be able to bring pressure to bear on their representatives to convince them that the present site was the best one possible for the hospital. (Applause.)

Mr. ABIGAIL, M.L.A., seconded the resolution. The question as to the site of the hospital was no new one, and a decision had not been arrived at without matured thought. So far back as 1870 a select committee was appointed by Parliament to inquire into the suitability of the present site, and to furnish evidence for and against to guide the then Government as to their action. Before giving to them his own views he would read to them the opinion of an eminent medical authority, and he did so because they were told that eminent medical men had influenced the Premier in his decision. He would read to them the evidence of one of their own medical men, who might perhaps be called medical man to the present Government. He then read evidence given by Sir Alfred Roberts (then Dr. Roberts) at an inquiry held by a select committee of the Legislative Assembly on March 18, 1870, and before a Royal Commission on June 3, 1873, as to the suitability of the present site, and in favour of it. If they had friends in the hospital they would not like to have to travel a day's journey to visit them. On the contrary, they would like to have them easily accessible. The honorary medical staff of the institution gave their services without fee or reward, and if the institution were removed three or four miles from the city he feared these gentlemen would not be able to continue so generous a practice. No doubt they all knew that Prince Alfred Hospital lay in a hollow, and for himself, he could say from experience that when there was any moisture about the place it was enveloped in fog. This could not be good for the sick poor. The Sydney Hospital had served the requirements of the colony for 35 or 40 years, and scores of medical men had no manner of doubt as to the suitableness of the existing site. They heard something of the expensiveness of the present building. Well, he was free to confess that he would have been better satisfied if a building of a less expensive character had been provided for, and if it could have been ready for service at the present time. But they must not forget that they were building for posterity. They were not to merely consider the comparative handful of people they had in Sydney and its suburbs. Splendid public buildings were erected for clerks and others, who had easy lives, and were the sick poor to have less of their consideration? (Hear, hear.) If they had only a small hospital now, he held that in the course of ten years they would require to have it enlarged. The wealthy could provide for themselves, but it was the duty of the Government to provide for those who could not help themselves. (Hear, hear.) In ten years the number of persons treated at the hospital had been nearly doubled, and in 1882 it stood at 14,746, and this had occurred in the face of their having the Prince Alfred Hospital. Did not this show that a wise Government should make provision for an increased number of patients, and that they should not engage in a wretched economy which would be detrimental to those who sorely needed assistance? Those who opposed the retention of the hospital in Macquarie-street did so because they desired to banish everything like sickness or poverty from their view. Such persons were not waited upon daily by persons in distress, or with appeals for assistance, and they did little to assist the suffering poor. In fact, perhaps they did not care what became of them so long as they got rid of them. For the community it would be better that people like these should vanish from such places as Macquarie-street than that they should punish men whose families depended upon their speedy recovery from illness. The citizens who provided the money for these institutions had a duty to perform in seeing that their interests were not set aside by those who had scarcely to send for a doctor when they were sick. It was objected that the citizens' money for these institutions was handed to an irresponsible board. What a wonderful thing! It had just been found out. Why, for years past business men had given some of the best of their time that, in the interests of the people, they might attend such boards, and for himself he had not found out that any of them had betrayed their trust or had distributed the people's money in an improper manner. (Hear, hear.) He did not know where to look in the Government asylums for work that was better and cheaper done than the work performed by these boards. (Hear, hear.) To the world every year the boards, irresponsible though they were, published an account of the money they received and disbursed, and all their actions were open to criticism, and on these grounds he held that they were fairly trustworthy. Well, the Government desired to have this site for some public building. As a citizen, and as a representative of the people, he was not prepared to gratify them. He would battle as hard as he could to prevent the removal of this institution, and unless they could get over the reports in favour of the site, and the statistics in reference to the hospital work which had been accomplished, he would recommend the meeting to do the same.

Mr. Richardson rose to move an amendment; but as the meeting had been called for the special purpose of protesting against the removal of the hospital, he was not permitted to speak.

The Chairman put it to the meeting whether Mr. Richardson should be heard. (No, no.)

Mr. Richardson again stood up and attempted to speak, but was met by groans and hisses, and at length left the platform.

Mr. E. P. FIELD rose to a point of order. He had come to the meeting as one of the public to hear both sides of the question. (Uproar.)

The CHAIRMAN desired the meeting to allow Mr. Field to put his point of order.

Mr. FIELD said his point of order was, "Shall or shall not both sides of the question be heard." He had come there as one of the public, without any preconceived notions for one side or the other. [A voice: "It is not a matter of both sides." Another voice: "It is; let us hear both sides."] The advertisement said it was to be a public meeting, and the chairman himself had invited any amendment desired to be made.

Mr. JAS. DOOLEY opposed the point of order, on the ground that the meeting had been called for a specific purpose, namely, to protest against the removal of the Sydney Hospital from the present site, and not for any other purpose.

The CHAIRMAN said he had not found a point of order, and he was there to say so, and they were there to take that or nothing. It was in the power of those present to vote for or against the resolution, and anyone for the removal of the hospital could vote against the resolution. The people who had taken the hall had taken it for a certain purpose. He himself would have liked to have heard a discussion on both sides, but the meeting had not been called for that purpose.

The motion was then put and carried, their being 10 hands held up in dissent.

Mr. DOOLEY moved the second resolution,—"That the Government be requested to proceed with the erection and completion of the hospital now partly constructed." He was a working man, and would speak to those present from a working man's points of view. It was the working man who produced the wealth of the country, and he thought the working man was entitled to the consideration of those who lived on his produce. He thought that such an institution in a central part of the city, where those who might meet with accident could be taken promptly and attended to without loss of time, was most necessary. The proposed building, if permitted to be erected, would stand for many years, and would be an ornament to the city. Was this useful institution to be removed from its present advantageous site to suit the taste of some mushroom aristocrats who disliked the sight of a poor fellow being brought there suffering from an accident? ("No, no." Applause.) A sum of £60,000 had been spent on the present structure, and this would be wasted if the place were used for anything but a hospital. In consequence of the increase of population naturally and by immigration, they would require another hospital quite as large before many years. He hoped that the meeting would be able to show the Government that they did not know what they were doing when they proposed to do away with a hospital which was essentially necessary for the working classes.

Mr. T. S. PARROTT seconded the motion. He held that the hospital had grown up with the colony, and that now it fairly met its requirements. It had been presided over by a board, a majority of whom agreed that the site was a suitable one. They had two classes of evidence in the matter. Sir Alfred Roberts held that there could scarcely be a better site for a general hospital. Other persons had persuaded the Government that a more eligible one could be obtained. If the movement to remove the hospital were successful, a new building would have to be erected in the centre of the city. Even if the citizens decided that the building should go on, he held that in a very few years they would require another of a similar character. As to the board of management, they had the confidence of the citizens, and he objected to the Government interfering with them. What would the citizens say if a Government interfered with the board for technical education? He believed many similar boards would be appointed, and as they would be permanent, men who went in and out of office should not be permitted to interfere with their operations.

The motion was carried, three hands only being held up against it.

Mr. J. C. NEILD moved,—"That, in order to carry out the foregoing resolutions, a deputation present them to the Colonial Secretary, such deputation to consist of Mr. J. Sutherland, M.L.A., Mr. F. Abigail, M.L.A., and Messrs. E. W. O'Sullivan, R. M'Coy, J. C. Neild, T. S. Parrott, and J. Dooley." He thought the removal of the hospital from Macquarie-street to some more remote distance was most undesirable from every point of view. It was for the reception of accident cases that the hospital would be most required. He called attention to the great objection of an engine-house being erected in the immediate vicinity of the wooden building now holding the hospital patients, who would in the event of fire be incapable of helping themselves. He was informed that in the yards of Parliament House there was an abundance of room for the erection of the engine; but probably it would frighten the horses of members, or of those gentlemen of the Civil Service who were allowed to stable their horses there. It was proposed, he believed, that the buildings now being erected for a hospital should be used for Government offices. He believed the Government offices of Brisbane and Melbourne could be bundled into those now used for that purpose in Sydney. He maintained that the present hospital site was the property of the people, and he hoped that they would show they meant to retain it by their votes and influence. (Applause.)

Mr. DAVID DORAN seconded the resolution. He thought it most desirable that an institution like the hospital should be in such a position that it would be accessible to those for whom it was needed. When they looked around the world they would see in other great cities magnificent charitable institutions, often erected by private charity, which were at once a boon to the people and an ornament to the cities they adorned.

The resolution was then put and carried.

A vote of thanks to the chairman and three cheers for the Queen closed the meeting.

THE VICTORIAN BANK SENSATION.

(From the Argus, October 2.)

About a quarter to 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon persons in Collins-street East, in the vicinity of the Bank of Victoria, were greatly astonished, and doubtless much alarmed, at hearing three shots fired in quick succession. The report denoted that the shot had been fired in the interior of the bank building, and a rush was made by people from all parts of Collins-street and the places of business in the locality into the bank. Instead, however, of finding, as was at first hurriedly suggested by one person, that it was a bold attempt to rob the bank in open daylight, the spectators saw a man lying on the floor weltering in his blood, which proceeded from a wound in the head. A constable was quickly in attendance, and the would-be suicide was removed to the Melbourne Hospital, and admitted by Dr. Barrett, who, on examination, found that the patient was suffering from a scalp wound.

The person who thus made such a deliberate and public attempt to commit suicide is Mr. Henry Thomas, auctioneer, &c., of Heathcote. It seems that Mr. Thomas went to the bank shortly before 1 o'clock yesterday, and after passing into the main office, turned to the left to the back of the inquiry office, where he encountered Mr. J. Holrow, one of the clerks, who, in replying to Mr. Thomas, informed him that Mr. Miller, the accountant, was in, but was at that moment engaged. Thomas did not wait to hear any more, but turned round, and walked away, muttering in a very incoherent manner something about "satisfaction" and "revenge." He then walked into the public banking room, and, much to the astonishment of the customers and clerks in the bank, he jumped upon the large round table which stands in the centre of the apartment. He at once commenced talking and gesticulating most wildly, when the clerks and others in the bank laughed. He called out in a loud voice "Don't laugh, don't laugh," and at the same time produced a revolver. This was the signal for a general stampede, the clerks and customers in the bank taking refuge behind the pillars, &c. Almost immediately after producing the revolver, Thomas fired three shots in quick succession. The first went high up in a backward direction, and injured one of the plaster ornaments of the cornice of the ceiling. The direction of the second shot could not be traced, but the third took effect under Thomas's scalp, and he fell to the ground. For a dozen persons to rush and secure him was the work of a moment, and it was then found that the remaining two chambers of the revolver were fully loaded. After the wounded man had been removed, business was resumed as usual, and except for the damage to the cornice, and the marks of blood on the floor, in less than half an hour afterwards all trace of the incident had disappeared.

As to the cause which induced Mr. Thomas to attempt to destroy himself, from all that can be gathered it would seem that business of late had not been so prosperous with him as usual, and he attributed the fact to the influence of the local manager of the branch of the Bank of Victoria at Heathcote. It is said that Mr. Thomas was until recently carrying on a lucrative business as auctioneer, estate agent, legal mining manager, &c., at Heathcote, and that somehow or other he incurred the displeasure of the local bank manager, who, to use a vulgarism, "put the screw on." From this it is to be presumed that Mr. Thomas, like many other good men of business, had occasionally to seek the aid of his banker to tide over a financial difficulty, which gave the banker—so it is alleged—the power he wanted, and which he used to compass the ruin of his client. Some time ago Thomas consulted Messrs. M'Kean and Leonard, solicitors, with a view of bringing an action against the bank to recover damages for injury done to his business through, as he alleged, the local manager attending his sales, making fictitious bids, and endeavouring to ridicule the auctioneer. Thomas further alleged that the banker persuaded many persons not to attend his sales, and to take their business to another auctioneer whom he had induced to settle in Heathcote. Messrs. M'Kean and Leonard, after fully considering the case, advised Mr. Thomas that he had no ground for action against the bank. They further advised, that although Mr. Thomas might have some grounds for an action against the local bank manager as a private individual, they refused to commence proceedings against either the bank or the local manager until they were satisfied that the misconduct complained of was of such a nature as would justify them in instituting legal proceedings. Mr. Thomas accordingly furnished Messrs. M'Lean and Leonard with additional particulars, which he considered were convincing proofs of misconduct on the part of the bank through their agent at Heathcote. The legal gentlemen, after perusing these proofs, wrote to Mr. Thomas on the 17th July, 1883, stating that they still declined to take legal proceedings. They also wrote to Mr. Thomas on the 18th July begging of him not to do anything rash. This letter was sent in consequence of the receipt of a letter from Mr. Thomas, and a large poster, in which he set out how he intended to travel round the colony and expose the Bank of Victoria. Again, on the 6th August, his solicitors advised him to desist, pointing out that he would be liable to be prosecuted for libel or slander, and that the man who printed the poster would also be liable. Mr. Thomas then came to town, and because Messrs. M'Kean and Leonard still refused to issue a writ, he demanded the return of all the papers he had sent them, which he termed his proofs. The papers were given to him, and he then declared his intention of obtaining the services of another solicitor, and was told that no respectable solicitor would take up the case. This seemed to greatly enrage him, and he left the office, muttering something about having a revolver, and seeking his revenge another way. Strange to say, when the shots were fired, Mr. M'Kean and Mr. Gillott were opposite the bank, and were amongst the first to enter the building, when the former instantly recognised the would-be suicide.

RANDWICK ASYLUM.

The monthly meeting of the Board of Directors of the Randwick Asylum was held at the institution at Randwick yesterday afternoon. Mr. S. H. Pearce, vice-president, occupied the chair, and there were present Messrs. Joseph Graham, hon. treasurer, E. T. Penfold, G. Renwick, J. Roseby, J. Hardie, L. J. Josephson, H. Hicks, B. D. Holtermann, M.L.A., J. Starkey, F. Abigail, M.L.A., R. Hills, Very Rev. Dean Sheridan, Dr. Oram, D. A. Thomas, superintendent, and J. Coulter, secretary.

The minutes of the previous meeting having been read and confirmed, the Honorary Treasurer (Mr. J. Graham) read the following statement of finances:—Dr., August 31—To balance A. J. S. Bank, £476 13s. 3d.; interest on fixed deposit, £59; bequest from the late J. V. Hinton, £10; subscriptions, &c. (public), £210 16s. 2d.; cheques not presented, £17 9s. 2d.; balance, £771 18s. 4d.; total, £1561 2s. 11d. Cr., August 31—By cheques not presented, £11 17s. 5d.; abstract of salaries and accounts, £936 12s. 5d.; payments on account contracts, £450; clothing, £56 10s. 7d.; sundries, £107 2s. 6d.; total, £1561 2s. 11d. Apprentices' Fund: Dr., August 31—To balance, £3489 1s. 3d.; wages received from employers, £193 12s. 1d.; total, £3683 0s. 4d. Cr.—By wages to children who have completed satisfactory apprenticeships, £233 7s. 3d.; balance, £3456 13s. 1d.; total, £3691 0s. 4d. The Government indebtedness was shown at £2022 19s. 11d.

The medical officer's report, ending 30th September was read, showing that during the month 41 patients had been admitted into the Catherine Hayes Hospital, and 36 discharged.

Mr. HOLTERMANN moved, pursuant to notice,—"That a committee be appointed to inquire into the late change of the meat contract, and that the contractor be called upon to give evidence; the committee to consist of Messrs. Hardie, Abigail, Starkey, Renwick, Hills, and the mover." In moving the resolution Mr. Holtermann said he did so for the purpose of finding out what had been the real cause of the change; as far as he could understand the matter no notice had been given to the contractor before the contract was taken from him.

Mr. PENFOLD formally seconded the motion.

Mr. GRAHAM said he thought it was not necessary to call a special meeting with regard to the matter, but the secretary might read the conditions of the contract and the correspondence which had passed, and they would be able to see whether or not the cancellation of the contract was justifiable.

Mr. HILLS said he wished his name to be withdrawn from the committee as he upheld the action of the house committee.

Mr. ABIGAIL said Mr. Holtermann had given the board to understand that something of an improper character had taken place in the affair, and if that was the case he would be willing for a full inquiry to take place in order that the public mind might be set at rest.

The Secretary read the correspondence, which went to show that the contractors, Messrs. Uhde and Co., had not delivered the meat according to contract time; that on several occasions supplies had to be obtained from the local butcher, and that the house committee, in accordance with the powers vested in them by the conditions of contract, had cancelled the contract.

Mr. THOMAS, in reply to Mr. Josephson, said the meat had scarcely ever been delivered according to the stipulated time.

Mr. JOSEPHSON said he hoped the investigation would take place.

Mr. PENFOLD said the meat on one or two occasions had been examined; the mutton was no better than skinned rabbits, and the beef was not fit to look at. They had never had meat from Messrs. Uhde and Co. according to contract.

Mr. JOSEPHSON said Mr. Uhde had been present at a meeting, and almost gave them to understand that he knew nothing about the matter.

Mr. ROSEBY said he hoped the inquiry would take place. From what he could see the house committee had acted right, but nevertheless if Mr. Uhde had something further to communicate he should be afforded an opportunity. If they had no inquiry now the outside public would think they were trying to smother up something. He did not think that in the end any reflection would be cast upon the house committee.

Mr. HILLS said that if the inquiry was to be made owing to private communications having been made to Mr. Holtermann, he would object to it. If there was a complaint it should be made in writing to the board, and then they could act upon it.

Mr. RENWICK said he would be sorry if the resolution was carried out, as he had never known of an inquiry for the last ten or eleven years but what had resulted in harm to the institution.

Mr. ABIGAIL said harm to the institution had not resulted from inquiries, but owing to attempts being made to evade inquiries. Bringing out the truth would never damage an institution. Charges were made, and if inquiries were not instituted what would the public say? He could not conceive how anyone could think harm could come by proving whether Uhde and Co. were right or wrong.

Mr. JOSEPHSON said Mr. Uhde had never supplied the meat according to contract time. He hoped the inquiry would not be burked, for he was sure if it was made public Messrs. Uhde and Co. would never get another contract.

Mr. HILLS said if notice was taken of the matter they might be in a constant state of sub-committees. He believed it was hinted at that there was a little private feeling existing between Mr. Uhde and the superintendent, and they would be lowering themselves to listen to any such insinuations. He objected altogether to an inquiry being held.

The CHAIRMAN said he should like to know against whom a charge had been made.

Mr. JOSEPHSON: Against the board.

Alderman HARDIE thought the inquiry should be allowed.

Mr. THOMAS, in reply to Mr. Josephson, said good meat was now being supplied to the institution.

Alderman HARDIE said he would not like to see the matter burked. If it was the public would think there was something behind it. He was certain Mr. Thomas would come out of the matter clean.

Mr. GRAHAM referred to the manner in which Messrs. Uhde and Co. kept their books, stating that they were kept in a most careless manner, and that they did not seem to understand what they were doing.

Mr. HOLTERMANN, in reply, said he was sorry Mr. Graham had made such remarks. Messrs. Uhde and Co. might keep their books as they pleased; they might keep them greasy if they liked. What they (the board) were discussing was the meat, and he intended to adhere to his motion.

Mr. Hill's and Mr. Renwick's names were by consent erased from the motion, and Mr. Graham's was added, and the motion was then put and carried.

The Secretary announced that Monday last was the visiting day for the parents and relatives of the children, and that the number who visited the institution was 232. The board then adjourned.

MOORE COLLEGE, LIVERPOOL.

Moore College was the scene of a very pleasant and profitable reunion of the "old students" on Tuesday last. More than 50 students gathered from various dioceses, and including those in residence were present. The proceedings commenced by celebration of Holy Communion in the college chapel. An excellent and practical discourse was delivered by the Vicar-General, the first principal of the college in 1856. The Venerable Archdeacon King (principal from 1867-1878) was also present. After dinner the conference began at 3 p.m. by a short address from the Vicar-General. Afterwards a suggestive paper on "How to maintain our Spiritual Life" was read by the Archdeacon. The speakers on the subject were the Rev. T. Kemmis and the Rev. T. Holme. A general discussion followed. During the afternoon the conference was resumed at 6.30. A second paper was read by the Rev. J. H. Mullens on "How best to fulfil our Ministry." After an address by the Rev. J. D. Langley a very interesting discussion followed, lasting till 8.45. During the second sitting two or three resolutions were passed, one of sympathy with the widow of the late Rev. Stanley Howard; a second appointing a committee to make arrangements for an annual meeting of old students at the college; a third, the practical result of which was the establishment of the "ex-students' bursary," with a view to help any student in needy circumstances desirous of entering the ministry. A considerable sum for this purpose was subscribed in the hall at the close of the conference. Letters and telegrams of sympathy and congratulation from students unable to be present were received during the day. Such meetings as these, consisting of men of various shades of thought, and from the different dioceses of New South Wales, Bathurst, Ballarat, and Victoria, are likely to be productive of beneficial result. It was mentioned by the Dean that over 140 students had been ordained from Moore College since 1856, and were, with a few exceptions, now engaged in ministerial work in the various dioceses of Australia, Tasmania, and New Zealand. The principal, Rev. A. L. Williams, M.A., is to be congratulated on the success which has attended his labours, and upon the fact that so large a number of clergymen labouring in the Australian colonies are so deeply interested in the welfare and progress of Moore College.

JUDGES' PRIVILEGES.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—At the present time, and in view of early legislation upon the question of Judges' privileges, perhaps the publication of the following concluding conclusion of the Commons committee in the case of the imprisonment of Mr. Edward Dwyer Gray for alleged contempt of Court may tend to show the feeling of members of the House of Commons in the matter. Mr. L. L. Dillwyn (member for Swansea), I believe, was chairman of the committee:—"The order of reference desires your committee to report whether any of the matter referred to in the case of Mr. Gray demands the further attention of this House, and in compliance with this direction, they express their opinion that if the present state of the law allows a Judge to imprison or fine to an unlimited extent the editor of a public journal for criticising the proceedings on a criminal trial, after such trial has finished, your committee consider that it is desirable forthwith to amend the law relating to contempt of Court."

LAW REPORT.

SUPREME COURT.—Wednesday, October 3.

Banco Court.—(Before his Honor the Chief Justice and a jury of four.)

RIGBY V. THE COMMISSIONER OF RAILWAYS.

Mr. Pilcher and Mr. Wise, instructed by Messrs. Allen and Allen, for the plaintiff; Mr. Rogers and Mr. C. B. Stephen, instructed by the Crown Solicitor, for the defendant.

This was an action brought by the plaintiff, Thomas Rigby, who formerly carried on the business of a milkman, against the defendant, to recover damages on account of a tramway accident which took place on February 23rd of this year. The plaintiff and his son were driving the milk-cart in the ordinary course of their business about 6 o'clock in the morning of the day mentioned, from the Pyrmont Bridge-road in the direction of Glebe Point. The tram was then coming down the incline at a great pace, and passed the cart almost opposite the entrance of Hereford-street. At that time the horse swerved round, and shying, ran the shaft into the motor. This caused the cart to be overturned, and the plaintiff to be thrown out. Rigby had one of his ribs broken, and since the occurrence has been deaf in one ear and blind in one eye. The boy, who had saved himself by jumping out, escaped almost unhurt.

The chief witness on behalf of the defendant was Volck, who drove the tram on that day. He deposed that he saw the cart coming toward him on the proper side, quite clear of the line, with one of its wheels almost touching the kerbstone; when about three yards off he nodded to Rigby; afterwards he saw the shafts run into the motor, upon which he reversed it, and the cart was thrown into the gutter; at that time the tram was going at the rate of seven or eight miles an hour, and the brake was partly on; Volck then took the plaintiff to the nearest doctor, and left him there.

The Chief Justice said that this action had been brought after the running of steam motors in the public streets had been legalised by an Act of Parliament, and that in consequence the drivers were alone liable if they did not use proper care in managing them. The only negligence upon the part of the defendant, suggested by the plaintiff, was that the tram was travelling too fast, and there was a conflict of evidence on that point. Some said it was going at the rate of only six miles an hour, which was not too fast, and some said eight and over, anything above that rate would be very fast. That was the evidence for the defendant, and no doubt their witnesses were somewhat interested persons. On the other hand there were two witnesses for the plaintiff, who said it was coming down at the rate of 15 miles, and this along an incline of 1 in 18, with an engine and car of 25 tons in weight. They must consider whether the motor was travelling too fast, or not having regard to its weight, and the fact that it was in a public street. The pace had not been regulated by Act of Parliament, but it was a question for the jury to determine in each particular case. On the other hand, they must consider whether the accident had occurred through the pace at which the tram was going, for the defendant could not be held responsible for a horse directly swerving in to it. Also, the question of how far off the horse and cart were would be left to them, and whether the defendant could have avoided the collision or not. If the swerving took place when the cart was opposite to the motor, the question of pace made very little difference. If, taking all the circumstances into consideration, they found for the plaintiff, then the question of damages was one entirely within their province.

The jury, after consulting for about an hour, found a verdict for the defendant.

NORTON AND OTHERS V. LEVI.

Mr. Pilcher, instructed by Norton and Co., for plaintiffs; Mr. Teece, instructed by Messrs. Dunn and Lyons, for defendant.

This was an action to recover the sum of £71 3s., money lent to the defendant by Mr. Smith, a member of the firm of Norton and Co., solicitors.

It appeared that the plaintiffs lent £50 of the money in question to Levi, in order to enable him to redeem a mortgage on some property which he owned in common with others. £15 were afterwards lent in addition to the other sum for the same purpose, and the remainder of the £71 3s. went in legal expenses in connection with the property.

The defence attempted to be set up was that the plaintiffs had debited the money to others interested in the property, though the transactions with regard to it had been carried on with the defendant.

The jury, without leaving the box, returned a verdict for the plaintiffs for the full amount.

INSOLVENCY COURT.—Wednesday.

(Before the Chief Commissioner.)

THIRD MEETING.

In the matter of William Welsh. One debt was admitted, and the official assignee having read his report, the meeting terminated.

SINGLE MEETINGS.

In the matter of Ephraim Stoneham. Insolvent was present, and did not desire to amend his schedule, and was directed to verify and file statement under rule 20, overdue since the 31st August, within four days.

In the matter of Frank Mercer. Insolvent did not appear, two debts were proved, and the official assignee having read his report, the meeting terminated.

SPECIAL MEETINGS.

In the several matters of John Kinloch, William Thrush, Sun Ting Tiy, and James Service. One debt was proved in the first estate, one in the second, two in the third, and one in the fourth. The meetings then terminated.

FIRST MEETING.

In the matter of Benjamin David Williams. No debt was proved, and the meeting closed.

SURRENDERS.

Charles Snelling, the elder, of Alexandria, agent. Liabilities, £40 7s. 3d. Assets, £2 5s. Mr. Lloyd, official assignee.

William H. Delany, of Sydney, clerk in the Railway Department. Liabilities, £186 15s. 6d. Assets, £35. Mr. Macnab, official assignee.

METROPOLITAN DISTRICT COURT.—Wednesday.

(Before Mr. District Court Judge Dowling.)

GROTH V. FAWL.

This was an application on behalf of the defendant that the amount of the defendant's taxed costs and the costs of execution, amounting to £9 7s. 10d., and alleged to be attached in the hands of John Mackinlay, head bailiff of the District Court, or in the hands of the registrar, under a certain garnishee order signed by Mr. P. C. Lucas, registrar of the Water Police Court, in a certain case, wherein the plaintiff was judgment creditor and the defendant judgment debtor, and which garnishee order had been granted at the instance of the said judgment creditor, should be paid out of court to the defendant; and that the plaintiff should pay the costs of this application. Mr. L. F. Heydon, instructed by Mr. Fawl, appeared in support of the application; and Mr. W. J. Foster, instructed by Mr. T. M. Williamson, in opposition to it. Groth had sued Fawl in the Small Debts Court for £9 19s 6d., and obtained a judgment for this sum and 5s. 6d. costs, bringing the claim up to £10 5s. This amount being over £10, Groth sued Fawl on the judgment in the District Court, and, the action being defended, Judge Dowling non suited the plaintiff, with costs, referring to the case of Simpson v. Rodd, Supreme Court Reports, as a precedent for his decision that the plaintiff having invited the authority of the Small Debts Court in the first instance, could not afterwards take his case out of that jurisdiction, though he might previously have, with equal facility, obtained redress through the District Court. Fawl sent in his bill of costs, these were taxed, execution was issued, and the money was paid into the hands of the District Court bailiff, who transferred it to the registrar. Groth after paying in this money had it attached in favour of himself, in right of the Small Debts Court judgment in his favour, and Fawl now applied to have the money paid to him. His Honor refused the application, without costs, referring to the appeal case of Dolphin v. Layton, 4, Common Pleas Division, page 30.

BRAY AND ANOTHER V. EASTWAY AND ANOTHER.

To recover £29 2s. for damage done by the negligence of the defendants' servant, who, while repairing a drain on the roof of the plaintiffs' premises, fell through a glass skylight, and smashed a large quantity of glass and china goods. Verdict for the plaintiff.

ROBERTSON V. WEST AND ANOTHER.

To recover £12 2s. for work and labour done. The defendants paid £4 8s. into court, and pleaded never indebted as to the rest of the claim. Verdict for the defence.

ALLEN V. LESLIE.

To recover £13 16s. 3d. for the board and lodging of a man for whom the defendant had been guarantee. The defendant pleaded never indebted. Verdict for the plaintiff.

METROPOLITAN QUARTER SESSIONS.

Wednesday.

(Before Mr. District Court Judge Wilkinson.)

Mr. P. J. Healy prosecuted on behalf of the Crown.

PERJURY.

Jane Day was charged with having, on the 25th June last, at Newtown Police Court, falsely swore that she was not the wife of one Osman Day, then charged with bigamy, that she had never said that she was the wife of Osman Day, that her maiden name was Sarah Jane Anderson, that she had lived in the house with one Annie Simpson, at Harris-street, Ultimo, without the companionship of the said Osman Day, and that the said Osman Day did not live with her. The information further set forth that the said Jane Day gave this evidence on an occasion when the truth of the same was material. Mr. Levien and Mr. Wallace appeared for the defence. At the opening of the case counsel for the defence took objection that at the time the accused gave her evidence she was not a competent witness in a charge against her alleged husband. His Honor declined to stop the case on that point. The record of evidence given at Newtown by the defendant, and signed by her as being correct, was put in, and evidence was given to prove that the depositions had been read over to her and signed by her. H. S. Fielder, clerk of petty sessions at Newtown, deposed that about three weeks ago the defendant came to him for a copy of her depositions, and in the course of conversation she admitted to him that she was Day's wife, but that before the case came on he got her down on the hearthrug, stood over her with an open razor, and said that if she gave evidence against him he would cut her throat as soon as he had served his time and got out of gaol again. Evidence was given by several witnesses as to admissions made on many occasions by the defendant that she was Day's wife both before and since Day's trial. It was also proved that she had come out by an immigrant ship as Day's wife, and that they lived together in Sydney as husband and wife. A certified copy of certificate of their marriage in England was also put in. Mrs. Balmer, mother of the young woman whom Osman Day married, deposed that since Day's conviction Mrs. Day had spoken to her about the matter; she said that she was very sorry that she had said she was not Day's wife, but that Day had threatened to take her life if she admitted that she was married to him. Emily Harriet Balmer, the young woman whom Day married in Sydney, had a conversation with the prisoner since the trial; she said that she was Day's wife, but that he had compelled her to say that she was not his wife.

For the defence evidence was given by Mr. W. J. Hill, solicitor, who deposed that he conducted the prosecution at the Newtown Police Court, when Osman Day was committed for trial on a charge of bigamy. On that occasion the present defendant was called as a witness for the defence. He took the objection that she was not a competent witness. Mr. Dillon, the presiding magistrate, expressed the opinion that she was not a competent witness, but he decided to receive her evidence.

Mr. Levien, in his address to the jury, strongly denounced the conduct of the "private informer" who had set the law in motion against this unfortunate woman, when the Crown law officers of the colony did not deem it to be their duty to prosecute her. He did not care who this gentleman might be. He did not care if he were even the Lieutenant-Governor of the colony, or had even occupied so high a position as Chief Justice of the colony; he would have the truth brought to light, and if he could not do it in this court he would in another place, where he would have the name of the instigator of this prosecution published to the world.

His Honor, in summing up, said that he could not for the life of him understand why this indictment should be founded upon the evidence given at Newtown by the defendant when Day was committed for trial, instead of upon her evidence before the Quarter Sessions, when Day was tried and convicted. Had the indictment been founded upon the evidence she gave at the Quarter Sessions, no question could have been raised as to her competency as a witness, because at that time the new law had come into force which made it competent for her to give evidence in the case of her husband; but at the time she gave evidence at Newtown that law had not come into operation, and she was then not a competent witness. However, the question of her competency could not arise until after the jury had given their verdict. The jury would have to say whether or not she was Day's wife. If they decided that she was not Day's wife, then, of course, the question of her competency could not arise. His opinion was that at the time she gave evidence at Newtown she was not a competent witness, but that her evidence having been received, she was liable, if she swore falsely, to be prosecuted for perjury. He laid that down as the law, and if it was bad law, and the prisoner was convicted, the conviction could be upset. The only question which the jury would have to decide would be whether defendant had sworn that she was not Day's wife, and whether in swearing that she had sworn falsely or truly.

The jury returned a verdict of guilty, but strongly recommended the defendant to mercy, on the ground that she was evidently influenced by the threats of violence which had been used towards her.

Mr. Levien asked his Honor to pass a lenient sentence, because there was no doubt, not only from the statements of the defendant herself, but also from the testimony of independent witnesses, that she had been subjected to repeated and brutal threats of violence against her if she dared to say that she was Day's wife, and only a few minutes before she went into the court to give evidence he told her that if she did not say that she was not Mrs. Day he would cut her throat as soon as he got out of gaol again. He had used similar threats towards Miss Balmer, the young lady whom he married in Sydney, and also towards others who were connected with the case.

Miss Balmer was put in the box, and deposed that Day threatened to shoot her if she dared to go into court against him; he said he would do all he could to shame her in court, and every time he met her he threatened her.

His Honor said it was a great pity that he had not known this at the trial of Day. He had escaped with a sentence of only three years' imprisonment, but had all these circumstances been known it would have very much aggravated the case, and Day would certainly have received a much heavier sentence. He hoped that something would be done to punish this man, for hardly anything could be more injurious to the administration of justice than that anybody should be permitted to go about intimidating witnesses as this man appeared to have done. The prisoner had been found guilty and recommended to mercy by the jury, and he would say nothing in passing sentence. He sentenced her to one month's imprisonment.

MANSLAUGHTER.

An elderly man named Horsfield was charged with manslaughter. He was a tripe-seller, and one day his horse and cart were standing in Castlereagh-street in charge of his grandson, a little boy 9 or 10 years of age. The boy left the cart for a little while, when the horse became frightened and bolted, and knocked down an elderly woman, who afterwards died from the injuries received. The jury acquitted the prisoner. He was defended by Mr. T. M. Slattery.

LARCENY.

Joseph Davis was charged with stealing £10 12s., the property of a married woman named Larter. According to her testimony she came down from Goulburn, was drinking heavily for several days, met the prisoner, whom she had previously known, and as she was in a very tipsy condition, he took her to his house, and allowed her to lie down for a couple of hours. She woke up about midday, and wanted to get some more drink; but on opening her handbag she missed some money, but could not swear how much, as she had been too drunk all the morning to count her money correctly. The Crown Prosecutor abandoned the case, and the accused was discharged. Mr. Levien appeared for the defence.

FRAUD AS AN AGENT.

Thomas Jones was brought up on an information setting forth that the prisoner, "being an agent entrusted for the purpose of sale by one Joseph Growden, his principal, with certain property, to wit, five bonded certificates of brandy, one bonded certificate of whisky, five cases containing brandy, and seven cases containing rum, did, on the 22nd day of August, feloniously and otherwise than for the use of said Joseph Growden, his said principal, and in violation of good faith, pledge and deliver the same as security for money, to wit, for the sum of £30, received by him the said Thomas Jones on the day and year last aforesaid." The prisoner pleaded not guilty, and was defended by Mr. Lowe. The evidence showed that the prisoner was entrusted with power to sell the goods mentioned, but he obtained an advance of £30 upon them, and failed to account for the money to his principal. The jury returned a verdict of guilty, and the prisoner was remanded for sentence.

List of cases set down for trial on Thursday:—Edward Stapleton, wounding; Charles Howard, larceny; Joseph Money, larceny; John Campbell, receiving stolen property; William M'Carthy and others, wounding.

The report of the sentence passed upon the youth Tipp, for indecent assault, omitted to state that his Honor explained that had it not been for the recommendation of the jury, he would have passed a much heavier sentence than three years' imprisonment. Applications for roads and appeal cases will be heard at the Quarter Sessions, Darlinghurst, on Monday.

POLICE.

CENTRAL POLICE COURT.

Mr. Clarke, S.M., presided on the bench in the Central Police Charge Court yesterday.

A number of cases of drunkenness were dealt with.

Sarah Hersey, aged 42 years, on a charge of having used indecent language, was fined 5s., or in default imprisonment for three months.

John Black, aged 21 years, on a charge of having used indecent language, was fined £3, or in default imprisonment for one month.

John Jones, on a charge of drunkenness, was fined 20s., and on a charge of having used obscene language in George-street was fined £2, or in default imprisonment for one month.

Mary Woods, alias Dawson, aged 22 years, on a charge of having used obscene language in Goulburn-street, was fined £3, or in default imprisonment for one month.

William O'Shea, aged 24 years, on a charge of drunkenness was fined 10s., and on a charge of having used obscene language in Mary Ann-street was fined £5, or in default imprisonment for three months; and on a charge of having assaulted Constable Cook in the execution of his duty was sentenced to be imprisoned for two months, and received a similar term of imprisonment for having assaulted Constable Thompson in the execution of his duty.

Henry Harris was charged on suspicion with having stolen the sum of £145 from the person of Richard Chapman, on the Maitland racecourse, on the 21st September last. When in custody on the 22nd September on another charge, there were found on him 19 £5-notes on the Bank of Australasia, and a receipt for £5 5s., for a suit of clothes. He declined to state where he got the £5-notes, and on being asked where he had got the two £50 notes he had cashed at the City Bank he refused to answer, but afterwards said he could prove where he got them. Richard Chapman, residing at Tamworth, said that on the day of the robbery he was on the grand stand at the Maitland races, and had in his left hand pocket two £50 notes on the City Bank, and three £10 notes and three £5 notes. He missed them between 5 and 6 o'clock in the evening. About 20 minutes before he missed the money he had occasion to take it out of his pocket, and anyone could see him do so. Detective Greaves stated that on the 21st September, at the Maitland races, he was on the grand stand the whole day, and saw the prosecutor and the prisoner near where the prosecutor was standing. John Henry Flower, teller in the Bank of Australasia, deposed that on Saturday week a man went to the bank and witness cashed a £50 note on the City Bank for him; he could not say whether the prisoner was the man or not. Constable Robert Stratfield deposed that on the 8th September he had arrested the accused for the non-payment of a penalty of 12s. 6d.; the accused said he could not pay it, as he had not a copper to call his own, and he called his mate, who paid it for him. Mary Kane, a lodging-house keeper, deposed that the prisoner had boarded with her, and when he left to go to Maitland he was 6s. in debt. The accused was committed to take his trial at the next Quarter Sessions.

Annie Gleeson, on a charge of having insufficient lawful means of support, was sentenced to be imprisoned for three months with hard labour.

Eliza Griffin, on a charge of having insufficient lawful means of support, was sentenced to be imprisoned for three months.

John Boreas Trigg, on a charge of having stolen from John Ryan, of Ballarat, Victoria, on the 24th September last, a cheque for £12 16s. 3d., was remanded for seven days, until a warrant could be produced from Victoria.

Henry Forbes, on a charge of having stolen a pair of boots, valued at 7s. 6d., the property of R. H. Barry, of George-street, and John Anderson, on a charge of having been concerned in the robbery, were each sentenced to be imprisoned for two months. Constable Reilly saw the two men loitering in front of Mr. Barry's shop on Tuesday, and the prisoner Anderson motioned to Forbes, and the latter then concealed under his coat a pair of boots, which he took from in front of the shop.

John Monaghan was charged with having embezzled 10s., the proceeds of a sale of wood, the property of William Stanley. The prosecutor deposed that on the 20th of last month he gave the prisoner two loads of wood, of which he accounted for one, but failed to do so for the second. Catherine West deposed that she had, on last Wednesday week, bought 1s. worth of wood from the prisoner, and had given him 6d. on the following Sunday, and still owed him 6d. The prisoner stated that he had sold 1s. worth of wood to Mrs. West, and also some wood to other persons, amounting in all to 3s. 6d. A young man named Jack Kelly, he stated, had told him that Mr. Kelly ill-treated his boys for going home without having sold the wood, and he then gave Kelly the cart and horse, with 6s. 6d. worth of wood on it, to take back to the prosecutor. The accused was sentenced to be imprisoned for three months.

WATER POLICE COURT.

The bench in the Charge Court was occupied yesterday by Mr. J. M. Marsh, S.M.

Several persons were punished for drunkenness or other minor offences.

Samuel Holmes, draper, was fined 40s., or 14 days, for using obscene language in the bar of the Rose and Crown Hotel, and for refusing to pay for liquor supplied to him was sentenced to 24 hours' imprisonment.

Thomas Arbuthnot, carter, besides being punished for being drunk, was at the instance of Constable Yarwood fined 40s., or 14 days, for cruelly ill-treating a horse.

William Arthur Gun, eight years of age, was charged with having, while under 16 years of age, slept in the open air. It was alleged that his father was unknown and that his mother was a prostitute. Inspector Attwell found him in a gutter at midnight. The boy was recommended for admission to the Benevolent Asylum, and it was ordered that police proceedings be taken against his parents.

In the Summons Court Mr. Addison, S.M., disposed of a large number of small debt cases.

PARRAMATTA AND THE ESTIMATES.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—Mr. A. H. M'Culloch, one of the members for Central Cumberland, in an extraordinary letter in your yesterday's issue, has made several statements which I think it necessary to notice, not altogether because of their inaccuracy, but because if they are not contradicted they must inevitably damage one or two important institutions which Mr. M'Culloch should be among the first to help and foster. His letter deals with three matters—namely, the penny postage, the forthcoming Juvenile Industrial Exhibition, and the district hospital.

I may remark, by the way, that I now learn for the first time that Mr. M'Culloch had anything whatever to do with the extension of the penny postage system to Parramatta. I will take his word for it, however, and if he has rendered me any little help in the direction stated I am sure I am much obliged for it. But I have no desire to detract from Mr. M'Culloch's self-glorification, and so I will let this matter pass.

The attempt to cast obstacles in the way of the Parramatta Exhibition, an undertaking which is really assuming national proportions, is, however, more serious, and may not be dealt with so lightly. Mr. M'Culloch is quite incorrect, both in his assumption as to the object of the exhibition and the amount which the Government have rightly considered it wise to ask Parliament to vote. £1000 is the sum that we hope to obtain, and not £500, as Mr. M'Culloch assumes. The first sum of £500 was promised by the Colonial Secretary to a deputation introduced by me, and which clearly pointed out the wide scope of the undertaking, and the second sum of £500 was promised by Mr. Stuart after the fullest consideration of its importance—both amounts being payable under the usual conditions. Mr. M'Culloch's sole objection to this proposed grant exhibits at once his utter ignorance of the purposes of the exhibition, for he says: "But up to the Bathurst case I think aid of this kind was only granted for the purpose of assisting directly such institutions as schools of arts, &c., and not for the purpose of enabling them to speculate in such a venture as an exhibition." Mr. M'Culloch here refers to the substantial aid given by Parliament to the Bathurst Juvenile Industrial Exhibition, and clearly implies that if the object of the Parramatta undertaking were, as in the case of Bathurst, to aid the School of Arts, he would consider a Government grant quite justifiable. Let me at once then dispel his objection. As a matter of fact, one of the grand purposes of our exhibition is to admit of a suitable site and buildings being procured for a School of Arts worthy of Parramatta. I do not believe there are half a dozen residents of the borough ignorant of this fact. I regret that one of the members for the district should be included among them, especially when his ignorance is applied to the purpose of damaging a truly noble project—a project which is educational in a double sense, first in reference to the exhibition itself, and then, in a more permanent form, in respect to the institution which it is intended to perpetuate. Mr. M'Culloch remarks, "I hope this Parramatta venture will prove a success." Again will I take his word; but I cannot refrain from saying that, if he really does entertain such a hope, he has adopted a most extraordinary method of showing it. Let his own words speak for his intention: "I am afraid I shall not be able to support the item when passing the Estimates." I trust, however, now that I have pointed out the error under which he labours, we shall have his well-known powerful eloquence exercised in favour of the grant. In that event we are sure to obtain it.

I now come to the last count in the indictment. He says: "The proposal to place £150 on the Estimates for the purchase of instruments for the Parramatta District Hospital is even less justifiable, and I do not think Mr. Taylor can have been made acquainted with the actual circumstances. I understand that the necessary instruments have already been bought and paid for out of surplus funds, and as the Parramatta Hospital has of late years been most liberally supported, it should now be in a prosperous condition." Again is Mr. M'Culloch quite incorrect in his assumptions and his facts. I am thoroughly aware of the circumstances of the purchase of the instruments. They were not bought out of surplus funds, and the hospital is not in a prosperous condition. It is true that the institution has been liberally endowed, but the endowments are being dealt with in such a peculiar manner by the trustees that they are practically a nullity. Not only has the capital been invested, but the interest upon it has been re-invested, and this in view of the fact that the institution is £100 in debt. So much for its prosperity. Now allow me to enlighten Mr. M'Culloch as to the purchase of these instruments.

Our medical staff needed surgical instruments, especially in view of the rapidly increasing population at the waterworks and railway works—a population which is in Mr. M'Culloch's constituency, and is especially liable to accidents. The medical gentlemen urgently requested the committee to purchase the instruments at a cost of £131, and the committee did so, not out of surplus funds, and fully anticipating that the amount would be recouped by Parliament, as such grants for a similar purpose have been made to many hospitals in this colony. As a matter of fact, the purchase left the hospital account overdrawn at the bank. When I waited upon the Colonial Secretary on the matter he asked, "What have the medical gentlemen done for instruments hitherto?" and I then informed him that the late Dr. Rutter, when honorary surgeon, found his own instruments, but that now he was dead there were none available. The details were fully explained; and Mr. Stuart, after full consideration, and in view of the circumstances of the purchase, and doubtless of the fact that such grants were common, as I have said, and in a much larger degree, justly, I think, decided to ask Parliament for similar aid for the Parramatta institution.

It is not my intention to dwell upon the envious bad taste which characterises Mr. M'Culloch's remark that I asked for this help for the purpose of making myself "popular and creditable with my constituents." But pray allow me to make the "retort courteous," and ask Mr. M'Culloch whether—some people might assume (I do not), apparently with no other object than to deny the value of my little labours in a good cause—is it not a heartless act to create a prejudice against an institution which, in its humane efforts to relieve the sick and suffering poor, is cramped for funds wherewith to do its good work? Is it possible that he can have forgotten that his constituents are far more interested in this particular matter than mine are?—that for one resident of Parramatta received within the hospital's sheltering walls three are entered from the surrounding county of Cumberland.

I cannot believe that the palpable effort which has been made to damage the hospital and the Industrial Exhibition, and through the latter the School of Arts, will be successful. Certainly there can be no reason why our exhibition, which is being carried out on a magnificent scale, should be placed in an exceptional position to the smaller one at Bathurst; or why our hospital, which extends its operations over a great district, should be more unfavourably dealt with than many country hospitals. As Mr. M'Culloch's opposition seems to be based upon a succession of blunders, I have just the faint hope that he may be magnanimous enough, now that I have set him right, to withdraw it.

I am, &c.,

HUGH TAYLOR.

Parramatta, September 28.

THE CASE OF ELIZABETH PHILLIPS.

The adjourned inquiry by the City Coroner into the cause of the death of Elizabeth Phillips was resumed yesterday morning. The prisoners George Kingsbury, James Connors, Joseph Williams, Edward Williams, and Alfred Williams were before the Court in custody. Mr. W. Edmunds again appeared on behalf of the Crown. Before the proceedings commenced the foreman of the jury said the jury wished to know if it was a fact, as stated by Mr. Buchanan, S.M., at the Water Police Court, that the prisoners were illegally in custody.

The Coroner said that in his opinion they certainly were not illegally in custody.

The foreman of the jury said the jury would take that opinion.

James Livermore, a youth of about 18 years of age, sworn, and cautioned by the Coroner, stated: I live at 34, Duke-street, and work at Notting's wood and coal yard, Dowling-street: I remember the night of Monday, 10th September; I met the prisoner, Joseph Williams, outside the Fish market a little after 7 o'clock that night; we walked together down Plunkett-street to the corner of Plunkett and Palmer streets and turned down into Griffiths-street; we saw a woman going into Griffiths-street, and we went into that street also; in Griffiths-street we saw a woman—the same we had noticed going into the street—lying on the footpath; there was another woman talking to her; Mrs. Cornish is like the woman who was talking to the one on the footpath, but I could not be certain of her identity; Williams struck a match to look at the face of the woman on the ground, and the woman said "Get;" Mrs. Cornish said, "Don't say that, they are my brothers;" some further remarks then passed between the two women. (Witness described a conversation in the same words as those made use of by Mrs. Cornish in her evidence on a previous day.)

Mr. Edmunds: Have you not read all that in the paper?

Witness: No; I cannot read.

Mr. Edmunds: Well, have you heard it read?

Witness: Yes, I heard it read.

Mr. Edmunds: Did you not gather all you have now said from the paper?

Witness: No, I did not; when we left the woman who was on the ground, Mrs. Cornish went into Palmer-street and I and Williams into Bourke-street; no one else was there; I remained for a few minutes in Bourke-street talking to Williams, and then we parted; that was about a quarter of an hour after we first saw the woman; I left Williams about a quarter to 8; I am sure it was not half-past 8, or later; I did not remain fully half-an-hour after I first saw the woman; any one who says I did would be mistaken; I did not see Mrs. Cornish again; Williams told me when I parted from him that he was going to his brother's shop; I went up Bourke-street, along William-street, to Poole's corner (Forbes-street), and remained there till 8 o'clock; I then went straight down William-street into town, and strolled up and down George-street as I do every night.

Mr. Edmunds: Did you meet any one?

Witness: I am not going to say who I met; I am not going to have them brought up here.

Mr. Edmunds: You must say whom you met.

Witness: I am not going to say.

The Coroner: I shall have to deal with you in another way if you do not.

Witness: I am not going to say who I met.

The Coroner: You will tell the names of the persons you met?

Witness: No, sir.

The Coroner: I shall certainly commit you if you do not. I shall have to commit you to gaol for a certain time.

Witness: Very well, sir; I cannot help that.

Mr. Edmunds: Where did you meet the persons you refuse to name?

Witness: Some in George-street, and some in King-street. I met them everywhere I went.

Mr. Edmunds: How many were there?

Witness: I can't say how many; there was a good few.

The Coroner: Understand that you will have to answer the questions put to you, and if you persist in refusing I will send you to gaol for contempt. Bear that in mind.

(The Coroner here asked whether a man named Patrick O'Brien was in Court. He had received, he said, from someone signing himself Patrick O'Brien a letter implicating somebody else in this case, and stating that the writer would attend the inquest and tell all he knew. Patrick O'Brien was then called, but he did not appear.)

Witness continued: I was walking with a person named Charley Downes, and was with him all that night.

Mr. Edmunds: Name the persons you met.

Witness: No; there were some respectable young girls, and I am not going to bring them up here.

Mr. Edmunds: Who were the young men you met?

Witness: I am not going to say.

The Coroner: If he refuses to give answers to these questions you must examine him on other points, and I will deal with him afterwards.

Mr. Edmunds: It is pretty evident what amount of information you will get from this witness.

Witness continued: I came back to Poole's corner with Downes at about five minutes to 10, and then went home; I did not see anybody that I knew as I went along; I reached home a couple of minutes after 10, and I went straight to bed; I did not go out again that night; two days after I saw the woman on the ground, I heard she was dead; my mother told me that, and I said, "That must have been the woman we seen in the lane;" I heard no one else mention the matter, except that I have heard it talked of all over the place; Charley Downes is lodging at our place, and has been there for the last fortnight; I do not remember having a talk about this matter on the wharf on Sunday week; I was not on the wharf that day, but I was in the Domain in the afternoon; I heard that fact read from the paper; Joseph Williams and Johnson were sitting on a seat, and they beckoned me and Downes as we were passing, and we went over to them; they asked us if we were going up to hear Brown; Frances Danby passed by a few minutes after we reached the seat; she was accompanied by Alfred Read; she said, "Yous is goin' to cop it on Tuesday;" we said, "Are we?"—(witness detailed some remarks of a coarse nature made by Danby at the time)—when she was going away she said, "There's one fellow I would like to lag, that's Peter Edwards, for the dirty trick he did me; it won't be my fault if I don't give him four years;" Read went down into Palmer-street with Frances Danby; I suppose Danby meant by her remarks that we were with the woman, and concerned in what took place; we had no conversation about the matter after Danby had gone; we said nothing more about it.

Mr. Edmunds: Don't you think that is most unlikely?

The Coroner: Most improbable.

Mr. Edmunds: All the information from this witness, your Worship will see, is perfectly useless, and if he were to give us any names of persons he had met they would be utterly valueless.

Foreman of the Jury: What made you connect the woman in the lane with the woman your mother spoke of?

Witness: Because I thought it was the same woman.

Foreman: But there might not be anything strange in a woman lying down in a lane; and why should you think it was that woman who was dead?

Witness: Because I thought so.

Mr. Edmunds: I will now ask you the names of the young men whom you met in George-street and King-street that night. You are not obliged to give an answer, but it will be a very strange thing in a case like this if you refuse to give those names. Do you refuse to give the names of all the young men you met that night?

Witness: I do.

The Coroner: Then you stand committed. I shall commit you to gaol there to remain until the court re-assembles after adjournment. You are guilty of direct contempt in refusing to answer a question of the nature just put to you.

The prisoners declined to ask the witness any questions.

Mary Ianthe Cornish, recalled, stated: After I left the woman lying in the lane I came back into Palmer-street, and crossing Plunkett-street and walking by the side of the Domain I went into Bourke-street; I was away from the woman about half-an-hour; I am certain of that; I came back again in the same direction, and I saw somebody standing at the corner of Griffiths and Palmer streets; Joseph Williams and James Livermore were standing there; I recognise Livermore now as the second of the young men (the other being Joseph Williams) who were near the woman at the time I was with her; the time was about half-past 8 when I saw the two standing together at the corner.

To prisoner Kingsbury: I could not tell whether the woman was in the lane at the time I saw the two young men at the corner.

To James Livermore: To the best of my belief you and Williams were dressed in dark suits and black felt hats, something similar to the hat you have now in your hand.

Frances Wiseman, recalled, stated: It was about half-past 9 o'clock at night when I saw the deceased Elizabeth Phillips in the lane; I heard the screams of some one; there were fearful screams as of some one in pain, and it was those screams which attracted my attention; I went out into the lane, and saw the woman there, and as I went I heard the footsteps of some persons running away; I went out twice, and on one of the occasions a lad asked me if I knew the woman; the prisoner Joseph Williams is very much like the lad, and to the best of my belief he is that lad; I went out at very great risk, for I am greatly annoyed down there by the larrikins.

Prisoners declined to ask the witness any questions.

(The witness, becoming very faint, was given a glass of water, and allowed to leave the court.)

Alfred Keith, a slater, living at 16, Taylor-street, Surry Hills, sworn, stated: I play the concertina at Shea's, Woolloomooloo. I know the prisoner Joseph Williams by going down to his brother's place; I cannot say whether he was at my place on the night of the 10th of last month, for I was out; I was told after I returned that two young fellows had called to see me, but Williams was not one; so far as I know Williams was not at my place that night, and I did not see him at all that night.

(Peter Edwards was called, and, not appearing, the service of a summons to attend and give evidence was proved, and the Coroner directed the issue of a warrant for his apprehension.)

Mr. Edmunds explained, with reference to a statement by one of the witnesses on a previous day to the effect that one of the Water Police had witnessed a fight and had encouraged it, that the so-called water policeman was in reality a Government boatman in a dress somewhat similar to that worn by the Water Police.

James Baker, a sailor, living at Hanover-street, Redfern, stated: I was under the influence of drink on the night of the 10th September, and cannot remember anything that occurred that night, but I was not in Woolloomooloo; I was very drunk, and found myself in Paddy's Market about 5 o'clock the next morning; I remember that morning; I was in the Fish Market and about it from about 20 minutes past 5 until the afternoon; on going to the Fish Market early in the morning, and while in Plunkett-street I looked over a fence and saw what I thought to be a man, but on going into the enclosure I found it was a woman with nothing upon her but a short jacket; there was a bag by her side; I did not notice any burns on the body; I went over to the market and reported it to two or three fishermen there; a man named Edwards returned to the woman with me, and Edwards covered her up by putting the bag over her; Edwards was the only man I knew among those I saw at the Fish market; I saw no other person near the woman; I did not know her; her eyes were shut, and she might have been my mother for what I knew; about three-quarters of an hour afterwards I heard in a public-house who the woman was; I did not know who she was before that.

The Coroner: But you knew Elizabeth Phillips?

Witness: I knew Elizabeth Phillips; I had occasion to know her in the year 1872; a man said to me in the public-house, "You ought to know her, Jim; she was your downfall;" "Well," I said, "there was a woman that gave me two years, of the name of Miss Phillips, if that is her;" There is nothing else that I can tell respecting this case to throw any light upon it; all the prisoners are strangers to me; I saw my name in the paper, and I came voluntarily to tell what I knew; I had not been down to the wharf or the Fish market before that morning for about five years; by the appearance of the woman I could see it had been a brutal affair.

To the jury: I went to Woolloomooloo that morning because, being under the influence of drink, I wanted to kill time, and to see Edwards, who was a friend of mine; it was about three years before that morning that I had previously seen Edwards; I had been out of the colony for that time.

To Mr. Edmunds: I have not seen Edwards since that morning, and have not been in Woolloomooloo since; I was not in any public-house in Woolloomooloo on the Monday morning.

Prisoners declined to ask the witness any questions.

William Johnson, a youth, known as "Jerry Scratch," and living at No. 19, Taylor-street, Paddington, stated: I am a stonemason, and work for the same master as Joseph Williams does; I remember the night of Monday, the 10th September; I was at home that night, and stayed at home all night; last Sunday week at about half-past three in the afternoon I was in the Domain on a seat near the Palmer-street gates; Joseph Williams, Alfred Read, James Livermore, and a man I know by the name of "Charley" were with me; I don't know that the surname of "Charley" is Downes. I saw Frances Danby pass by while we were there; she spoke, but I did not understand what she said.

Mr. Edmunds: Did she not remain talking for almost 10 minutes.

Witness: I did not notice her.

Mr. Edmunds: How long did she stay there?

Witness: About five minutes.

Mr. Edmunds: Talking to those who were with you?

Witness: Talking to some of them.

Mr. Edmunds: Do you mean to say you heard nothing of the conversation that took place?

Witness: No, sir; nothing whatever.

The Coroner: Are you hard of hearing?

Witness: Yes, sir.

Coroner: Where did you meet the others who were with you on the seat?

Witness: I met them on the seat. Joseph Williams was the first there, then James Livermore and "Charley" came. I don't know how Alfred Read came there. He did not come with Frances Danby.

Coroner: Was Read not sitting on the seat with you when she came up?

Witness: Yes.

Coroner: Then why do you fence the questions so. Did anyone go away with Danby?

Witness: No, sir.

Mr. Edmunds: Did you not notice who went away with her?

Witness: I did not notice her go away.

Mr. Edmunds: You saw nothing and heard nothing; did you not hear her say that you would "cop it"?

Witness: No, sir.

Coroner: What did you hear her say then?

Witness: Nothing.

Coroner: Do you think, for one moment, that the jury believe you?

Witness: I never took no notice of the girl.

Mr. Edmunds: Was there not some talking and laughing?

Witness: I don't know.

Mr. Edmunds: Did she mention Edwards's name?

Witness: I never heard her mention no name.

Mr. Edmunds: You did not hear her mention anything about a person playing her a dirty trick?

Witness: No, I never heard nothing.

Mr. Edmunds: What had you been talking about before Frances Danby came up?

Witness: Nothing.

Coroner: Are we to understand that five of you were sitting on the seat in solemn silence, without exchanging a word? Is that what you desire the jury to believe—that you sat there without speaking at all?

Witness: Yes, sir; never spoke a word.

Coroner: You say the girl stood there speaking for five minutes to those who were with you; did they not answer her?

Witness: I never heard her.

Mr. Edmunds: You do not know what in the world they were talking about?

Witness: No, sir.

Mr. Edmunds: You have no notion at all of what was being talked of before Danby came up?

Witness: No, sir.

To the Jury: I was talking to the young men sitting on the seat with me, but I have no idea what it was about. I don't recollect what I said.

To the Coroner: We were not talking about this inquest, or the death of Elizabeth Phillips; that subject did not come up at all.

The prisoners did not ask the witness any questions.

Ernest Barker, a youth, living at 103, Woolloomooloo-street, stated: I am a stonemason, and have been out of employment since the 10th of last month; I had served a sentence of two months and another of seven days before that date; I came out of gaol last Thursday fortnight or last Thursday week; I think it was Thursday fortnight, the 13th September; I was in Woolloomooloo that day; I was not in Palmer-street, but I crossed that street when in Woolloomooloo-street; I was not in company with any one that day; I have read the evidence given in this case published in the newspaper; I do not remember having a conversation with anybody in Palmer-street.

Mr. Edmunds: Do you remember being told to remove away from a window?

Witness: No; I have not had any talk with anyone except my brother about this case; I have had no talk with Lahiff or with Livermore; I was not in gaol on the 10th of last month; on the night of that day, at half-past 7, I was in a hairdresser's (Leserda's); James Connors was there, and Brown, James Orr, and Leserda himself; Campbell was there also; I left about half-past 7; Campbell left before me, and Orr left with me; I and Orr went round the town with Leserda and a young fellow named Latimer; Brown lives in Forbes-street, Orr in Brougham-street, and Latimer in Duke-street; Orr, Leserda, Latimer, and I went into town, and when we returned we went back to Leserda's; it was then about half-past 9, and we stayed till nearly 11 o'clock; I was the last to leave, and I went direct home, and stayed there.

To the Coroner: I served the seven days in gaol after the 10th of last month.

Charles Downes, a carter, living with James Livermore in Duke-street, stated: I was from 8 o'clock to 10 with Livermore on the night of the 10th September; we went down town together, and up and down George-street for a walk; I am not aware that we spoke to anyone; I did not see Livermore speak to anyone; at that time I was living at 187, Bourke-street, a boarding-house; I left Livermore at Poole's corner, after we returned from town, and I went straight to my residence and remained there all night; I remember being on a seat in the Domain with Joseph Williams, Livermore, Johnson, and Read, on a Sunday afternoon; I have read the evidence stating what Frances Danby said on that occasion; she stayed talking with us for about 10 minutes; I could not tell exactly what she said, for I did not take much notice of it; it was something about this tragedy affair; I mean the death of Elizabeth Phillips; she said, "Some of you will cop it on Tuesday," or something like that.

Mr. Edmunds: What was said in reply to that?

Witness: I don't know.

The Coroner: Come now, what followed?

Witness: Somebody answered, but I don't know what was said. It is no use telling lies about it.

The Coroner: Witnesses in this case appear to have very treacherous memories.

Witness: I understood when Danby said some one would "cop it," that she meant some of them there were connected with the outrage.

Mr. Edmunds: Could you not say what was said?

Witness: I could not if I was to try.

The Coroner: Wasn't there something said about a lacing or belting?

Witness: Not that I know of.

Mr. Edmunds: Is it likely she would say "You will cop it on Tuesday," and no reply be made?

Witness: They did make a reply, but I do not know who made it, or what was said. I have no recollection of what it was.

Coroner: There are 12 gentlemen there (pointing to the jury) who have to consider your evidence. Do you think they will believe you when you say that?

Witness: Yes.

Coroner: Tell us to the best of your recollection what the reply was?

Witness: Some one said if Lizz Orr put him away they would belt or lace her when they came out.

Coroner: You do recollect something of it, you see.

To Mr. Edmunds: I did not hear the question, "Who are we?" asked.

Mr. Edmunds: Did you not hear the reply to that?

The witness hesitated.

Mr. Edmunds: You heard what was said?

Witness: Yes, I heard what was said.

Coroner: Then tell us to the best of your recollection what it was?

Witness: She made some remark about her old man having a row the night before, that he was tight, and was going to "job" or "push" Sergeant Stewart. I don't remember anything about Elizabeth Orr knowing who committed the outrage; I think it was Alfred Read who made the remark about belting or lacing, but I could not be sure; Johnson took part in the conversation, but I don't remember what was said; I heard Frances Danby say that someone had said the iron with which Elizabeth Phillips had been burnt had come from her (Danby's) house, but that it had not come from there; I did not hear any one say where the iron or irons came from, and nothing was said in my presence about the body being covered with dirt or manure; Danby also said that a statement had been made that the iron had been heated at her house, but that it was a lie; she did not say how the iron was heated: I don't recollect anything else that was said. [Witness was asked at this stage to write his name, and also the words "I cannot write very well," with the object of comparing his handwriting with that of an anonymous letter received by the police.]

To the jury: I should think Johnson had as good an opportunity as I had of seeing and hearing what took place while we were sitting on the seat in the Domain.

Mr. Dargan, on behalf of Mr. R. H. Levien, informed the coroner that he appeared for the prisoners Alfred and Joseph Williams.

Mr. Bull said he appeared on behalf of James Livermore, committed for contempt, and, with the consent of the Coroner, he took Livermore outside the court to confer with him, and advise him to answer the questions to which he had refused to give a reply.

William Patrick Brown, a tailor, living at 75, Forbes-street, with his parents, stated: I know the prisoners Connors, Kingsbury, and Joseph and Alfred Williams; I have been frequently in company with Connors; I was with Connors on the night of the 10th from 6 o'clock till about half-past 7 or a quarter to 8 in Leserda's hairdressing shop, in Woolloomooloo-street; we went from the shop to Williams' public-house to have a drink; I remained at the public-house till about 11; I left Connors in the bar when I went to the public-house, and walked into the parlour, where I saw three young fellows, named Jones, Miller, and Assenheim; Jones is a stonemason, living, I think, at Woollahra; Miller lives in Dowling-street, and drives a van; Assenheim lives near the Haymarket, and also drives a van; I saw Lahiff in the bar that night; I don't know how long he was there, and I could not say whether he was there when Connors and I went there; I have had no conversation with either of the prisoners with reference to the outrage on Elizabeth Phillips; I was not on Cowper Wharf last Sunday week; I was in Leserda's on the morning of that Sunday from about half-past 10 until 1 o'clock; there were others there, but I do not remember who they were; Connors lives in the same house as I do; I saw him on and off during the night of the 10th September up to 10 o'clock.

To prisoner Kingsbury: I did not to my knowledge see you on the night of the 10th; you are not in my company frequently.

James Livermore, placed in the witness box to answer the questions to which he had previously refused a reply, stated he was now willing to tell the names of the persons he met on the night of the 10th. Those persons were his sister (Rebecca Livermore), Annie Dunks, and August Gates; it was 8 o'clock when Downes and he started to go down town.

The coroner said, in reply to Mr. Bull, that this was sufficient so far as the contempt of Court was concerned, and Livermore was released from custody.

To Mr. Edmunds: I cannot tell any more of what took place in the Domain; I did not hear anything said about Elizabeth Orr.

James Orr, a drayman, living at 185, Brougham-street, stated: I remember the night of Monday the 10th of last month; I was at Leserda's barber's shop in Woolloomooloo-street; I went for a shave; the barber and a man named Ernest Barker were there; I went away from the shop with Leserda, Barker, and John Latimer down the town; I returned at about half-past 9, crossing the Park, and going into Woolloomooloo-street, back to Leserda's; I remained there about an hour and then went home; I know the prisoners Alfred and Joseph Williams, Kingsbury, and Connors; I saw Connors that night in the barber's shop; lately I have been very frequently to Leserda's; I go there for a shave and a yarn.

To the Coroner: I saw Connors in the barber's shop at about half-past 6.

Mr. Edmunds regretted that there was no further evidence to bring forward that day, and that the evidence brought before the jury during the day had been of such an inferior character; but the case was one of so much importance that it was thought right to bring everybody forward who could say anything about it. He now asked that the inquiry might be further adjourned.

The Coroner intimated to the jury that on the next day of hearing the case would probably be brought to a conclusion, and the inquest was then adjourned until Tuesday next, at 9 a.m.

Mr. Dargan applied that Joseph and Alfred Williams might be admitted to bail, but the Coroner said he thought it would be imprudent at present to accede to the application, as if it were granted the two prisoners would be set at large, and then would be able to communicate with other witnesses.

NEW PUBLICATIONS.

So far as appearance goes, the Sydney Quarterly Magazine, the first number of which has just been published, leaves nothing to be desired. Whether there is room for another periodical of the kind, it is at present hard to say. The spirit and enterprise displayed in the Magazine are, however, very creditable, and deserve encouragement. The contents are at least remarkable for their variety. In poetry we have the University prize poem, "The Land of China," by Mr. Frank M. Bladen, and a ballad, "The Flower of Gold," by Dr. Brereton. Mr. Alfred Bourne gives the first portion of a history of New South Wales. "The Latest Vagaries of Pseudo Science" is an attack, by Mr. E. A. Jones, on the visionary ramblings of a scientific man. Miss Holden contributes a well-timed article on "Institution Reform." Mr. Charles Davis, in his paper on "The Transcontinental Railway" will have the support of many of the people of this colony, for he advocates a line across the continent to the north-west corner, which would have the effect of making Sydney the terminus, instead of Brisbane or Adelaide. In a paper called "Life," Dr. Jackson first affirms the importance of a knowledge of life; he then tells us it is a mystery which has never been fathomed, and finally defines it and fixes its nature. "The Relations of Australia with the Mother Country," by the Hon. G. H. Reid, opens the way to a discussion of importance. An article on Gounod's "Faust," by Mr. W. W. Biggs, is worth reading, as giving a clear analysis of the maestro's great work. "Quiz" contributes a short but readable paper on "Human Fossils," and there is "A Holiday Ramble in Victoria," by the Rev. E. C. Spicer. A second paper, by Mr. E. A. Jones, on "Federation," deserves perusal. "Criticism," "Outsiders," "The French in Tonquin," "English Prejudice—Australia's Misfortune," and a paper in verse, entitled "Creedless Churches," with a sketchy paper called "L'Entr'acte," form the balance of the number. Many of the papers are somewhat scrappy, and a few are hardly worthy of a place in a Sydney quarterly magazine.

The Australian Medical Gazette for September contains several articles of special interest to medical practitioners. Dr. Byrne, medical superintendent of Prince Alfred Hospital, publishes an analysis of the first 100 cases of typhoid fever in that hospital; and Dr. Rowling, of Parramatta, contributes an abstract of 453 cases of the same disease treated by him between the years 1870 and 1882 inclusive. Dr. Beattie, medical superintendent of the Coast Hospital, Little Bay, gives some statistics of typhoid convalescents. The editorial columns of the Gazette are devoted to comments upon several matters of importance, notably the inoculation of rabbits with tuberculosis and its possible results. The Australian Medical Journal for September, published in Melbourne, contains its usual number of articles and reports, which may be perused with advantage.

An illustrated guide for tourists in California has been forwarded to us by Mr. A. E. Gregory, agent for the Union Pacific Railway Company. The work is profuse in illustrations and graphic descriptions of the natural wonders of California. The work is published by H. S. Crocker and Co., San Francisco. We have also received from the same source an elaborate coloured map of the States through which the Union Pacific railways extend; and words set to music on the Great Rock Island route.

Mr. Charles Macabe, general agent for American railways, has forwarded us a number of pamphlets, which are likely to be useful and interesting to Australians who visit Europe by way of San Francisco. Compared with the tables which are furnished to travellers on the New South Wales lines, these pamphlets are marvels of information. One, a broadsheet, which may be folded conveniently for the pocket, contains a map of the world, with the mail routes, and a map of the United States, showing her railways and the cities and towns they pass through. The same pamphlet also contains several well-executed engravings of American scenery. A second pamphlet gives particulars of the hot mineral springs at Las Vegas, in New Mexico. The third contains notes of a trans-American tour, which were written by Mr. S. N. Townshend, a correspondent of The Field, London, and which give details of the cities, country, lakes, rivers, mountains, forests, and people one would see travelling by the overland route. Each little work is well printed and nicely illustrated, and might be perused with pleasure even by those who do not intend leaving the colony.

Messrs. Bancroft and Son, publishers, have forwarded to us a pamphlet containing a series of articles upon the Civil Service Superannuation Policy, reprinted from the Suburban Times. The object in publishing the pamphlet is to promote a discussion on the subject to which the articles refer.

A pamphlet has been forwarded to us entitled, "The Land Question, with special reference to New Zealand and Old Scotland," by Rev. James Macgregor, of Oamaru, N. Z. The author has dealt with his subject in two lectures.

We have received a copy of a paper upon the subject of light railways, read by Mr. Walter Shellshear, Associate M.I.C.E., before the Engineering Association of New South Wales. The writer of the paper states the correct fundamental principles upon which economical light railways should be constructed as follows:—(1), to proportion the weight on each wheel of the rolling stock, so that the rail shall not be overloaded at any point; (2), to adopt the narrowest gauge consistent with stability; (3), to design the rolling stock, so that it shall offer the least resistance in passing round curves, and to make it as light as possible in proportion to the load carried, consistent with building it of sufficient strength; (4), to adopt curves of a smaller radius than is practicable on trunk lines, so as to avoid difficulties which beset construction on the standard gauge; and (5), to keep the steepness of the gradients within reasonable limits.

The report of the New South Wales Mission for Teaching the Blind to Read, for the year ending December 31, 1882, has just been issued to the public in pamphlet form. It is a very gratifying report, and shows that the labours of the mission are meeting with considerable success in what is a most philanthropic and useful work.

H.M.S. Espiègle returned to port yesterday morning, after a lengthy cruise among the Solomon Islands. On the 24th April last she weighed anchor in Farm Cove and set out for Norfolk Island. The weather was very thick, and in consequence of the misfortune of meeting with unfavourable winds the Espiègle did not succeed in reaching the island until the 5th May, and then the passage was only accomplished by dint of much steaming. Being so much behind time at the very outset of an unusually long cruise, it was impossible to spend any time at Norfolk Island, and to the great disappointment of the commander and all on board no one was able to land, but a few residents came off to the ship. A fair wind, which it would have been imprudent to disregard, sprang up as soon as the ship had got close to Norfolk Island, and it carried her right up to Khandavu. Suva was reached on the 11th May, and here H.M.S. Miranda was found lying at anchor. As soon as a judicial commissioner (the Hon. G. R. Le Hunte) was appointed, he was embarked, and the Espiègle started for Rotumah, anchoring there on the 22nd May. On the following day she took her departure, but soon afterwards returned in order to inter the remains of the late chief engineer, Mr. E. Lucas, who died rather suddenly from bronchitis not many hours after putting to sea. The hitherto uninhabited island of Sophia was then made for, and the Espiègle afterwards ran through the Ellice, Gilbert or Kingsmill, and Southern Marshall Groups. At Pern Island an inquiry was made into the pillaging of the wreck of an English trader, and the result was the imposition of a fine on the natives of the islands. At Taputewea a British subject had suffered some damage to his property at the hands of the natives, and the Espiègle on visiting that place enforced compensation adequate to the amount of destruction committed. At Arnho Atoll, in the Marshall Group, a meeting was arranged between some hostile chiefs, and a war of long standing which had almost ruined trade was put an end to, and another war on Majuro Atoll, equally destructive to trade, was also stopped. In both cases the amicable arrangements come to indicated long-continued peace. At Jaluit the Espiègle took in a supply of coal, there being no less than 1000 tons of that article on Atoll. Krusaie, in the Carolines, was the next island touched at, and the chief feature in connection with the call at this place was an inspection of the ruins of Lele. The visit to them proved very interesting, though they are not by any means as wonderful as the extensive remains at the next island, Ponapi; but they are of a different character. From Ponapi the course ran was to Nuknor, thence to Greenwich Island. At the former place human sacrifices are still permitted, though, owing to the energetic action of an Ellice Islander trading on the Atoll in burning down a temple at which the last such sacrifice was offered about two years ago, a repetition of the barbarous practice is not considered altogether likely. Visits were paid to Mooki in the hope of getting coal, and also to Matupi, where a small quantity was obtained. The greater part of the Espiègle's cruise lay in what, at the season of her visit, was a windless tract, and consequently her progress was somewhat slow. Twenty days were spent in reaching the Pellew Islands from Matupi, and on arrival there peace was restored between the two principal kings, and a promise was obtained that the barbarous practise of taking heads would be discontinued. At New Britain a rumour to the effect that the captain of a labour vessel had been attacked by natives, was thoroughly inquired into, and it was discovered to be in reality rather different to the current version regarding it. At Yap, in addition to preventing a threatened war, the Commander of the Espiègle instituted an inquiry into certain charges laid against Mr. D. D. O'Keefe, the head of an important trading firm there. He was accused of having ill-treated the natives, and the investigation proved that the charges were altogether unwarrantable. The Judicial Commissioner then held a court for the trial of two British subjects who were alleged to have made a warlike expedition against a native tribe, and afterwards Matupi was set out for. Owing to long periods of calm weather the Espiègle occupied 14 days in reaching her destination. On September 5 she left again, after having received a mail which had been awaiting her, and proceeded to Treasury Island in the Solomon Group, and thence to Alu Island, a distance of 30 miles further on. At the latter island H.M.S. Lark was met, and she was towed back in a calm to Treasury Island, on the 11th September. The Espiègle then left for Sydney, and she arrived yesterday morning at about 9 o'clock, coming to an anchorage in Farm Cove soon afterwards. She was rather unfortunate as regards the weather during the passage across. The wind was generally foul, and on the night of the 28th she met a strong southerly gale, which seriously lengthened her voyage. The Espiègle gave passages to Sydney to three French missionaries who had fled from their station in New Britain in consequence of an attack made on them by the natives. Their house had been burned down, and all their clothes were lost, and to add to their misfortunes they were ill with fever at the time. The Espiègle also rescued some New Hebrides natives who were taken from their homes seven years ago. During the whole of her protracted cruise there has been very little sickness on board, notwithstanding the unfavourable season she experienced, the weather as a rule being intensely hot. Altogether a distance of 12,000 miles was covered, and as many as 30 islands called at, some of them never having been visited by a man-of-war before. The natives throughout conducted themselves in a friendly manner, and showed no hostility towards the Espiègle. It may be interesting to know that Mr. J. Paine photographer, of 96, Elizabeth-street, Waterloo, gave instructions to a petty officer and a leading seaman of H.M.S. Espiègle in his art previous to her departure from Sydney. He also placed a camera and a set of dry plates on board, and with these many views in different parts of the island, where no photographers had before penetrated, were taken during the cruise. On the 24th September the Espiègle, when between Kenn and Bellona reefs, passed a lugger, painted white, under English colours, standing to the northward; and on the 30th September the ship La Hogue was passed off Moreton Bay.

The Allowrie (s.) left Eden at 8 a.m. on the 2nd instant, and passed Jervis Bay at 11 p.m. Sydney Heads were entered at 8 a.m. yesterday. N.N.E. winds were met with with fine weather throughout. The Allowrie brings 100 cases maizena, 58 bags bark, 3 cases eggs, 93 pigs, 10 kegs butter, 253 cheeses, 10 bags oysters, 1 cask tallow.

The Birksgate (s.) left the Semaphore, Adelaide, at 5 p.m. on the 29th ultimo, passed Cape Otway at 6.30 a.m. on the 1st instant, and Wilson's Promontory at 7 p.m. on the same date. Gabo Island was passed at 3 p.m. on the 2nd instant, and Sydney Heads were made at 3 p.m. yesterday. From the Semaphore to Cape Howe moderate head winds were experienced, with fine weather, and thence strong northerly breezes and hazy weather to arrival. The Birksgate has brought 700 tons of general cargo.

The Sophia Ann (s.) crossed the Macleay River bar outwards at 10 a.m. on Tuesday last, passed Seal Rocks at 10 p.m., and entered Sydney Heads at 11 a.m. yesterday. Light N. winds prevailed throughout the passage. She brings the following cargo: 1194 bags maize, 4000 feet sawn cedar, 4 coops fowls, 8 cases eggs, 15 pigs, 3 hides, and sundries.

Captain Stannard, of the Jasper, barquentine, of Lyttelton, says:—"This was my sixth voyage round Cape Horn to the Cape of Good Hope, and on three different voyages I have sighted the same ice, latitude 40 S., longitude 26, 10 W. On April 9, 1881, I ran into the centre of it, and at the same time the barque Elizabeth, belonging to the same owner, passed the south end of the same ice. On September 16, 1882, latitude 42 50 S., longitude 26 54 W., I passed the same ice, which makes me think that it must be land covered with ice and snow, the same as South Georgia."

The Lindus (s.), from Newcastle to Melbourne, passed the Heads at 3.30 p.m. yesterday.

The schooner Upolu arrived at New Britain after a smart passage of 20 days from Sydney. She has sailed again, and will come through the Solomon Group, and may be expected here in about a fortnight.

The Orient liner Iberia, which left Sydney on August 17 for London, via ports, arrived at her destination on the 1st instant, having completed the the voyage from Adelaide in 37 days.

The steamship Sikh, from London, arrived at Adelaide yesterday. She comes on to Melbourne and Sydney.

The emigrant ship Dharwar was released from quarantine yesterday evening.

The steamship Ghazee, from London to Sydney, via ports, arrived at Adelaide on Tuesday. It will be recollected that the Ghazee had to put into Gibraltar to effect repairs necessitated through her having been in collision with the steamer Wilwin, the latter vessel being so damaged that she sank.

The Italian man-of-war Caracciolo was yesterday taken round to the Government Dock, at Cockatoo Island, where she will be overhauled and cleaned.

MONETARY AND COMMERCIAL.

WEDNESDAY EVENING.

In the Stock and Share market to-day a moderate amount of business was transacted. Federal Bank brought a higher price; and Brickwood and Wesley Tin were firmer. The following sales were reported:—Joint Stock Bank, £16 15s.; Federal, 31s. 3d.; Mercantile Insurance, 2s. 1d.; Sydney Exchange, £12; Nymagee Copper, 44s.; Brickwood Tin, 23s. 6d. 24s., 24s. 3d.; Wesley Tin, 15s., 14s. 9d., 15s. 3d.; Band and Albions Gold, 28s. Closing quotations will be found elsewhere.

At a special meeting of the Sydney Meat Preserving Company, Limited, to-day, a resolution was passed empowering the directors to purchase on behalf of the company such shares as in their discretion they may resolve to buy.

A branch of the Australian Joint Stock Bank was opened yesterday at Pambula.

In the Import market to-day an improvement in business was reported by many houses, but sales were for the most part of small lines only. The flour trade continues to be marked by steadiness; yesterday's quotations are without change. One or two small lines of tea were placed at auction. A very large catalogue of sugars was offered publicly, but the bulk of it was withdrawn. About 30 tons of Queensland were placed under the hammer at £33 15s. for a fine white crystal, at £31 5s. for a light crystal, and at £26 10s. for yellow. About 400 packages of colonial were also quitted at from £24 for low ration to £31 for a low white: a considerable quantity was sold privately. The sugar market has received large additions from the Northern rivers, and is now well stocked. A line of Mauritius sold privately at £35 10s.; £36 being asked for best samples. In fish, we hear of the sale of a parcel of sardines, halves and quarters, close at hand, at 8s. 9d. and 4s. 9d. Lea and Perrins' sauce was done at 11s. 3d. In other lines of groceries nothing of importance transpired. A better trade was done in beer; Foster's had attention at 10s. 6d. and 7s. 8d.; Ind, Coope at 8s. 9d.; Tennent's at 8s. 6d. and 5s. 6d. Stout also commanded more attention. Pig, at 9s. 9d. and 6s. 9d., and O'Brien's at equal to 9s. for quarts. Martell's single star brandy was done at 85s. 6d.; Hennessy's quoted at late rates; Geneva, large contents, was taken at 11s. 9d. A good trade was done in whisky. A parcel of Royal Blend was taken at 18s.: Lorne was done at the same figure; Islay at 17s., and Dunville's at 16s. Red Heart rum was noticed at 22s. In metals the business transpiring was at late prices, but the trade was quiet; more inquiry noted for explosives; Nobel's Glasgow dynamite having attention at 1s. 9d. At Messrs. Fraser and Co.'s timber sale to-day Scotch ⅞-inch lining boards sold at 16s. 6d.; St. Petersburg deals, 19s. 9d. A shipment of American shelving brought 22s. A quantity of Oregon was sold at 11s. Baltic lining, white, 6 x ½, 13s.; flooring, white, 6 x 1, 16s. 3d.; redwood architraves, 1¼ x 6, 17s. 9d.; 1¼ x 6, 16s. 9d.; 1¼ x 5, 14s. 6d.; 1¼ x 4, 10s. 3d.; mouldings, 1 x 3, 5s. 9d.; 1 x 2½, 4s. 9d.; Scotia, 2 x 2½, 6s. 3d.; 1¼ x 2, 5s. 6d.; 1¼ x 1½, 3s. 8d.; 1 x 1½, 2s.; ½ quarter round, 1s. 6d.; ½ x 1¼ lattice, 2s. 3d.; pine parting bead, 1s. 9d.; sugar pine doors, 2.6 x 6.6 x 1¼ D.M., 10s. 6d.; 2.10 x 6.10 x 1¼ R.M., 17s.; 2.10 x 6.10 x 1¾ D.M., 14s.; 2.8 x 6.8 x 1¼ D.M., 15s. 3d.; 2.8 x 6.8 x 1¾ R.M., 17s. 6d.; 2.8 x 6.8 x 1¼ D.M., 8s.; 2.8 x 6.8 x 1¼ D.M., 9s. 9d.; 2.10 x 6.10 x 1¼ D.M., 9s. 6d.; 2.10 x 6.10 x 1¾ octagon, 16s. There was a fair supply of forage and produce at the Darling Harbour market this morning, and an improvement in the attendance of buyers. The following prices were realised:—Oaten and wheaten hay, in bundles 3s. 10d., in truss 2s. 9d. per cwt.; clean straw, in bales 2s. 2d., in bundles 2s. to 2s. 9d.; oaten hay, in bundles, 3s. 9d. to 6s., in truss 5s. 9d. per cwt.; bales with straw mixed, 3s. 1d. per cwt.; lucerne, in truss 2s. 3d. to 2s. 6d. per cwt.; potatoes, 4s. per cwt.; maize, 3s. 4d. to 3s. 5d. per bushel; oaten chaff, 5s. 6d. to 6s. 1d.; mixed chaff, 3s. 3d.; straw chaff, 3s. 5d. per cwt. The sales along the wharfs this morning were moderately attended, and a fair business was done. Quotations were as follows:—Maize, 3s. 4d. to 3s. 6d.; seed and feed oats, 2s. 6d. to 2s. 8d. per bushel; Melbourne onions, £7 to £7 10s. per ton; lucerne, from £2 to £3 per ton; Circular Head potatoes, £3 to £3 5s.; New Zealand ditto, £3 10s.; Ballarat, £3 per ton; Victorian oaten chaff, £5 to £5 10s.; ditto, straw chaff, £3 10s. to £5 15s. beeswax, 9d. to 10d.; honey, 5d. to 6d.; lard, in bulk, 5d. to 7d.; in bladder, 6d. to 8d.; ham, 7d. to 10d.; bacon, 6d. to 8d.; cheese, 6d. to 8d. per lb.; eggs, 1s. 3d. per dozen; butter, in keg, 1s. per lb. There was a good supply of Hunter River lucerne in the market.

Mr. John Bridge reports that at his sale of sheepskins to-day, the market was firmer than at last sales, and prices more favourable to owners. Best-woolled skins brought 6½d. to 7d., medium 5d. to 5½d., pelts 1½d. to 2½d. For the few lots of wool offered there was good competition. Mr. Bridge reports that he will hold his opening sale on or about the 10th instant.

Our monetary and commercial reviews for the month will be found in our summary columns.

Messrs. Mort and Co., Limited, did not offer any attractive lots of wool for sale to-day, and the few parcels sold were not of a character to afford much test of the market. They will hold their opening sale of the season on the 17th instant, when a large and attractive catalogue of new wools will be submitted. Sheepskins were in improved request, and all offered were sold at prices ranging from 2½d. to 7d. per lb., according to growth and condition.

The Customs receipts to-day were as follows:—Spirits, £2478 4s. 7d.; wine (still), £303 12s. 9d.; ditto (sparkling), £58 10s.; ale, porter, and beer (in bottle), £387 3s. 9d.; tobacco (unmanufactured), £125; cigars, £455 17s. 7d.; tea, £179 18s. 4d.; coffee and chicory, £3 1s. 6d.; sugar (unrefined), £608 15s.; molasses, £10 3s. 3d.; opium, £24 1s. 3d.; rice, £38 7s. 3d.; dried fruits, £144 3s. 4d.; malt, £227 9s.; hops, £28 5s. 9d.; sarsaparilla, 18s.; specific duty, £984 13s. 1d.; bonding warehouse duty, £140; fisheries royalty, £2 10s.; pilotage, £56 18s.; harbour and light dues, £32 1s. 8d.: total, £6287 19s. 1d.

WORLD-WIDE HONOURS TO ST. JACOBS OIL.
The Great German Remedy, ST. JACOBS OIL, stands honoured with the highest distinction ever paid to a medicine. This is not only the case in this country, but abroad everywhere. At the New Zealand International Exhibition, 1882, it received the magnificent First Prize Medal, together with the Highest Diploma for being, according to critical tests, the Best Pain Curing and Healing Remedy known to mankind.
ONE OF THE WORLD'S GREATEST OARSMEN.
Mr. Edward Trickett, the celebrated oarsman, gave the following as his opinion.
"I have found St. Jacobs Oil a sure and certain cure, and one unequalled by any medicine. It cured me of severe pains in the back, brought on by over exertion in rowing. It is a pleasant, safe, and sure remedy, penetrating at once to the seat of the disease and eradicating the complaint without further trouble." And now he says that St. Jacobs Oil and good athletic training are what our young men want.

IT HAS NO EQUAL.
Nothing equal to it in the whole range of the Pharmacopœia as an anti-scorbutic, alterative, carminative, and blood purifier, and the increasing demand for Emil Prese's Hamburg Tea in this neighbourhood and everywhere on the Pacific Coast is truly astonishing. It is invaluable as a family medicine.

The Sydney Morning Herald.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 4, 1883.

There is reason to doubt whether a full report of Mr. DIBBS's next financial statement will be sent to England through the telegraph. The Treasury abstracts just published in the Gazette do not warrant the expectation that it will be so jubilant in tone as the last was, or so sanguine in its forecast. We are now entering upon the last quarter of the year, and the fulfilment of the anticipations put forth by the TREASURER in February seems to be in all probability impossible. His estimate of the revenue for 1883 was £6,819,200. If we make up a twelvemonth's revenue by adding the receipts for the last quarter of last year to those for the three quarters of the present year just closed, we have a total of £6,702,802, which is less by £116,398 than Mr. DIBBS's estimate. That, however, is hardly a safe way of calculating the probabilities. During the last quarter of last year the land sales were in full swing, and a sum exceeding £300,000 was received from auction sales and after-auction selections. Last quarter the receipts from those sources were under £14,000, and next quarter they may not be any more. We cannot reckon upon having as large a revenue for the closing quarter of this year as we had for the last quarter of 1882, and the estimate should rest on a different basis. Taking the actual revenue for the three quarters of the present year, and adding thereto one-third for the time that remains, would give a total less by £600,000 than Mr. DIBBS's estimate. That calculation, however, would be unfair, for the pastoral and other rents that are paid in the last quarter of the year give an addition of about £280,000 to the ordinary quarter's revenue. But taking for the last quarter of this year a sum calculated upon the basis of the revenue for the past three quarters, and adding for pastoral rents and annual leases the amount received from those sources in the December quarter of 1882, we get a total of £6,444,329, which is nearer £400,000 than £300,000 below the TREASURER's estimate. During the first quarter of the present year the Customs duty showed an increase of some £23,000, which was largely the result of a withdrawal of goods from bond in anticipation of tariff changes. Possibly something of the kind may occur again before the close of this year; but if it should, the situation would not be materially altered.

The sum named in the financial speech for the probable Customs revenue of this year, was £1,638,800, a considerable increase upon the return of last year. The actual receipts up to this point, however, amount to £1,086,727, which, with one-third added, would give a total of £1,448,969. The Customs revenue for 1882 was, £1,480,046, so that we seem likely to collect not only less than the TREASURER's estimate, but less than we did last year. Another great head of revenue under which it appears that a too favourable estimate was made is the sale of land. A decrease as compared with last year was looked for, but not so large a decrease as now seems to be almost certain. In 1882 we received from land sales £2,167,514. For the present year the TREASURER expected to get £1,148,000. The receipts for the three quarters have made up £801,240, and adding to this one-third for the rest of the year, there is a probable total of £1,068,320, or some £79,000 less than the estimate of February last.

Setting aside the TREASURER's estimates, however, it may be well to notice some of the results of a comparison between the figures for the twelve months ending with last September and those for the corresponding period ending with September, 1882. It will be seen that there is a decrease of £552,451 on the revenue as a whole. The decrease upon the land sales alone amounted to £917,278. There has, therefore, been an increase of £364,827 in receipts from other sources. If we could stop there the general conclusion would be satisfactory and, indeed, encouraging. But it is necessary to inquire further what are the other resources referred to. The railways have returned an increase of £258,465, and the Post Office receipts are more by £74,718, so that under these two heads alone we have £333,000 of the £364,000. The Post Office receipts, however, are all swallowed up by the Post Office expenditure and leave a deficiency behind them; and although the railway receipts do something more than cover the railway expenditure, including interest, it may be doubted whether a single shilling of the large sum received from the railways and Post Office together, amounting though it does to £2,400,000, can be strictly regarded as revenue available for purposes of government. If we struck out from the public accounts all that we spend and all that we receive in the case of those two Departments, the result would be practically the same as before. Let this be done, and let the decrease upon land sales also be disregarded. We have then a net increase of some £31,000 upon the general revenue. In view of the increase of the population, a sum so small as this cannot be fairly taken as evidence of expansiveness or elasticity. It seems rather to suggest a shrinkage.

The fact is that on turning to the tables we find an actual decrease of £25,000 in the revenue from taxation, which should be considered the backbone of the public income. The Customs revenue, with its increase of £519, has relatively fallen off; the duty on refined sugar and molasses shows a decrease of more than £10,000. There is an increase of £7000 on colonial spirits, which (like an increase of £15,000 on imported spirits) is hardly a cause for congratulation. But stamps, from which a considerable increase was expected, have yielded less by £24,000. We have here referred to figures for the year only; but the returns for the quarter, if taken by themselves, present a still more unfavourable aspect. Under these circumstances it will not be denied that the COLONIAL TREASURER has before him plenty of scope for the exercise of all his talents. It is a comparatively easy thing in "rosy times," to arrange for the disposal of irrepressible surpluses. It is difficult to continue expenditure on the accustomed liberal scale, and to provide legitimate current revenue to meet it. "Land reform and fiscal reform," said Mr. DIBBS in February last, "should go hand in hand." It is hard to see how he can now avoid carrying that principle into practice.

We copied the other day from the Spectator a suggestive article on "Coal as a Factor in War," a subject upon the right understanding of which the fortunes of nations may yet depend. The subject is of immense importance to these colonies as dependencies of Great Britain; but, if possible, its importance to Great Britain, as an empire with many dependencies, and thriving upon her trade in every sea, is greater still. "Should the commerce of England," says the writer before us, "be once more seriously crippled, and her carrying trade driven under other flags, the result might, in the long run, prove as disastrous as a successful invasion." This can hardly be regarded as an exaggerated statement of the case. The connection between England's manufacturing enterprise and her shipping trade is very close indeed; and if the latter were destroyed, the former, upon which her power to sustain her teeming millions so much depends, would grievously suffer. An invasion would be a heavy blow indeed; but, as we have seen in the case of France, it may be the origin of self-discipline and reform, and sow the seeds of greater military strength. So it was with Prussia. But to a nation trusting so largely as England does to her carrying trade and commerce, a war that led to no invasion, but undermined her trade, cut off her commerce, and threw her far behind in the keen competition of these struggling days, would cause injuries that might not be cured in a century.

England has to protect not only a scattered territory, but also a world-wide commerce; and to save that commerce from such disasters as afflicted American commerce during the civil war she should have, if hostilities broke out with any naval Power, a real and not merely nominal dominance in every sea. She should not only have fleets and squadrons powerful enough to engage the squadrons and fleets of the enemy, but cruisers everywhere swift enough to overhaul and strong enough to destroy hostile cruisers fitted out for the purpose of preying upon her commerce and destroying her trade. But as the fighting ships of the day are driven by steam, and as steam is raised by coal, and as speed depends greatly upon the amount consumed, and as the supply of coal in the largest ships must be renewed from time to time, the Power that would rule in every sea should have in all parts of the world accessible, well-defended, and unfailing stores of coal. England having, of all Powers, the greatest need for the possession of such coaling stations, has also the best opportunities for their establishment and defence; and it will be her own fault if through indifference, or parsimony, or want of foresight, she suffers those opportunities to slip.

Other Powers, however, have also their commerce to protect, and their prospects in connection with naval warfare to attend to. As the Spectator remarks, "To become a great naval Power, it is necessary to be much more than the possessor of a great navy." "In view of the Panama Canal, the French acquisition of Tahiti has a military significance. The annexation policy on which France appears to have embarked may, indeed, prove to be intimately connected with her exertions in shipbuilding." To the acquisition of Tahiti we may add the actual possession of New Caledonia and the casting of longing eyes upon the New Hebrides. These considerations cannot be overlooked in the discussion of our colonial annexation projects. England, France, Germany, have interests in the Pacific; and should a rupture occur between either of those Powers and either of the others, the possession of defensible coaling stations in the Pacific might be a matter of the greatest moment. It is one thing for the United States to lay down the Monroe doctrine for the American continent. It is another for Great Britain to set it up for the Pacific Ocean. Some of the annexation schemes which have been propounded can hardly be said to fall short of this. No one will dispute the predominance of Australasian interests in these southern seas. It may be at once admitted that the problems of the future would be greatly simplified if no European Power save England had foothold within them. But is it just, is it reasonable, is it in accordance with British traditions, to press upon the other Powers acquiescence in such a policy as that, or to attempt to carry it out without their consent?

It would scarcely be possible to overestimate the value to Great Britain of such protected ports and coaling stations as those on the Australian coast. A mere depot must be replenished from time to time. Here we have the depots backed by inexhaustible mines, in conjunction with almost everything that is necessary for refitting and renewing supplies. If we had not a shred of interest to protect, and therefore could not fairly be asked to provide for the defence of those stations, it would be worth the while of Great Britain to undertake the defence of them, for the sake of Imperial interests alone. But the fact that we have a vital interest in their protection does not lessen Imperial responsibilities, although it forbids in justice the denial of ours. Where there is a joint interest there is a joint responsibility, and neither side should look narrowly upon the measure of its obligations. There is one point, however, which colonists have a tendency to overlook. In view of the conditions which steam and other modern changes have introduced into naval warfare, there are now required, as the Spectator remarks, "defended harbours and coaling stations, both as secure ports along great trade routes, and as the possible centres of naval action in distant seas." Such harbours and stations are maintained by Great Britain along the great routes followed by Australian as well as by English trade. It is for our interest as well as for English interests that those routes should be kept open and safe. But, whilst there is this joint interest, the burden of the cost falls on Great Britain alone. We get a share in the benefit, but bear no share of the expense, nor have we been asked to bear any. The remembrance of this is one reason, and a weighty one, why we should be prepared, not merely to fortify our greater ports, and provide strong shelter for the British men-of-war that may make them their base of operations, but also to accept some degree of responsibility for the protection of our outports and coast trade.

On the whole, suburban trains and city trams are driven with great care, and with the minimum of danger and casualties. But sometimes when an accident or other untoward incident occurs it is too obvious to be denied that it might have been avoided. The matter of overshooting platforms and other stopping places is not so fully attended to as it might be. The thing noted happens at railway stations chiefly on wet days, and towards the evening. Trains have to be made up quickly after 4 o'clock, and the hurry of the occasion is named as the excuse for not coupling air brakes. If on such trains drivers and guards do not take extra care to apply the common brakes, trains shoot past platforms by half their length, and are not always driven back again. On a wet day or night this is no small inconvenience to passengers, to say nothing about the danger. A case of this sort recently happened in England, in which a passenger sued a railway company and obtained damages. Plaintiff got out of a carriage which had overshot the level part of the platform. In consequence of the darkness, and the slippery condition of the sloping end of the platform, which was lower than she supposed it to be, she received sundry injuries. A Divisional Court, and finally the Master of the Rolls, refused a new trial. It was held that if negligence could be proved against a railway company, a verdict must be given for a plaintiff. Justice Bowen said if a company by their servants give a passenger reasonable ground for thinking that the moment of time and the place had arrived when he might prudently get out of a train, that is equivalent to an invitation to get out. If, in acceding to such invitation, a passenger is dropped over the end of a platform, and negligence can be proved against those in charge, a company must take the consequences. A trifle more caution might be now and then taken on our suburban railways, to the comfort and safety of passengers, and for the credit of the management. If possible, it is more annoying and more dangerous to overshoot trams than trains. The public understand that the former will stop before they reach crossings. If they overshoot them they imperil traffic, and put passengers to no little trouble, whether they wish to enter or leave a car. If an aged woman, receiving a slight injury, can recover £150 damages, more important personages would be likely to recover an amount sufficient to make it worth while to use the latest and best description of brake. And it must be held in mind that recent legislation relating to trams has left the question of negligence where it was. No law would be permitted to alter that; and when cases of this sort come before juries they are not unlikely to see when negligence contributed to the casualty.

Police cases, arising out of Salvation Army movements, cannot possibly bring any credit to the Army. We may congratulate "the Army" in Sydney that hitherto we have been spared any such cases. This movement, like many another, has budded and blossomed in more exuberant fashion in the sister colony, and in the city of Sandhurst it has made most undesirable demonstration in and about the court. We may not condemn the Army leaders, seeing that they have been acquitted by the Court. We are (if we accept as just the judgment of the Court) bound to believe that the two "captains" were not guilty of insulting conduct, and that the police were mistaken in their action. But believe what we may, is it possible to approve of the conduct of the Army followers within and without the court? They made such a noisy demonstration during the hearing of the case that the presiding magistrate found it necessary to order the court to be closed. The scum of the city frequently attempt the same sort of thing, and quite possibly it was the scum of the city that followed the two "captains." The captains may not have been responsible for the conduct of all their followers; but they should, at least, have preached enough of the simple doctrines of order into them to have held them in decent restraint while within the court. It is bad for any man to defy the law; we feel that the blackest criminal reaches a lower depth when he insults that sovereign majesty to which all civilised beings intuitively bow; but those who profess in any way to preach and to teach morality should be very careful in no way to offend, much less to lower, the law. The Salvation Army is, if anything, a stepping-stone whereby the people may reach a higher morality; that is the chief claim set forward by its leaders. They say, "We do actually reform; we lift drunken and dissolute and criminal men and women to a higher level, a better atmosphere. You may be conscious of an unaccustomed air of purity in our tracks; we do not profess to deal with the cultured, the capable, the wealthy, or those already 'saved;' our work is to drag up and purify the dregs." It is a worthy and commendable aim; but will it be furthered by attacking the moralities and decencies of life? Is it necessary to insult honest men and shock established forms of law to "save" dishonest men, and reduce the unruly to obedience to those established forms? The army proposes to do battle with the grossest forms of vice and crime. Surely it would be wiser, then, to ally rather than quarrel with the forms which the wisdom of ages have established to hold vice and crime in check.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

M. Challemel-Lacour, French Minister of Foreign Affairs, has declined to accede to the latest proposals made by China, which were that the latter should exercise control over the left bank of the Red River in Tonquin, and that there should be a neutral zone proclaimed along the right bank. A few days ago, it will be recollected, China declined to accede to the French proposal that France should occupy the entire delta of the Red River.

The French Ministers are reported to be at loggerheads with each other over the Alfonso fiasco, and are awaiting the meeting of the Chambers on the 23rd instant, before disclosing their intentions. So serious were affairs at one time that President Grevy threatened to resign. This is partly explained in a later telegram, which states that the Cabinet complains that M. Grevy is interfering with matters relating to his son-in-law, M. Wilson. King Alfonso arrived at Madrid on Monday, when he met with a perfect ovation from his people.

Miscellaneous cablegrams inform us that the total amount subscribed for the South Australian 4 per cent. loan was 3,306,600; tenders at £98 17s. received 82 per cent.; those at £98 17s. 6d. received in full. Major Cantley is to go to New Zealand to supervise the construction of defence batteries there. Three of the Victorian gunboats are to leave England together, and will come out by way of Torres Straits. The Tory campaign, began at Birmingham, is being prosecuted with great activity. Sir Stafford Northcote is visiting Belfast; a great fete was given there in his honour on Monday night.

We are glad to hear that Mr. Farnell, though still suffering, is much improved, and that it is hoped he will be able to attend in his place on the meeting of Parliament. We are authorised to state that there is not the slightest foundation for the rumour that any difference of opinion exists, or has ever existed, between Mr. Farnell and his colleagues on the principles of the land question, or that any measure was drafted by that gentleman and disapproved of when submitted. The suggestion is, we are given to understand, a pure invention. Long before Mr. Farnell's unfortunate illness all the leading principles of the measure had been settled, and it was in type. There is no foundation for the assertion that any change of offices has been contemplated between Messrs. Farnell and Abbott.

The expectation that the railway arrangements for the through traffic of goods between Albury and Melbourne would be completed by 1st October has not been realised. So far as the laying of the rails, however, is concerned, everything has been finished. The Victorian gauge enters the passenger station on the outer or eastern side of the other lines, crosses the whole at the north end of the station, and passes at the western side or back of the present goods shed, between the latter and the new shed now in course of erection for Victorian goods.

We learn that the tender of Messrs. M'Skany and Co. has been accepted for the construction of the branch line of railway from Cootamundra to Gundagai. The amount is £167,377 10s.

The regulation which requires parents petitioning for the establishment of a provisional Public school in sparsely settled localities to provide a portion of the cost of erecting the building is, we understand, about to be repealed and in future the Department will undertake the whole expense of providing these schools, which is not usually very large. It is expected that this concession will materially encourage the opening of small schools in those parts of the country where they are most required.

We understand that the standard of proficiency recommended by the recent conference of inspectors for the Public Infant and Primary schools have been approved of by the Minister for Public Instruction, and they will be carried into effect without delay.

The Sydney High schools will be formally opened by the Minister for Public Instruction on Monday next. We understand that on this occasion the scholarships enabling children to receive education at the High schools for a period of three years, and which were won at the recent examinations, will be awarded to the successful candidates.

His Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, has appointed the undermentioned gentlemen to be magistrates of the colony:—Abigail, Francis, M.P., Sydney; Armstrong, Andrew, St. Leonards; Benjamin, Benjamin, Melbourne; Bray, J. H., Botany; Brice, Charles, Eurobodalla; Cameron, Angus, Moulamein; Cargill, William, Redmyre; Cavenagh, Antony Joseph, Armidale; Cobb, John M., Bando, Gunnedah; Finlayson, Kenneth, Coningvale, Armidale; Farraher, John, Candelo; Gray, John S., Albury; Hammond, Mark, Ashfield; Hannell, Clarence Hewson, Newcastle; Marley, Alexander Thomas, Booberoi, Euabalong; Hayes, Patrick, Neutral Bay, St. Leonards; Kiddle, Louis, Steam Plains Station, Conargo; Kidman, Charles, Coogee Bay; Laing, William, Newcastle; Myles, Frederick William, Thargomindah, Queensland; Nash, John Brady, M.B., M.R.C.S.E., &c., Lambton; O'Keefe, James, Grafton; Pender, John W., West Maitland; Porteus, Robert, Gorah, Coonabarabran; Readett, William Harvey, Clerkness, Bundarra; Russell, George Norton, Woollahra; Stewart, William Robert, Sydney; Tapper, Thomas, Candelo; Taylor, Samuel, Narrabri; Tulloh, William H., North Shore; Walker, Christian, Conargo; White, Jethro, Coonabarabran; and Wilks, John, Melbourne.

The hiring of the single men and married couples who arrived by the Smyrna, took place at Fort Macquarie yesterday, between the hours of 9 a.m. and 12 noon. The demand was exceedingly good, especially with regard to the single men, all who were willing to go, receiving 20s. per week, with board and lodging. Several were engaged for Rocky Mouth and Lawrence, and five were engaged for the Tweed River district. With respect to married couples, two were engaged for the South Coast district at £60 per annum, with board and lodging. Others accepted engagements for Morpeth, Mittagong, Orange, Newcastle, Hay, Bathurst, and Wagga Wagga. Many of the immigrants left for their new homes almost immediately, whilst others remained in Sydney till evening. Several—such as carpenters, plasterers, painters, and decorators—obtained employment in the city at the current rate of wages, and a few went away with their friends. Upwards of three dozen drafts ranging from £2 to £130, and one as high as £200, were signed by the immigration official. On leaving the vessel the immigrants were requested by the captain not to cheer, in consequence of a dying woman being on board, and they accordingly parted from the ship very quietly. The single women were for hire at the Hyde Park Depot at noon yesterday, and were all engaged by half-past 12 o'clock, the demand as usual being much greater than the supply. The girls obtained situations at from 8s. to 14s. per week. There will be another lot of immigrants for hire in a day or two.

H.M.S. Espiegle returned to Sydney yesterday morning after a cruise round the Solomon and other Islands for a few months. She has brought with her three French missionaries to whom the Commander kindly accorded a passage. They were picked up on one of the islands, having fled from their station at New Britain in consequence of an attack made upon them by the natives. Their house was destroyed and also their clothes, and when found they were in a weak state consequent upon a fever from which they were suffering. On the 23rd May, the chief engineer of the vessel, Mr. E. Lucas, died from the effects of bronchitis just after the Espiegle had left the island of Rotumah, and the vessel put back in order that his remains might be interred there.

The case of Rigby v. the Commissioner of Railways was yesterday concluded in the Banco Court, and resulted in a verdict for the defendant. The plaintiff, a milkman, had brought the action on account of an accident which had occurred to him on the 23rd February, when driving in the Glebe Point-road, owing to the negligence of the defendant. It appeared that he met the tram coming towards him down an incline, and that his horse shied and swerved into it, getting the shafts fixed, which resulted in the cart being overturned and the plaintiff thrown out. Since the occurrence he had lost the use of an eye and was deaf in one ear. The driver of the tram deposed that he was passing the plaintiff's cart, which was on the side of the road, and that it suddenly ran into the motor, which he at once reversed; at that time he was going at the rate of from seven to eight miles an hour, and could have stopped the tram in 10 or 15 yards, as the brake was partly on. The case of Norton and others v. Levi, an action brought by the firm of solicitors Norton and Co., for money lent to the defendant, resulted in a verdict for the plaintiffs for the full amount.

At the Court of Quarter Sessions yesterday Jane Day was charged with perjury, in swearing at the Newtown Police Court that she was not the wife of Osman Day, a man who has since been convicted of bigamy. Jane Day, according to the evidence, tried to secure her husband's acquittal by swearing that she was not his wife at all, but the wife of a man named Barlow. Day, however, was convicted, and it was stated in court yesterday, that at the instigation of some outside person this prosecution was initiated against Mrs. Day. The jury found her guilty, but strongly recommended her to mercy on the ground that she apparently acted under threats of violence. She was sentenced to one month's imprisonment. His Honor expressed the hope that steps would be taken to punish Day, who had, apparently, brutally intimidated his wife and several other witnesses.

The monthly meeting of the Royal Society was held at the rooms, Elizabeth-street, last evening. Professor Smith, president, occupied the chair. The following new members were elected:—Henry Edward Garrett, M.R.C.S., E., Sydney; and William Henry Goode, M.D., Sydney. A letter was read from Dr. O'Hokar Feistmantel, of Prague, acknowledging his election as a corresponding member of the society. Professor Liversidge read a paper written by Mr. Henry Ling Roth, of Mackay, Queensland, in reference to the growth of the roots of sugarcane. The paper was accompanied by a number of photographs, showing the growth of roots which had been experimented upon. Mr. H. C. Russell read some notes on and explained the leading features of a new kind of electric battery. Professor Smith exhibited a couple of new instruments for measuring the electric-light current, viz., the commutator voltmeter and the commutator ammeter. Mr. Russell exhibited a sample photograph of the sun, which had been sent out to him by the Science Commission of South Kensington.

A public meeting for the purpose of protesting against the removal of the Sydney Hospital from its present site was held at the Protestant Hall, last night. There was a fair attendance, and the chair was occupied by Mr. J. Sutherland, M.L.A. Several speeches were delivered, which will be found in another column, and motions affirming the desirableness of retaining the hospital in its present position were agreed to.

A public debate was held at the School of Arts, St. Leonards, last Monday evening, between the local debating society and the Pitt-street Literary Association, Mr. E. M. Sayers being in the chair. The subject contested was, "Which has been the more productive of harm, the pursuit of wealth or the pursuit of fame?" St. Leonards arguing in favour of wealth, and Pitt-street in favour of fame. When the question was put to the vote, the audience decided by a majority of one only in favour of wealth. A vote of thanks to the representatives from Pitt-street and to the chairman closed a very pleasant evening.

In reference to the annexation of New Guinea, the following will be read with interest. It is an extract from a letter written by the Hon. Thomas Holt, M.L.C., to Mr. F. Young, honorary secretary to the Royal Colonial Institute, London. It is dated Amsterdam, July 9, 1883. After referring to some other matters, Mr. Holt continues:—"But my chief object in writing you to-day is to suggest that the Royal Colonial Society should take immediate and energetic action in urging upon the Government and the Parliament to secure New Guinea and (if it is not too late) the New Hebrides also. We may form some idea what a valuable heritage these countries may become, not only for the present generation, but for our children and children's children to all future time, by looking at what has been done in New South Wales. When I went to that colony in 1842, the two flourishing colonies of Victoria and Queensland were not separated, but formed part of the one united colony of New South Wales. Although New South Wales has lost Victoria and Queensland, it is the most flourishing colony in the world. Mr. Dibbs (the Treasurer) in his excellent speech, which was published two or three months ago in the Times and other newspapers, estimated that the Government railways in New South Wales, if sold, would realise (I think he said) six or seven millions more than would pay the total debt of the colony. Mr. Dibbs also said that the total amount of the tonnage of the ships that entered the Sydney Harbour was as large as that of London 50 years ago. But for some years after New South Wales was first colonised (by convicts), it was thought by many persons to be a country unsuitable for a British colony, on account of its being incapable, as was supposed, of producing food for a large population, and the expediency of 'abandoning it, and sending ships to remove all the white people there, was seriously discussed in Parliament. There was as much ignorance about New South Wales four score years ago as there is now about New Guinea, which may become as valuable a gem in the British Crown as the Australian colonies now are—that is, if we do not suffer it to slip through our fingers. We had nearly lost New Zealand, and we shall assuredly lose New Guinea and the New Hebrides if we do not secure them. The Royal Colonial Institute is rapidly becoming a very influential institution, and I submit that it should use its influence not only in promoting the prosperity of the colonies we have, but also in increasing our colonial possessions to the utmost extent possible. The extent of country available for colonisation is now very limited. The ardent desire of the first Napoleon was for colonies, commerce, and shipping; and it is these that have made England so great, wealthy, and powerful as she now is."

The undertakers' annual picnic, which was held at Botany yesterday, passed off in a very successful manner, and was attended by upwards of 250 persons. Eight 'buses started from the Town Hall at 10 o'clock in the morning, conveying the pleasure-seekers to their rendezvous, which was reached about an hour later. The drive out was a pleasant one, and upon the grounds being reached the company roamed in different directions, and availed themselves of the opportunities afforded for their enjoyment. During the day an attractive programme of sports which had been arranged by the committee, and comprised a number of foot races, was carried out. The Young Australian Band enlivened the proceedings with music at appropriate intervals, and numbers in the pavilion danced to their strains. A Maypole dance took place during the day, and afforded a considerable amount of merriment. A banquet was provided by Mr. Frank Smith, at which Mr. C. Boots presided, and Mr. W. Stewart occupied the vice-chair. A number of toasts were honoured, including the usual loyal ones, and also "The Day we Celebrate." "The Parliament of New South Wales" was proposed by Mr. Cropley, and was acknowledged by Mr. N. Melville, M.L.A. "The Ladies" and "The Press" were the remaining toasts. The weather was all that could be desired for the outing, and a most enjoyable day was spent. The party returned to town about 6 o'clock in the evening.

There is now on view at the establishment of Mr. W. H. Paling, George-street, a collection of paintings on gelatine, executed by Mrs. J. H. Hume, the subjects represented being Australian birds and flowers. The drawing is correct, and the colouring though very bright is not unpleasant, so that these little pictures should be in good demand.

A man named Frederick W. Dowse committed suicide at Pyrmont, yesterday, by shooting himself with a revolver. The deceased, who was a printer, and had been lately employed at the Government Printing Office, was lodging at Eldon House, Union-street, Pyrmont. It appears that shortly before 1 o'clock yesterday he was talking to the landlady, Mrs. Fegan, in the kitchen, but left the room abruptly and went outside. A loud report, which alarmed the household, was heard almost immediately afterwards, and the deceased was subsequently found lying in a side passage, near the house, leading to Union-street; he was unconscious, was bleeding from a wound on his right temple, and was holding a six-chambered bulldog revolver in his right hand. When the weapon was examined it was found that five chambers were loaded, and that one had recently been discharged. The deceased was carried into the house, and Dr. Jackson, who happened to be passing at the time, was called in to see him, but death took place immediately afterwards. The deceased was a married man, but was living apart from his wife. A report concerning the matter was forwarded to the City Coroner, and an inquest will be held upon the body this morning at the Native Youth Hotel, Pyrmont.

A few days ago (says the Argus) the Supreme Court granted a decree dissolving the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Hickling, of Warrnambool. The divorce was granted at the instance of the husband, the wife having eloped with a young man to San Francisco. At the time of the marriage Mrs. Hickling was entitled to a considerable amount of property. A marriage settlement was executed by which the property was vested in trustees, she to receive the income for life; after her death the income was to go to her husband. There was also a power given to divide the property among the children, which power had been exercised by the execution of a deed leaving it to all the children equally on the death of Mr. and Mrs. Hickling. Yesterday an application was made on behalf of the petitioner that the Court should make an order as to the income of the property comprised in the settlement, as the husband and children were, it was contended, entitled by law to the greater part if not the whole of the income. The income was £900 per annum, and it was suggested for the petitioner and the children that she should be allowed out of this £300 per annum. The income of the petitioner was £700 per annum. It was also sought that Mrs. Hickling should be directed to return to the petitioner a child two years of age whom she had taken with her. It was stated by counsel who appeared on behalf of the respondent that she was now in San Francisco, and that she ought to be allowed an opportunity of bringing her view of the case before the Court. The applications were accordingly adjourned till December next to allow her to communicate with her legal advisers in Melbourne.

From the report of the Government Geologist (observes the South Australian Register) which has just been printed, in reference to the investigations he made in the course of the journey he took during nearly four months of the present year, with the view principally of ascertaining whether the gold-bearing rocks of Mount Brown and the cretaceous formations in which water had been found in New South Wales extended into South Australia, no information can be obtained that is calculated to excite any very ardent and hopeful expectations. With regard to the gold-bearing formations, they have not been, so far as could be ascertained, found to exist within our borders; and the Flinders Range is declared to be the nearest point in this colony in which auriferous rocks are "likely" to crop out. As to the cretaceous and tertiary formations in which artesian and other waters have been found, however, their existence along a distance of 225 miles from the boundary of New South Wales, and 300 miles from that of Queensland, has been proved; and in connection with the relation that subterranean water deposits obviously have to the future development of South Australia, this information is of considerable moment. Mr. Henry Y. L. Brown very properly maintains that in the sketch map and sections which accompany his report the secondary and tertiary rocks are only provisionally classed as such, pending the obtaining of further information regarding them. It would be strange, indeed, if anything approaching finality could be reached in regard to questions of this kind from a preliminary and more or less hasty and perfunctory investigation.

In presenting the prizes to the successful competitors at Dulwich College on August 1, Mr. Russell Lowell, the historian and United States Ambassador to England, thus spoke of school and teachers:—"Perhaps it will not be assuming too much on an occasion like this if we should affirm that the school is a boy's mother. During the most impressible years of life it is she who has the training and direction of his faculties and the formation of his character, so far as it is not already settled by hereditary bent. Now, in the making of a good school two factors are essentially necessary. The first of these is the teacher, and it is certainly true that a genius for teaching is as rare—I might almost say more rare—than any other form of this divine gift. It implies a combination of qualities so uncommon and so delicately adjusted to each other that their meeting in one man is little short of a miracle. He must unite in himself elements as seemingly incompatible as fire and water. He must have in him something of the fervour of youth and something of the judicial coolness of age. He must know both how to inspire wholesome and how to moderate unhealthy enthusiasm. He must have a fund of life in him ample enough to withstand and survive such discouragements and disillusions as few other callings have to cope with. He must work mainly in an unwilling or even refractory material. Even his successes must be largely posthumous, and his consolations mainly borrowed of the future. The other factor in a good school is the pupils. Without their help no genius in the teacher can avail. The usefulness and the reputation of the school is as much in their keeping as in his. And it is one great advantage of the ancient and famous schools of England that their scholars are inspired by their shining traditions to keep those traditions bright, and by the memory of famous predecessors to emulate their triumphs in all the honourable careers of life."

The work of a very useful institution, the Social and Political Education League, is very favourably noticed by the London press. The Daily News says:—"The League, of which Professor Seeley is the president, supplies lecturers on political and social topics to associations in various parts of the country, and, so far as its funds enable it, distributes historical literature to working men's clubs and other bodies which cannot afford to provide that luxury for themselves. Four hundred and seventy-four lectures have been delivered within the last year by gentlemen who gave their time and services gratuitously. The method which has been adopted by the committee, and which seems to us a very sensible one, is to leave the subjects of the lectures to be chosen by the societies making application. Thus, nothing is forced upon anybody, but a natural want is supplied as it arises. The committee urges the importance of promoting organisation in rural districts, so that there may be no difficulty in communicating with the central body whenever its assistance is desired. This kind of machinery, particularly when worked in the unobtrusive, efficient manner indicated by its report, is a very important instrument of political education. With the extension of the franchise there has grown up a general conviction that politics, like other things, must be studied if they are to be understood, and that every Englishman is not born a politician, as he is supposed to be born a judge of a horse. Some knowledge of history, of law, of political economy is necessary to a proper appreciation of political issues, and this knowledge the very competent lecturers who have placed themselves at the disposal of the league endeavour to supply. The lecturing is gratuitous."

A public meeting is to be held this evening in the School of Arts, St. Leonards, in reference to an amendment of the law relating to libel and contempt of Court. It has been convened by the Mayors of Victoria and St. Leonards.

THE SOUTH AUSTRALIAN LOAN.

(From our own Correspondent.)

LONDON, Oct. 2.

The tenders for the South Australian 4 per cent. loan were opened to-day. The total amount subscribed was over £3,000,000, at an average of about £98 17s.

Later.

The official statement in reference to the tenders for the South Australian loan gives the total amount subscribed at £3,306,600. Tenders above £98 17s. 6d. receive in full, and those at £98 17s. will be allotted about 82 per cent. The average price is £98 19s. 9d.

PARLIAMENT OF VICTORIA.

[By Telegraph.]
(From our own Correspondent.)

MELBOURNE, Wednesday.

In the Legislative Council, this afternoon, an amendment postponing the initiation of the new judicature system till July was agreed to. The Railway Loan Bill was read a second time, and passed through committee. The Harbour Trust Bill was also read a second time, and passed through committee without amendment. The bill was subsequently read a third time and passed. The House adjourned at half-past 8 o'clock until Tuesday next. In the Assembly to-day, Mr. Service, in replying to Mr. Staughton, said that the Government had decided that Mr. Bolam, the petitioner in the late divorce case, should not retain his position as inspector-general of State schools. (Hear, hear.) The Public Service Bill was next discussed, and progress was made as far as clause 54 without important amendment. The Divorce Bill was read a third time and passed. The Employers' Liability Bill also passed through committee with amendments. The House adjourned at five minutes past 11 o'clock p.m.

PARLIAMENT OF SOUTH AUSTRALIA.

(From our own Correspondent.)

ADELAIDE, Wednesday.

In the Legislative Assembly, the Treasurer made a statement to the House, congratulating the colony upon the success which had attended the floating of the last loan of nearly £1,500,000, and respecting which he had received further particulars from the Agent-General, who spoke of it as a great financial success. £3,300,000 had been tendered for, and the average price of the loan realised £98 19s. 9d. The rates of payment were fixed at 5 per cent. on application, 20 per cent. on the 9th instant, 25 per cent. on the 2nd of November, 25 per cent. on the 27th of November, and the balance on December 18. The Treasurer added that the Government had already taken steps to secure to the colony the earliest advantages from the floating of the loan. He had communicated with the chairman of the associated banks offering to make similar arrangements to those made last year, by which £750,000, being the balance of the loan, would be placed in London to the credit of the local banks for a number of months extending over the greater part of next year. The rate of interest would be 4½ to 4¾ per cent. A satisfactory arrangement would probably be made within a week or so to send full particulars to England by the Orient mail. The House then entered with some zest into a discussion of this matter; nearly all the speakers spoke in terms of congratulation of the Agent-General, who had telegraphed advising the Government to float the loan at the present time. He was warmly complimented. The Treasurer was also highly congratulated. The Attorney-General assured the House, in reply to questions, that staking money in the totalisator was not regarded as public betting under the provisions of the Totalisator Repeal Bill, so long as the totalisator was in itself legalised. The Commissioner for Crown Lands mentioned that the Government have not power to prevent newly-arrived immigrants from leaving for other colonies. He understood that four of those who had come out by the Hesperus had already cleared out of the colony. He stated also that all the Hesperus immigrants had found employment. The Government were still having many applications for labourers in the country districts. The new taxation scheme is to be introduced on Tuesday. The Victoria-square Thoroughfare Bill passed its last stage, after which the House adjourned.

PARLIAMENT OF TASMANIA.

(From our own Correspondent.)

HOBART, Wednesday.

In the Assembly to-night the House reduced the duties on sugar to one-half the present rates. The admission of machinery was declared free. These regulations were directed to come into force on the 1st November next, instead of on the 1st January. A duty of 1½d. per lb. on confectionery was carried; also a duty of 2d. per lb. on white pepper. The export duties hitherto levied on timber and on wines were struck out on the ground that their existence would jeopardise others. A long discussion took place on the proposal that a duty be levied on cornsacks, which was ultimately carried on division by 14 votes to 8. The remission of duties on about eight miscellaneous articles, including machinery for exterminating rabbits, &c., was carried. The third reading of the bill was fixed for to-morrow. The House declined to assent to a bill to allow spirits and wines imported for the use of his Excellency the Governor to come in free.

VICTORIA.

MELBOURNE, Wednesday.

In reply to a deputation from the National Agricultural Society this morning, the Minister of Railways promised to grant free passes to the Sydney judges at the forthcoming show, but would require the Victorian judges to pay half-fare.

A large deputation from South Gippsland to-day urged the Minister of Railways to immediately construct a railway from Morwell to Mirboo, where a seam of coal was lately found. About 1cwt. of coal from the seam was shown to him, and the prospect of an important development of the field was pointed out. Mr. Gillies promised to consider the request.

A serious outbreak of diphtheria has taken place at Carlton, and a number of deaths have been the result.

Disturbances at the Salvation Army meetings are frequent in the suburbs. At the Brunswick Court, this morning, a man named Charles Fitzgibbon was fined in all five guineas for disturbing a meeting.

The Tariff Commission to-day made good progress with the chairman's report regarding machinery, coachbuilding materials, glassware, furniture, and woodware. A proposal to exempt engineers' tools and turning lathes was negatived. The chairman's proposal to place a duty of 20s. per ton on fencing wire was negatived. The commission resolved to recommend a 20 per cent., duty on bicycles, tricycles, and other velocipedes.

A deputation waited on the Minister of Railways to-day to point out a serious discrepancy between the rates charged for colonial and imported salt, which are 1½d. and 4d. per ton per mile respectively, while the imported article also paid frieght, wharfage rates, &c. Mr. Gillies promised to look into the matter.

In reply to the Winegrowers Association, which urged that more effective measures should be taken for the eradication of the phylloxera, the Minister of Agriculture has pointed out that there are no growing vines within twenty miles of the infected district, and there is little probability of the insects spreading. It was considered unnecessary to trench the ground which had been infected, but if any other precaution were necessary, he would recommend the use of bi-sulphide of carbon.

The report circulated by the Age, to the effect that Mr. R. Murray Smith, the Agent-General, was about to return from England to accept a Railway Commissionership, is without foundation. It is not expected that he will leave England before the end of 1884, if so soon.

Further advices have been received by the mail from Calcutta, giving most favourable accounts of the progress of affairs in connection with the exhibition. The opening ceremony is expected to be the most brilliant affair ever seen in India.

The Engineers' Association has decided to hold their proposed conversazione at the Exhibition Building, commencing on the 26th December. The Minister of Railways has been asked to convey exhibits at reduced rates.

Letters have been received from Mr. J. Anderson, Traffic Manager of the Victorian Railways, who is now in England, stating that he intends shortly to inspect the Continental railway systems.

The man William J. White, whose wholesale forgeries to the amount of about £8000 created a sensation a short time ago, was brought up for sentenced at the General Sessions to-day. A number of leading business men and others gave evidence in his favour as to his previous respectability and integrity. It was also urged that his mind had been affected by a domestic affliction. The Judge, considering all things, sentenced him to only 12 months' imprisonment on each charge, but the sentences to be concurrent.

The Shops' Commission, during its visits to factories in the suburbs, finds that the provisions of the Factories' Act and Health Act are almost entirely neglected outside the city boundaries, where manufacturers pay very little regard to the sanitary requirements. Children are largely employed, and a systematic falsification of ages is carried on by parents and children. An alarming feature is that, if fever breaks out in some poor workshops the fact is concealed, and the fever is spread insidiously by the clothes sent out.

For the Emerald-hill election the Anti-Sabbatarians have resolved to support Mr. Woodgate. Mr. Stead has withdrawn from the contest.

Farmers of the various districts are protesting against the removal of the wheat duty.

Four publicans were fined £2 to £3 each yesterday for Sunday trading. The offence is becoming very general.

At a meeting of the Associated Banks to-day it was decided to alter the rates of Exchange from 5s. to 7s. 6d. on the buying rate at 80 days' sight; the selling rate was reduced from 15s. per cent. to 12s. 6d. per cent.

Civil or criminal proceedings, or possibly both, are likely to be taken in the South Dykes mining case. The actions will be directed against some members of the management. The case no doubt is one of salting. A reward is offered, the difficulty of detection being recognised.

His Excellency the Governor was unable to visit the Theatre Royal to-night, as he had intended, but his suite were present, to witness the performance of "Jo," as given by Jennie Lee and her company.

A farmer named Ellwood was killed near Echuca this morning by falling from his dray. He was crushed by the vehicle passing over him.

At the Fitzroy Congregational Church this evening, the sum of £816 10s. was raised towards a fund for liquidating the debts on all the Congregational Churches of Victoria.

At a meeting of the Council of the Working Men's College held this evening, the design of Messrs. Henderson, Reed, and Smart was accepted, and tenders were also received for the immediate commencement of the College.

Two young men, George Cooper and Edward Utting, were severely dealt with by the City Bench yesterday. They were fined £2 each for drunkenness while in charge of a horse and cart, and Cooper received three months for assaulting the constable and was fined £10 for insulting language. Utting was also sentenced to six months for assault.

A warm north wind was blowing to-day, with much dust.

QUEENSLAND.

BRISBANE, Wednesday.

Mr. Foxton, an Oppositionist, has been returned for Carnarvon electorate, which was formerly represented by Mr. John De Poix Tyrell. Mr. Smart, an Independent, has been returned for Burnett, formerly represented by Mr. W. H. Baynes. Of seven members elected this week six were Oppositionists.

The barque South Esk arrived at Cape Moreton on Monday from Glasgow, bringing nearly 400 immigrants.

A lad named Richard Morrow, employed by Messrs. Scott, Dawson, and Stewart, met with a serious accident this afternoon. He fell through a trap door from the upper story of the lofty warehouse into the cellar beneath, the distance being nearly 50 feet. He was dreadfully cut and bruised, and was removed to the hospital. His recovery is considered doubtful.

A crushing of 4 tons from the Carnarvon Reef at Morinish, near Rockhampton, yielded 20oz. More capital is required to erect proper crushing machinery.

Good payable gold has been obtained near Crocodile Creek, not far from Rockhampton; two dishes were washed, giving four of five grains of coarse gold.

SOUTH AUSTRALIA.

ADELAIDE, Wednesday.

At the criminal sittings, at the Supreme Court to-day, Thomas Hindmarsh, convicted of assault and robbery, was sentenced to four years' imprisonment. David Robertson, found guilty of an attempt to commit a criminal assault on a girl under 10 years of age, was sentenced to four years' imprisonment, and to receive a flogging of 25 lashes.

In the case Willis v. Ferry and Blackler, for non-performance of contract by postponing the races last May, the plaintiff was nonsuited on the grounds that owing to wet weather the postponement was a matter of urgent necessity.

James Martin Butler, who was charged with maliciously wounding James Dwyer at Stirling with a penknife, was to-day brought up on remand and discharged. The evidence was very slight.

At the Port Augusta Police Court to-day William O'Connor, a storekeeper at Orroroo, was charged with wilful and corrupt perjury, alleged to have been committed at Port Augusta on July 2, whilst defendant was under examination in the Insolvent Court, respecting his transactions with one Barnard M'Gillock, of Eurelia, an insolvent. He was committed for trial at the next Circuit Court.

WESTERN AUSTRALIA.

PERTH, Wednesday.

The Governor was entertained at a public dinner at Greenhalgh to-day. His Excellency leaves the Victoria District for Perth overland on Friday.

The immigrants brought by the Helena Mena for Mr. Padbury appear a fine healthy lot of men.

No decision has been arrived at yet in regard to the appointment of Government Immigration Agent. There are nine applications for the position.

Good gold-bearing lodes are reported to have been discovered on the King River on the West Coast.

ARRIVAL OF THE STEAMER GULF OF SUEZ AT PORTLAND.

[By Telegraph.]
(From our own Correspondent.)

PORTLAND, Wednesday.

The Gulf of Suez (s.) arrived at half-past 9 last night, and anchored in the bay. She is from London to Sydney, with a general cargo, including a thoroughbred sire, Grandmaster. The Gulf of Suez sailed on August 5, passing Gibraltar on the 12th, coaled at Malta on the 17th, reached Port Said on the 21st, and cleared Suez on the 23rd. In the Red Sea the temperature was up to 107° in the shade. Aden was passed on the 29th; she reached Galle on the 8th September, coaled, and proceeded on her voyage on the 9th; rounded the Leuwin on the 25th, and made Cape Bridgewater on October 2. Being short of coal, the captain put in here to obtain a supply, and 70 tons of coal will arrive for her per Dawn (s.), on Friday night. The Gulf of Suez will probably resume her voyage on Saturday.

QUEENSLAND SHEEP SALE.

[By Telegraph.]
(From our own Correspondent.)

BRISBANE, Wednesday.

The first annual sale of Tasmanian pure merino sheep was held to-day by the Queensland Mercantile and Agency Company, conjointly with Messrs. Findlay and Baynes, of Sydney. There was a good attendance at the sale, and all the principal breeders were represented. Prices, although lower than would have been obtained in the same class of sheep in Sydney or Melbourne—considering this was the first sale and a bad season—were considered very satisfactory to breeders. Over 100 sheep studs only were disposed of. The total sum realised was about 3000 guineas. Rams sold up to 65 guineas each; ewes up to 40 guineas, the latter price being obtained for four ewes which took the challenge cup at the last Campbelltown Show in Tasmania. They were purchased by the Hon. Gordon Sandeman. The remaining 400 of the sheep have been selected, and the flock will be sold to-morrow.

THE LABOUR MARKET IN SOUTH AUSTRALIA.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]
(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

ADELAIDE, WEDNESDAY.

A deputation interviewed the Chief Secretary this morning, and laid before him the resolutions carried at a recent public meeting. The first resolution was as follows: "That in the present depressed state of the labour market it is imperative that the Legislature push on as quickly as possible all public works, and give every encouragement to the manufacture of rolling stock and other articles required by the Government in the colony." The second resolution was as follows:—"That, with a view to prevent a recurrence of the present stagnant state of trade, the Legislature be requested to adopt some better method of introducing immigrants into the colony." The third resolution was as follows: "That, with a view to giving an impetus to our exports, it is desirable that a land tax, pure and simple, be introduced to promote local production." The Chief Secretary, having heard the resolutions and the remarks of the speakers, stated, with regard to the question of immigration, that no one regretted more than he did the present depression; but he would draw the attention of the deputation to the fact that at the end of last year there was a strike of the workmen employed on the Nairne line. The result of a debate in the House upon the desirability of having free immigration was a motion that they should go in for assisted immigration. Thereupon the Government had made arrangements for one immigrant ship to leave England every month, though they would now admit that it would have been wiser if the winter months had been omitted from this arrangement. He quite agreed with the deputation that old hands in the colony should not be displaced for new immigrants: but he did not think the Government had done anything of the kind. When new men came out the Government had no difficulty in engaging them, because they were willing to go to different parts of the country. The question of providing homes for the immigrants on their arrival was one for Parliament to consider. He was of opinion that the Government should only bring out immigrants to the colony when there was work for them to do; then there would be no necessity for the erection of these homes now asked for. With reference to the manufacture of all work required in the colony, he would draw their attention to the very extensive list of rolling stock now in course of construction which had been ordered by the Government, and which list had been published in the papers. The major portion of this work had been ordered to be manufactured in the colony. With regard to the question of a land tax, he was in favour of making the land pay. The matter of improvements was a mild one. Speaking as a member of Parliament, he would inform them that their views could not be adopted during this session. If those views were approved by the electors at the next general elections, they would be bound to be forced upon the attention of the House, when they would receive careful consideration and support. As far as the Government were concerned they were with the deputation, and considered that immigration should be so regulated as not to interfere with the labour of the colony. The deputation having thanked the Chief Secretary for his courtesy, then withdrew.

COUNTRY NEWS.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENTS.)

NEWCASTLE, WEDNESDAY.

At the inquest held to-day upon the body of Thomas Fretwell, a miner, killed yesterday in the Wallsend tunnel by a fall of coal, the verdict was accidental death. The jury were of opinion that there was no blame attaching to anybody.

The prizes in connection with the late cricket and football athletic sports were handed over to the successful competitors this evening, at the Ship Inn, by the Mayor of Newcastle.

The Victoria Theatre is filled this evening with a large audience, assembled to hear the concert given by St. Mary's Roman Catholic choir.

The report of the Newcastle Hospital Committee, which was unanimously adopted last night, shows a credit balance of £406 2s. 8d., and £1381 11s. at fixed deposit in the bank. The subscriptions during the current year reached £750, of which £237 14s. 4d. was the result of the Hospital concerts at the Victoria Theatre, got up by Mr. C. H. Hannell in August last. Votes of thanks were accorded to him, and also to Mr. J. Creer for the use of the theatre on those occasions.

The weather is beautiful.

GRAFTON, WEDNESDAY.

At a meeting of the directors of the Clarence River and North Coast Farmers' Co-operative Association yesterday, Mr. Brown, of Sydney, was appointed manager.

The body of a man, known here as Robert Richmond, but whose real name was Robert Austin, aged 56 was found floating in the river early this morning near the rowing club boatshed. There was a deep wound three inches long extending from the temple down the cheek, which at first sight gave the appearance of some foul play, but the medical evidence stated that the cut was undoubtedly inflicted after death. The driver of the steam ferry launch Nellie stated that the propeller had struck something soft last night near the spot where the body was found. The man was last seen shortly after 11 o'clock on Saturday night going to the ferry wharf, at which time the boat had ceased running. He was then slightly intoxicated. A coroner's inquest was held to-day, and the jury returned a verdict of accidental drowning, adding a rider that no suspicion was raised by the evidence to indicate foul play. Deceased had a brother named William, who is said to have held a situation in the Adelaide Lunatic Asylum. Deceased arrived in Adelaide in 1849.

KIAMA, WEDNESDAY.

A complimentary banquet was given to-night to Mr. John Davies, C.M.G., in Dymock's new auction mart, where about 200 persons assembled, representing all parts of the district. Mr. Davies, in responding to the toast of his health, spoke at considerable length, chiefly on the subject of the late action for slander in the Supreme Court. He also referred to the land legislation and other important measures promised by the present Government, who were censured for delay in calling Parliament together. The proceedings lasted until half-past 11 o'clock.

GUNNEDAH, WEDNESDAY.

We are having hot days and cold nights. There are no signs of rain.

The sheep are at present in very low condition. Shearing is general. The clip promises to be very good.

BREWARRINA, WEDNESDAY.

At a meeting held last night, great indignation was expressed at the inconvenience caused to the travelling public through the want of bridges over the Barwen here and over Cato Creek; also at the delay in constructing tanks on the main stock route from Queensland to the Sydney market, between the Culgoa and Warrego Rivers, where stock have to travel 40 miles without water. Last week no less than 365 head of cattle perished out of one mob of store cattle on this track.

Shearing is nearly over at most of the stations. Wool is daily arriving in large quantities. Over 5000 bales have been despatched from Thompson's stores by Wright, Heaton, and Co.

The weather continues dry, and stock are beginning to suffer in consequence.

LITHGOW, WEDNESDAY.

A sudden change in the weather took place to-day; several heavy showers fell.

WEST MAITLAND, WEDNESDAY.

A young girl, aged 17, in the service of Mr. A. Eckford, died very suddenly last night. A magisterial inquiry was held to-day by Mr. J. J. Riley, J.P., who found by the evidence that congestion of the lungs was the cause of death.

BURRAWANG, WEDNESDAY.

The weather is showery. There is a fine spring in the grass, which is looking splendid.

The cattle are in good condition.

MOLONG, WEDNESDAY.

At a meeting of the council held here last night, it was unanimously resolved that the Mayor convene a public meeting, to be held in the School of Arts, for Tuesday next, for the purpose of giving the general public an opportunity of expressing their opinion on the necessity for securing an amendment of the law of libel and the practice in connection with contempt of Court. The council was at one with the Herald in regard to the importance of an unfettered press, and the necessity of securing an alteration in the present law.

MORUYA, WEDNESDAY.

The weather is unseasonably warm in the day time, and cold at night.

PENRITH, WEDNESDAY.

A boy, about 15, who is alleged to have committed several robberies, and is besides accused of horse-stealing in this district, was arrested by Constable Illingworth yesterday, at Lawson. When apprehended he had a six-chamber loaded revolver and several rounds of ammunition upon him.

ALBURY, WEDNESDAY.

Reports from various parts of the Riverina show that feed is getting scarce. Most of the summer country on the highlands at the head of the Murray and elsewhere are already engaged. A large number of sheep will probably start for summer quarters early in the season. It is also probable that a large number of sheep will be sent to the Western district of Victoria. In the immediate neighbourhood of Albury the pastures continue in splendid order.

The weather to-day is sultry; rain is threatening.

MINING INTELLIGENCE.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]
(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

ALBURY, WEDNESDAY.

A general meeting of the Hawksview Gold-mining Company was held to-day. The directors' report showed that the tunnel was now in 212 feet, with every indication of being in the neighbourhood of the lode. The report was adopted. Dr. Andrews, Messrs. J. Day, Mullarky, M'Kellar, and M'Lennan were elected directors. Crushing operations at Black Range had been temporarily stopped by the breakage of the crank shaft, but the damage is now repaired, and the mill starts again to-morrow. Excellent stone is being raised in the Perseverance claim, and also in the Homeward Bound claim.

The mining manager of the Girilambone Copper-mining Company, Limited, reports by wire:—"have struck ore at south end of the shaft this morning; broken some rich stones, red oxide ore; not sufficiently opened to know whether defined lode or patch. Will wire to-morrow."

The mining manager of the Mookerawa Creek Gold-mining Company, No Liability, Macquarie River, writes under date October 2 as follows:—"We struck the true bottom to-day in two shafts in the cart way, one at a depth of five feet, and the other at eight feet, with the bottom sloping into apparently deeper ground under the boxes. I enclose the result of four dishes that I panned off, weighing 3dwt. 15gr., the best quality of gold that I have ever seen on the river. The shaft to the west of the boxes is going down into deep ground, sound, so far, and carrying splendid looking dirt."

The mining manager of the Long Tunnel Gold-mining Company, Limited, Uralla, reports, under date 1st instant:—"The easter drive has been driven 18 feet for the week. It has been looking better this week. I have had two shifts in this drive. I have had the men belonging to the drive on course of tunnel repairing this week. No. 2 Jump Up: The dirt is still payable; I think it will be a little better this week, and that we shall have more gold than last week. The new shaft I put a bore down this week, to test the wash-dirt, and to see what the depth was. The depth is 74 feet, eight feet deeper than we thought it would be. The bore went through six feet of good payable dirt. I shall clean up the sluice to-morrow; I think I shall have about 6oz. of gold. I have started the western cross tunnel; it will take the week to clean it out and to put the road down. I am going to put a bore down in Inglis' shaft, at the back of Mr. Anderson's house; it will take three or four weeks."

The mining manager of the Red Hill Amalgamated Gold-mining Company, No Liability, Tambaroora, writes under date 29th September, as follows:—"Since my report of the 22nd instant, the crushing has been completed, 30 tons of stone yielding 116oz. 16dwt. gold. The main drive has been lengthened 8 feet, making the present length 176 feet. Underhand and backstoping operations have been continued. The drive on the westerly vein has been extended 12 feet, making total length to date 47 feet. I have put in a prospecting crosscut 15 feet west, opposite Gigantic shaft, and have cut a vein 6 inches thick, no gold visible in it. We have driven 12 feet north on the Tambaroora reef, which shows a little gold. Stone raised from Tambaroora reef, 20 tons, which will be crushed next week."

The mining manager of the Queen of the Mount Gold-mining Company, No Liability, Mount Macdonald, under date 29th September, reports as follows:—"Stone at grass, 25 tons. The battery started on the 25th instant. I will continue crushing until I get 40 tons through, and I believe a good return will be obtained. The mine looks well; the plates are looking even better than last crushing."

The mining manager of the Prince of Wales Gold-mining Company, No Liability, Burnt Yards, under date 29th September, reports:—"During the week I crushed 110 tons, making a total of 290 tons for the past three weeks. The tramway from the brace at the poppet-heads to where it joins the line on the embankment is now completed and ballasted. I started to-day to excavate for the bed logs of the winding engine and drum."

The newly-appointed mine manager of the Centennial Prospecting and Baal Gammon Amalgamated Gold-mining Company, No Liability, Copeland, writing under date 29th September reports:—"The quartz vein was cut in the floor of the tunnel 299 feet, from commencement of same, and runs into the roof 27 feet further on. It is small in the bottom and a foot thick in the roof mostly slate. Have tried samples from it, but can get no gold either in the stone or in the pyrites after burning. I believe we shall have to go through sandstone country before cutting the Centennial reef. I have been down the Centennial prospectors' shaft 190 feet to near the water level and the hanging wall is sandstone. The face of the tunnel is a close grained jointy slate with thin glassy quartz beads, not very hard drilling, but not good tearing ground. The cutting for the dam is now 40 feet long, 4 foot 6 inches deep at one end and 3 feet at the other. At the deep end the bed rock is very open and porous, and the cutting will become deeper as the bank of the creek rises. Distance driven for fortnight 8 feet; total driven by contractors, 99 feet; total length of tunnel, 358 feet 10 inches."

PUBLIC MEETING AT LITHGOW.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]
(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

LITHGOW, WEDNESDAY.

A well-attended public meeting of miners and others was held this evening at the School of Arts. The object of the meeting, which vitally affects all commercial interests here, was to consider what steps should be taken to remedy the loss constantly sustained by the want of a proper supply of coal trucks. The chair was taken by Mr. Targett, M.L.A. The chairman in the course of his remarks characterised the frequent deficiency of trucks as a scandal to the country. He was informed that the output of coal at the Lithgow collieries amounted to fully 200,000 tons per annum. He was, however, glad to see that the miners themselves had now taken the matter in hand. Asking for a remedy for such a grievance was not asking a privilege, but a right. Some of the collieries at the outset had found their own trucks, but this did not suit the Government, who had purchased them. Although no distinct pledge had been given, the Government was in duty bound to find an adequate supply of coal trucks. After some further remarks on the subject, the meeting passed a resolution to the effect that the present insufficient and irregular supply of trucks was the cause of serious loss, not only to the coal proprietors themselves, but to the miners in particular, and likewise to the inhabitants of Lithgow in general. Another resolution, which was also carried, was to the effect that these facts as stated demanded the serious consideration of the Government, inasmuch as the development of colonial industries and the consequent progress of the country is being seriously retarded thereby. Another resolution was adopted, that Messrs. Targett, Combes, Heydon, and Sutherland, Ms.L.A., be requested to lay these resolutions before the Minister for Works.

MR. F. T. HUMPHERY BEFORE HIS CONSTITUENTS.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]
(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

NOWRA, WEDNESDAY.

Mr. Humphery, the member for Shoalhaven, addressed a large meeting of the electors to-day at Broughton Creek. Mr. John Gray, Mayor of Brougton Creek, occupied the chair. Mr. Humphery, who was well received, gave the substance of the several measures passed by Parliament since his return, and explained the reasons for the votes he had given. He had, he said, voted against Mr. M'Laughlin's motion to give free railway passes to Roman Catholic school children, in consequence of a determination he had made to carry out the declaration he set forth on the hustings not to interfere with the existing Education Act, except in the direction attained by Mr. Teece's motion, for which he had voted. He reiterated his previously expressed views on the land question. He was in favour of division of runs, and fixity of tenure to the squatter, with selection allowed on one-half of his run. Respecting the unsatisfactory state of law of libel and contempt of court, he would give the press the same liberty as was given to other citizens, and not require public writers to prove in cases of libel the truth of minor statements; and in regard to contempt of court he would relegate the decision as to the offence to a jury, the Attorney-General prosecuting as in ordinary cases. A vote of confidence was carried unanimously.

CRICKET.

The Incognito Cricket Club formally opened their season yesterday, on the Association Ground, with a match between the members, sides being chosen by Messrs. Fletcher and Riddell. There were 15 players on each side. The former winning the toss went in first, and kept possession of their wickets till nearly 4 o'clock, amassing the respectable total of 361, while the other side could not succeed in contributing more than 111. For Riddell's side those who batted best were H. J. Carter, W. J. Fletcher, H. P. Airey, and S. Brown, while R. Bloxsome and W. E. Mort showed fair cricket for their runs. S. Brown also bowled exceedingly well. The fielding of Riddell's team was rather loose; their opponents were far more expert in that department of the game. The president (Mr. H. C. Dangar, M.L.C.) entertained both teams at a champagne lunch, which was excellently catered by Mr. C. F. Stratton. Appended are the scores:—

A cricket match was played last Saturday between the Loftus and Leura cricket clubs. The game, which proved to be very interesting, was won by the Loftus C.C. by 17 runs. For the winners G. Shewing and A. Brown bowled splendidly, the batsmen hardly being able to get the balls away; G. Shewing and E. Woodhill batted very well. For the losers H. Nowland and G. Swain proved themselves worthy propellers of the ball, the former fairly excelling himself in the second innings by taking five wickets for about 8 runs. In batting H. Hammond and A. Hew played steadily. It may be here mentioned that this is the first time this season that the Leura C.C. have been defeated. Scores: Loftus C.C., 66; Leura, 49.

A cricket match was played on Saturday between the Britannia and Alpha Clubs, which resulted in a draw in favour of the former. Scores:—B.C.C., 68; A.C.C., seven wickets for 36. For the former J. Smithers 13, D. Martin 12 not out, B. Martin 9, showed excellent form with the bat. For the Alpha, T. Rapp 11, shaped well. Harris and Smithers bowled excellently for the Britannia.

A special general meeting of the members of the Warwick Cricket Club was held last evening, at the Exchange Hotel, when some alterations were made in the rules. After the formal business of the meeting had terminated, Mr. J. Rigg, hon. secretary to the club, stated that owing to the pressure on his time he was reluctantly compelled to resign his position. The members present were unanimous in their expressions of regret at the course Mr. Rigg had been compelled to take, and the chairman, Mr. P. B. Walker, thanked that gentleman for his indefatigable energy in promoting the welfare of the club during his term of office; a eulogy which received general endorsement from all those present. Mr. David Ogilvy was unanimously elected to the vacant position.

ATHLETICS.

The presentation of the prizes won at the sports meeting of the Sydney Amateur Athletic Club and the Southern Rugby Football Union was made at Aarons' Hotel, last evening, when there was a large gathering of the members of the abovenamed clubs. Mr. R. B. Butcher, M.L.A., handed over the prizes to the successful competitors of the meeting of the former club, while Mr. F. Bevill acted in a similar capacity in regard to winners at the sports of the latter association, Mr. J. J. Calvert, the president, being unavoidably absent. Before making the presentations Mr. Bevill reviewed the positions of athletic clubs in their relations with the management of the Association Cricket Ground, expressing his opinion that the athletic community had not received just treatment at the hands of the ruling authorities of the ground. The athletic clubs should have their position properly defined as regards holding meetings on the ground. If the proposed reforms in the constitution of the Cricket Association came about, the athletic clubs, he was sure, would have the use of the ground under more favourable conditions than at present. The effort to bring about that change was one they should all uphold. The ground was not intended solely for cricket, but for that sport, and amateur athletic clubs who should have a share in the management. The claims of the athletic community would bring a fresh factor into the position which was being contended for by the cricketers. Mr. Thompson, the hon. secretary of the club, in reviewing the past season, regretted the falling off both in the number of members and competitors, there being 128 members this year against 128 last year, and 39 competitors against 29 this season. Mr. M. Arnold also deplored the laxity of support in both regards, and endorsed the remarks of Mr. Bevill about the Association Ground. The treatment received at the hands of the ground authorities would force them to form a ground of their own, and if the bicycle clubs joined them, the ground would lose at least £300 by such a movement. He attributed the falling off in the number of competitors to the spirit of pot-hunting which prevailed among the contestants, most of whom would not run unless they were so liberally handicapped as to make sure of winning.

PRINCE ALFRED YACHT CLUB.

The annual meeting of the Prince Alfred Yacht Club was held at the Exchange Hotel yesterday afternoon, Commodore Milford in the chair. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed. The following gentlemen were elected members:—Messrs. W. Sturrock, R. Tewksbury, and Shiell. On the proposition of Mr. Underwood, seconded by Mr. F. Adams, the annual subscription for members was raised to £2 2s. The month of the annual meeting was altered to September. The annual report for the year ending 20th September, 1883, was as follows:—"In presenting their report of the year 1882 and 1883, your committee have much pleasure in stating that during the past season the club has progressed satisfactorily, and the close finds us in a fairly prosperous condition. At the end of the past financial year the amount to the credit of the club was £19 0s. 11d., and at the close of the past season £22 3s. 8d. The amount of £60 was given in prizes. Through the liberality of your late Commodore, Mr. J. H. Want, a prize of £25 for an open handicap was sailed for on the 12th November, the club adding a second and third prize of £10 and £5. Mr. E. Knox's Sirocco was declared the winner, Commodore Milford's Doris second, and Vice-commodore Underwood's Daphne third. A cup, presented by Vice-commodore Underwood, for a race on similar conditions, was sailed for on 13th January, the club again adding a second and third prize of £10 and £5. Mr. E. Knox's Sirocco was again successful in taking first honours, with Mr. Williams' Ione second. No third prize was awarded, the Doris, which came in third being of the same class as the Ione. The second and third class races, for prizes of £20 and £15 respectively, were sailed on the 10th February, and resulted in Mr. S. Want's Genevieve winning the former, and Commodore Milford's Doris the latter. Owing to the unfavourable state of the weather on the 28th October, the opening cruise unavoidably lapsed. Your committee have to congratulate the members on the addition of the Iolanthe to the fleet, as also to the increase of members on the roll. A successful series of evolutions took place during the season under the command of Commodore Milford. At a meeting held on 4th April, the congratulations of the club were unanimously tendered to your commodore for his zeal and yachting spirit in sending his yacht Doris to Hobson's Bay and carrying off first prize in the third class yacht race held by the Victorian Yacht Club. The resignation of Mr. Vincent Brown as secretary was received on the 20th June, and Mr. F. Bennett elected to carry on the duties pro tem. Your committee, at the request of several members, presented Mr. Brown with a diamond pin as a memento from the club of his past services. The necessary documents for changing the name of the club to Royal Alfred (which was brought forward at the usual monthly meeting in January) have been forwarded to Mr. J. Want in London, who has promised to have the necessary alterations made. The season was brought to a close on 13th May by a luncheon given to Commodore Milford. In concluding their report, your committee have much pleasure in bearing testimony to the very able manner in which the flag officers have discharged their duties, as also the secretary and treasurer. They also feel satisfied that during the coming year the increase in the number of yachts, and the interest taken in the club by the members, will fully sustain and probably increase the prestige thereof." The report having been read, was confirmed. The following gentlemen were elected to the various offices for the year:—Commodore, Dr. F. Milford; vice-commodore, Mr. H. Underwood; hon. secretary, Mr. F. C. Bennett; hon. treasurer, Mr. A. W. Stephens; auditors, Messrs. Tooth and Grant; committee, Messrs. Grant, Want, Milson, Lark, Adams, and Love; handicap committee, Messrs. Simpson, Grant, Young, Tooth, and Creagh. The balance-sheet showed a credit to the club of £22 3s. 8d. (£60 had been given in prizes). Commodore Milford, in returning thanks for his re-election, stated his intention of giving a £20 prize, to be divided as follows:—£10 for the winning boat, a gold medal, valued £5, for the gentleman who steered her, and silver medals to the rest of the crew. He explained also that the object of raising the annual subscription was for the purpose of renting a room for the use and convenience of the members for holding their meetings, and to procure a suitable place where the various yachting magazines could be seen by members of the club. Vice-commodore Underwood, in returning thanks, also stated his intention of giving prizes during the season. The meeting then adjourned.

Our correspondent in Melbourne telegraphs as follows:—"At the training ground, Navigator, Waxlight, and Olga took walking exercise. Commotion, Allander, Fryingpan, and Santa Claus did some good work. Several members of the V. R. C. visited the course on Wednesday to inspect the new buildings, which are fully expected to be ready for use at the spring meeting. The new stand will accommodate 7000 people."

LECTURES.

HISTORICAL ART AND ORNAMENT.

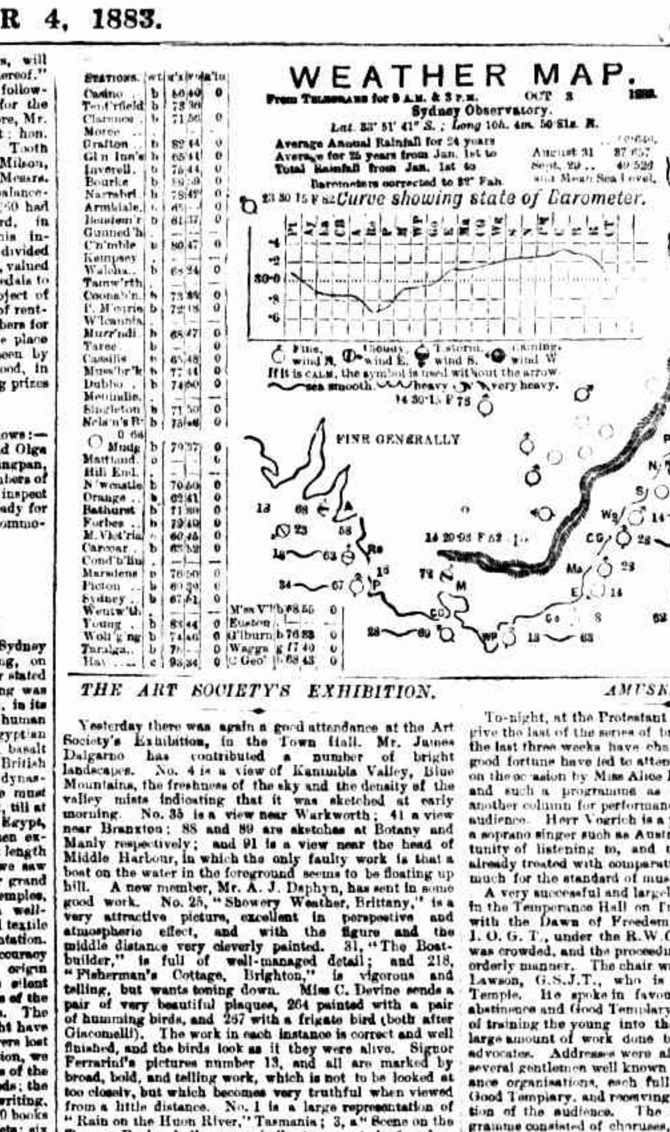

A lecture was delivered in the large hall of the Sydney Mechanics' Technical College, on Tuesday evening, on "Egyptian Art," by Mr. A. D. Riley. The lecturer stated that the first attempt at a really monumental building was made in the plains of the Euphrates. The Sphinx, in its incomprehensible, mysterious form, half brute, half human being, might be looked upon as the very emblem of Egyptian art. Our knowledge of Egypt originated in a black basalt stone, the so-called Rosetta stone, now in the British Museum. Of the third, second, and first Egyptian dynasties we had no monuments; but this unknown age must have been preceded by a long period of development, till at last Menes was set down as the first Pharaoh of Egypt, about 3892 B.C. The titles of the King were then explained, and his court and officials were explained at length by Mr. Riley. In reference to their monuments, we saw the Egyptians enter the mythical age with their grand stone constructions, their pyramids, colossi, temples, palaces, sphinxes, catacombs, and obelisks, as a well-developed artistic nation. Wood constructions and textile fabrics formed the bases of their ornamentation. The mound, constructed with geometrical accuracy as a huge pyramid, must have had an origin somewhere. To proclaim the grandeur of the silent inhabitant, once a mighty ruler, to the four quarters of the globe, was evidently the purpose of these pyramids. The spiritual conceptions of the Egyptians, which might have enabled us to understand their art thoroughly, were lost with their sacred books, of which, with one exception, we had merely the titles. They consisted of two books of the "Chanter," containing hymns in honour of their gods; the four astronomical books, 10 books on sacred writing, including shorthand (used by the priests only); 10 books devoted to religious worship; 10 books of the prophets; six books of the dead—one entitled "Deliverance," in the hall of twofold justice (reward and punishment), and one on "Redemption." Their mythology was not less profound; they had eight gods of first order, 12 of the second, and seven of the third, seeming to point by these numbers to an astronomical basis. Egyptian art reflected in every form the gorgeous influences of religion. The whole life of every Egyptian was placed, in seven phases, under the protection of seven divinities, which were then described. The earliest of the Egyptian houses seemed to have been built of wood, which they naturally found easier to work than stone. Indications of the character of the houses were furnished by some of the most ancient tombs. A sketch was given of the earliest sepulchre. The three principal pyramids were built during the reign of the fourth dynasty, 3426 B.C. The first was in extent 13 acres 1 rood and 22 perches, more than twice the area of St. Peter's at Rome. The original quantity of masonry was 89,028,000 cubic feet. The total height was 480 feet—16 feet higher than St. Peter's, and 120 feet higher than St. Paul's, London. 360,000 human beings worked at it for 20 years. The stones are from 9 to 12 feet in length, and 6½ to 8 feet in breadth. The second pyramid was only 454 feet high, and the third 218 feet high. The internal arrangements of the Great Pyramid were next described—the long passages, one of which is 274 feet long—and the three principal chambers being of very peculiar construction. The central chamber has a length of 34 feet, a width of 17 feet, and a height of 19 feet. It is composed wholly of granite, beautifully polished, and is roofed in a manner which shows great ingenuity and extreme care. Nine enormous blocks of granite, each of them measuring 19 feet long, are laid across the room to form the ceiling, and above this is another chamber. The immense blocks of granite were brought from Seyene, a distance of 500 miles, are polished like glass, and so fitted that the joints can scarcely be detected. The pyramids of Meydoun and Dashoor were then described. The lecturer then spoke of the Egyptian columns and capitols, which he described as the most effective of architectural forms. The especial characteristic of the column is its solidity, and the very large proportion borne by the diameter to the height. The column of the Greeks, where it is thickest, must have a height at least equal to six times its diameter, whereas in Egypt the height rarely exceeded four diameters. The shafts of their columns were generally ornamented by either sculpture or painting; sometimes by both. The capitols were described as of four principal forms. Water plants of various kinds were principally represented on the bell capitols, and were among the most beautiful of their architectural designs. The lecture, which was listened to with interest, was well illustrated by a number of large drawings and diagrams, &c. At the conclusion a vote of thanks was given to the lecturer.

At the Darlinghurst Hall last night, an interesting and instructive lecture was delivered by Mr. M. Guerin, before the members of the Sacred Heart Mutual Improvement Association. The lecture was entitled, "William Cobbett and his works." The lecturer introduced his subject by showing the respect and honour which is due to those who, born without affluence and position, have figured so prominently before the world. He traced the steps of Cobbett from his birth to his death in a manner that obtained for him a very hearty vote of thanks.

Mr. E. W. O'Sullivan is to deliver a lecture on the land question, from a democrat's point of view, at St. Bridget's schoolroom, Miller's Point, this evening.

SHIPMENT OF FROZEN MEAT.

The steamer Teviotdale, lying at Mr. Alfred Lamb's Central Wharf, is taking on board what is said will be the largest cargo of frozen meat that has left Australia. She is a very fine vessel, and is one of two chartered by the Australian Fresh Meat Company of London for conveying frozen meat from these colonies to England; and it is probable that the company will engage other steamers of the same class for a similar purpose. The shipment of meat from the colonies to England is not a fresh experiment; but in connection with this one there are features which are new and likely to prove interesting to those engaged in the enterprise. The Teviotdale has been expressly fitted up for the meat trade. She is provided with two of Giffard's dry air refrigerators, one of which will be ready for immediate service should the other become deranged. These machines the company consider the simplest and the most reliable and powerful, and in view of their being provided, it is anticipated that the meat will be in perfect condition upon arriving at its destination. The steamer is also provided with five cooling and freezing chambers, and she has capacity for carrying 15,000 carcases of sheep. In this instance, however, in consequence of bad seasons having created difficulties in the way of procuring good stock, she will take only 12,000 carcases. The sheep required for her have been purchased by Mr. H. M. Whitehead, the manager of the company, and have been obtained from the Riverina districts, Liverpool Plains, and New England; some having been brought by train and steamer here, and others having travelled overland; and judging from a large number placed on board yesterday, they are a fine lot, and likely in England to do credit to the colony. Under the direction of Mr. Benjamin Richards they were slaughtered at Riverstone, and under that of Mr. Whitehead they are being stowed on board the Teviotdale with as much celerity as possible. At night at Riverstone the carcases were cooled throughout, and the following morning they were consigned to railway trucks for Sydney, which they reached about half-past 7 o'clock, after which, by means of closed waggons, they were conveyed quickly to the steamer's side. Each carcase is wrapped in a clean linen covering, and is immediately handed down into one of three cooling chambers. Here the coverings are removed, and the carcases remain cooling at a temperature of from 35° to 40°. The carcases are then transferred to freezing chambers, in which the temperature is about zero, and upon their being thoroughly frozen they receive fresh linen coverings and are stacked as ordinary cargo. By this process it is considered that the deterioration which affects meat frozen on land, and perhaps half thawed before it is shipped, is avoided. Also it is held that as the meat can be frozen on board the steamer, she may call for carcases at any port of Australia at which they may be secured at favourable prices. Another noticeable feature connected with the present consignment is a provision for insulating the whole space of the chambers by means of wool in bales compressed to the sides, tops, and bottoms with the aid of levers and screws prepared expressly for such a purpose. The use of wood or charcoal for insulating purposes is dispensed with; and one result is that the whole available capacity of the steamer is used for carrying cargo, although on this occasion she will carry little else than meat. Using wood or charcoal for insulating freezing chambers meant carrying those materials at a loss; but of course the wool will pay freight. The meat will be consigned to the company in London, but will be attended to there by persons in their service who are specially acquainted with the best manner of its treatment and sale. If the market is favourable, it will be sent on shore from day to day; but if the reverse is the case, it will be detained in cold storerooms until the market improves.

THE ART SOCIETY'S EXHIBITION.

Yesterday there was again a good attendance at the Art Society's Exhibition, in the Town Hall. Mr. James Dalgarno has contributed a number of bright landscapes. No. 4 is a view of Kanimbla Valley, Blue Mountains, the freshness of the sky and the density of the valley mists indicating that it was sketched at early morning. No. 35 is a view near Warkworth; 41 a view near Branxton; 88 and 89 are sketches at Botany and Manly respectively; and 91 is a view near the head of Middle Harbour, in which the only faulty work is that a boat on the water in the foreground seems to be floating up hill. A new member, Mr. A. J. Daphyn, has sent in some good work. No. 25, "Showery Weather, Brittany," is a very attractive picture, excellent in perspective and atmospheric effect, and with the figure and the middle distance very cleverly painted. 31, "The Boat-builder," is full of well-managed detail; and 218, "Fisherman's Cottage, Brighton," is vigorous and telling, but wants toning down. Miss C. Devine sends a pair of very beautiful plaques, 264 painted with a pair of humming birds, and 267 with a frigate bird (both after Giacomelli). The work in each instance is correct and well finished, and the birds look as if they were alive. Signor Ferrarini's pictures number 13, and all are marked by broad, bold, and telling work, which is not to be looked at too closely, but which becomes very truthful when viewed from a little distance. No. 1 is a large representation of "Rain on the Huon River," Tasmania; 3, a "Scene on the Tasman Peninsula," a scene similar to many to be found on our coast; 6, "Spring, Double Bay," is a brilliant combination of gay flowering shrubs and shining water pools; 7, "Sunset, Botany," is daring in colour; 11, "Hobart, from Kangaroo Point," is a scene almost Italian in its soft splendour; and 12, "Franklin, Tasmania," is noticeable for its harmonious colouring and correct perspective. No. 18, "First Basin, Launceston;" 37, "Sea Shore, Botany," representing the sand flat just above Sandringham; and 70, "Near La Perouse," are also noticeable. Mr. Louis Frank's pictures are: No. 20, "Waterhole in the Dandenong Ranges," a lovely little nook painted in masterly style; 181, "View of Hart Point, Mathera, India;" and 194, "Gangeotrie Peaks, Himalayas;" the latter two being so suffused with colour that at a little distance they look like chromo-lithographs. Mr. J. Gibb, of New Zealand, only sends one picture, No. 39, "Morning after the Storm," but that is a very good one. A wrecked barque is being knocked to pieces among jagged rocks, around and over which the sea is tossing, and her rigging forms a cobweb of lines against the red light of dawn. No. 129, "Fraulein," by Harry P. Gill, is the bold careless study of a girl's face full of life and character; 137 and 138 are little sketches on the Thames; and 186 is a picturesque bit, showing Windsor town and castle. No. 20, "On the Gariep," is a good landscape by Mr. W. H. Hannam; and Mrs. G. H. Halligan has some well-painted flower pieces. Two of the best pictures in the exhibition are by Mrs. L. Henry. No. 43, "The Devil's Coachhouse, Fish River Caves," is a remarkably fine work, the gloom of the cavern, into which the eye seems little by little to penetrate, being intensified by the radiance of the little scene framed in by the distant opening, and by a shaft of light falling from a cleft overhead upon a heap of stones in the foreground. This is a composition to be studied closely, and is very different in feeling from No. 65, "Sydney Harbour—Peace," which certainly suggests peace, and as certainly does not suggest Sydney Harbour. A young couple are strolling in the shadow of some rocks, at the margin of a long stretch of water, and the rich yellow glow which sometimes immediately succeeds sunset lights up a scene of absolute quietude. Mr. J. C. Hoyte, with his sixteen pictures, takes pride of place among his fellow-contributors, and his works seem to be selling rapidly. No. 100, "Te Tarata, Rotomahana Hot Springs," and 110, "Milford Sound, from South Spit," are a pair of New Zealand studies to be coveted, careful in drawing and rich in soft warm colour, as they are. 136, "View from the Ruins, Peato's Ferry, on the Hawkesbury;" 140, "View from Domain, Sydney;" 162, "Pittwater Basin;" 172, "Sydney Heads from Chowder Bay;" and 211, "Lake Wanaka, Otago, New Zealand," are good pictures, and a number of clever field sketches repay inspection. 87, "Caddi Creek," is a promising picture by Mr. A. L. Jackson, and 80, "On the Gib-road, near Mittagong," by J. M. Kennedy, is a pleasant study of colour. Mr. G. L. Luker, of Adelaide, is well represented, his pictures mostly dealing with English subjects. No. 75, "The River Teign, Chayford, Devonshire." No. 95, "Royal Common, Surrey;" 118, "Old Cottages, Surrey;" and 130, "The White Hart Inn, Surrey," show a good eye for colour; while 170 and 175, "Silver Birches," and 197, "Felled Timber," are noticeable for the careful accuracy with which the trees are painted. Mr. J. L. Lyons shows No. 2, "A portrait of the late Mrs. Hugh M'Master," in which the face is strikingly lifelike; and 261, an elaborate design for a church window in stained glass. No. 28 is a clever portrait of the racehorse Darebin, painted by Mr. F. Mahony; and 105 is a view of Sydney from the North Shore, by Miss Martens. The drawing is spirited, and the colouring much after her father's style. Mr. J. Mather is a large contributor, and No. 29, "Evening," has a sunset effect, very reminiscent of Buvelot's "Waterpool at Coleraine." 38, "Summer;" 42, "Ducks' Weather," 45, "Cutting Osiers," 48, "Riddell's Creek;" 56, "A Selection;" and 82, "Shallow Water," are clever studies. 153, "Sketching from Nature," is faulty, because the light is so dull that the white umbrella under which the artist sits is a superfluity. 184, "By the Sea" is an excellent little bit of scenery, the rock-pool in the foreground being very limpid in appearance. Some of Mr. E. W. Minchen's pictures are pleasant to look at, notably 109, "Study at Hunter's Bay," and 234, "Bantry Bay, low tide."

The most successful of French dramatic authors, after being accused in the press again and again of plagiarism, has (says the Standard) been formally charged with that offence before one of the tribunals of his country, and now the case awaits the decision of the Judge. The action which M. Mario Uchard has brought against M. Victorien Sardou is not a criminal one. The penalties to which a plagiary was subjected in ancient times are in our milder civilisation unknown, and the worst that can befall M. Sardou, should the case go against him, is to be condemned to the payment of damages and to the expenses of the suit. His literary reputation will hardly be affected by the decision of the court, for everyone already knows, in the first place, that M. Sardou borrows a great deal, and in the second place that what he does borrow he succeeds in making his own. All that could be urged before the Judges has been set forth repeatedly in the newspapers and reviews, and the evidence tendered can hardly be said to have presented any new features. According to M. Mario Uchard, M. Sardou's play of "Odette" is simply M. Uchard's "La Fiammina" under a new name. Nor was M. Uchard the first person to make this assertion. Immediately after the production of "Odette," about 18 months ago, its resemblance to "La Fiammina" was noticed, and commented upon in all the Paris journals. But while some critics agreed that M. Sardou had simply worked on the same theme as M. Uchard, and so working had produced a new composition, others declared that he had done neither more nor less than appropriate M. Uchard's plot, and virtually his entire piece. When it was stated in so many quarters that M. Uchard had suffered this wrong, it seemed to him unbecoming to submit to it without protest and without claiming redress. He has probably no intention of seeking to prove special damage, and as the run of "La Fiammina" came long ago to an end, it is difficult to understand what injury in a commercial sense M. Sardou can have inflicted upon him by rewriting that piece, as he is alleged to have done, and bringing it out under a new name. One would rather think that the true sufferer by such a process must be the dramatist, proposing to interest the public by setting before it a familiar story known to have been invented by another man. Property, however, is property, and if Mr. Uchard has really been plundered, it would be impertinent to assure him that what he has lost possessed no particular value, and that his plunderer ran the risk of doing himself considerable harm by his act of larceny. The able appropriator of literary and dramatic ideas does really, however, the exact contrary of what the "filcher" of a good name is said on high authority to do. Instead of stealing that which "not enriches him," and which makes the robbed one "poor indeed," the successful plagiary enriches himself without impoverishing any one.

TO CURE SKIN DISEASES.—Sulpholine Lotion will completely remove all eruptions, pimples, redness, blotches, scurf, eczema, psoriasis, &c., in a few days. Sulpholine attacks old skin disorders, and totally destroys them. It is a peculiar, agreeable, harmless fluid, producing a clear skin. Sulpholine lotion is sold by chemists; bottles, 2s 9d. Made only by J. Pepper and Co., London.—[ADVT.]

AMUSEMENTS.

To-night, at the Protestant Hall, Herr Max Vogrich will give the last of the series of brilliant concerts which during the last three weeks have charmed all whom good taste or good fortune have led to attend them. He will be assisted on the occasion by Miss Alice Rees and Mr. F. J. Hallewell, and such a programme as that which is advertised in another column for performance should attract a very large audience. Herr Vogrich is a pianist and Miss Alice Rees a soprano singer such as Australians have rarely the opportunity of listening to, and that they should have been already treated with comparative neglect here does not say much for the standard of musical taste in Sydney.

A very successful and largely attended meeting took place in the Temperance Hall on Tuesday evening, in connection with the Dawn of Freedom Juvenile Temple, No. 18, I. O. G. T., under the R.W.G.L. of the World. The hall was crowded, and the proceedings were conducted in a very orderly manner. The chair was occupied by Bro. W. C. Lawson, G.S.J.T., who is also superintendent of this Temple. He spoke in favour of the principles of total abstinence and Good Templary, and especially the necessity of training the young into the same, commenting on the large amount of work done by those juvenile temperance advocates. Addresses were also delivered at intervals by several gentlemen well known as promoters of the temperance organisations, each fully explaining the objects of Good Templary, and receiving the applause and appreciation of the audience. The musical portion of the programme consisted of choruses, songs, and recitations by the children, and were deservedly applauded, the vocalists having frequently to respond. Several adults also aided in the programme, and one of the largest and most successful juvenile Templar gatherings concluded by singing the National Anthem.

Our correspondent at West Maitland telegraphs that the Kennedys, who are singing at the School of Arts in that town, are by their popularity causing a nightly "gathering of the clans," filling the house every evening.

FISH AND FISHERMEN.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—In reading your article this morning on the scarcity and high prices of fish, I thought what a grand opening there is in Sydney for the fishing industry to be worked on the same scale and method as in West Cornwall. In a radius of seven miles in Mounts Bay there are about 3000 persons engaged in the fisheries, hailing from Porthleven, Newlyn, and Mousehole, every man, woman, and child being born to the fishing industry. The men fish; on the fish being landed the women pack them in baskets for "mauns" as they are called in Cornwall, each layer of fish having a layer of ice between; and the children help in a hundred-and-one ways. I may say that the fish are caught, brought in, and landed on the beach, immediately sold by auction to the fish agents, who employ the women and children to pack. Carts in waiting rush off with the baskets of fish to the railway station, where special trucks are waiting for fish only, and fish that had been alive at 7 o'clock the night previous are in the London, Liverpool, Bristol, and other markets early the next morning. I may say that a basket of fish does not contain three or four sizes, but each basket is packed with one size fish. I could give a great deal of information on the fishing industry, being born in Mounts Bay, Cornwall; but my object in writing is to state that during the past three or four years the fishing industry of Cornwall has suffered severely through failure of catches, and from the large number of persons engaged in its business many families have for a long time past been brought to want, the consequence being that relief every season latterly has in a large measure had to be given in the different districts. Why cannot 20 or even 50 families of those fishermen be brought out here? They are fishermen from childhood, and no calm or shallow water fishermen either. They are used to the English and Irish coasts, and would soon make themselves acquainted with our seas. There is not a fishing boat in Sydney that would go out and fish under such weather as the Cornishmen. The rougher the weather the more favourable for taking fish; and it is a very rare thing to hear of a Cornish fish r-boat being lost; they ride the roughest gales. Here we have millions of fish, and cannot get them for want of a thorough system of fishing. Bring out 20, 30, or 50 families from Cornwall; let the Government grant them some further inducement than the emigration schemes allow, because they would have to bring out as much appliances of fishing as possible, nets, &c. (I might state that the women and children make, and mend, and lay them out to dry after being used.) I should advocate that according to the number of families coming out they should bring with them a sufficient number of Mounts Bay fishing boats, so that they could start at once, and they would be models for building of new ones as required. If my idea was carried out we would have fish in plenty at low prices, and it would in time grow to a vast industry, such as the most sanguine person would least expect. I am sure that the Mayor of Penzance and the leading gentry would assist the New South Wales Government in the object. It would be a boon to New South Wales, and would bring in thousands a year to the revenue, at the same time assisting those that are hardy and industrious, as the Cornish fishermen are known all the world over for.

Yours, &c.,
JOHN R. EATHORNE.

Since writing the above I waited on the Colonial Secretary, the Hon. A. Stuart, and laid the matter before him, that there might be some further inducement than is provided for in the regulations to the Cornish fishermen and their families to emigrate here. Mr. Stuart received me very graciously, and will give instructions to the Agent-General to also bring out (free) boats, nets, and all fishing appliances, which, considering the boats themselves are worth from £600 to over £1000 a piece, will certainly be a great inducement to get some of them out here. I am also to communicate the Premier's proposals to the Mayor of Penzance, who will communicate with the Agent-General.

COMMERCIAL.

MELBOURNE LIVE STOCK MARKET.

MELBOURNE, OCT. 3.

Messrs. Dal. Campbell and Co. report:—Fat Cattle: 1650 forward, one lot being from Queensland; the biddings were dull, which was largely owing to the unseasonably hot weather, and prices showed a decline of 10s to 20s. Best pens bullocks made £11 10s to £13 12s 6d; second best £9 to £10. Best cows made £9. Fat Sheep: 12,000 forward, very few being good or prime, consequently the demand for such was very brisk, and prices showed an advance of 6d to 1s per head. Best merino wethers made 10s; a few extra to 17s 6d.

Messrs. Richard Gibson and Co. report:—Fat Cattle: 1600 forward; owing to the sultry weather prices ruled about 20s per head lower, prime bullocks forward making £12 to £13 7s 6d, good ditto £9 to £10. Good Cows: We sold 300, Victorian cattle, for different owners. Fat Sheep: 12,600 yarded, mostly medium to good quality; sales brisk, and prices advanced 6d to 1s per head, best crossbred wethers making 17s to 18s; extra highest best merinos ditto 15s to 16s; we sold 2600 for various owners.

Messrs. King and Cunningham report:—Fat Cattle: 1600 yarded, including 200 from Queensland; these were much wasted, the hot weather was against favourable sales, and prices receded about 20s, from last week's rates. Our sales are from Gippsland paddocks and other Victorian. Fat Sheep: 12,000 penned, quality of the bulk only medium; prime scarce, and demand brisk at an advance of 6d on late high rates. Lambs: 2500; not adequate for the season, and prices rose 1s. We quote best at 9s 6d to 11s; good quality, 8s to 9s. We sold drafts from the Echuca and Terrick at top rates.

Messrs. Powers, Rutherford, and Co. report:—Fat Cattle: 1618 yarded; sales, owing to the hot weather, were very dull, prices dropping fully 20s. We sold 60. Fat Sheep: 12,600 yarded, bulk were of middling quality. The demand for good and prime was very active; prices ruled 6d to 1s higher. We sold 2800 at yards.

Messrs. Ryan and Hammond report:—Fat Cattle: 1600 odd yarded, including 200 from Queensland, the balance being Victorian. Most of the cattle yarded were of good useful quality. The market was dull and prices were from 10s to 20s lower. Best pens of bullocks made £12 to £13 12s 6d; best pens of cows to £9. We sold Quirk's bullocks to £9 10s. Fat Sheep: 12,000 odd penned, only medium quality, with a few prime. The market was brisk, and prices ruled 6d higher. Best crossbreds brought to 19s, best merinos to 17s. We sold Clarke's sheep from Springhurst.

SUMMARY OF NEWS

FOR TRANSMISSION TO EUROPE, VIA SAN FRANCISCO.

From September 6 to October 4.

POLITICAL.

The present Government has been aptly termed "the dining-out Administration"—a title which they appear to have endeavoured to earn during the recess now drawing to a termination. With the exception of Mr. Farnell, the Secretary for Lands, the members of the Cabinet have been for some time past pretty constantly engaged in a succession of tours through the country districts, and have been banqueted at place after place—sometimes to the extent of two or three a day. But notwithstanding the opportunities thus given of taking the public into their confidence as regards the measures they intend to bring forward in the session that will commence on Tuesday next, they have been remarkably reticent, and all we have learned as to their intentions has come from outside, and not from themselves. Mr. Farnell has been out of the good things, principally on account of his health, which has failed to such an extent that he has been for some days past unable to attend to the duties of his office, which have been consequently discharged by his colleague, Mr. Abbott, the Minister for Mines. It is considered very probable that Mr. Farnell will be unable to undertake the onerous duty of piloting through the Assembly the Land Bill, which the Government are pledged to bring forward at the earliest possible opportunity, and in that case it will most likely be in charge of Mr. Abbott. Indeed, it is thought very possible that the two Ministers referred to will change positions, and that Mr. Abbott will assume the direction of the important Department of Lands, while Mr. Farnell will take up the somewhat lighter duties of Minister for Mines.

As regards the coming session, in addition to the all-absorbing question of the amendment of our land system, which it is thought the Government will propose to deal with mainly on the basis of the plan sketched out by Mr. Stuart in his speech in opposition to the Land Bill of the previous Government, they will, it is said, endeavour to amend the laws relating to libel and contempt of Court. In this they will be only carrying out the views of the country at large, as expressed by public meetings in every direction. It is felt that, while undue license should not be given, at the same time the press should have reasonable liberty to criticise all public institutions, and to discuss all matters affecting the public welfare, and that, in regard to alleged contempt of Court, that offence should be clearly defined, and dealt with according to the same rules that guide the mode of procedure relating to other offences, and not be left to the arbitrary caprice of the Judges, who are at present at once prosecutors, judges, and jury in their own case.

It is not thought that any serious attempt will be made at present to pass a bill for the extension of local self government; but a bill for the regulation of the Civil Service will no doubt be brought forward, with a view to the removal of existing anomalies, so as to ensure the proper working of our Government departments. The question of finance will excite considerable attention, as the stoppage of land sales has very much diminished the revenue. It is rumoured that the Colonial Treasurer will, on the one hand, propose to reduce the public expenditure by postponing all but absolutely necessary works until the effect of the new Land Bill is seen; while, on the other hand, it is expected that a revision of the tariff will be proposed, with the object of increasing the revenue.

As regards the Opposition, nothing further remains to be said. Sir Henry Parkes being absent from the colony, some leader will have to be appointed, and it is generally believed that Mr. Wisdom will be selected for that position, as it is not expected that Sir John Robertson will take any active part in opposing the Government, unless the new Land Bill proceeds upon lines that he may deem to be dangerous for the welfare of the country.

True to the last to their dining-out instincts, the Government intend, instead of the usual Parliamentary banquet to their supporters, to give on Friday and Saturday next a picnic at the National Park to the members of Parliament generally. The affair will be of a somewhat informal and al fresco nature, and should the weather be fine, will doubtless be much more enjoyable than the stiff and formal banquets hitherto in vogue, which appear to have a tendency rather to create dyspepsia than cordiality among the legislators who are supposed to rule the destinies of this country.

SOCIAL.

The erection of the great hall in connection with the Sydney Town Hall is progressing as satisfactorily as the nature and magnitude of the work will permit. The foundations have been commenced, the trenches for the walls having been excavated to some 10 or 11 feet below the level of the kerb in Druitt-street—that is to say, down to hard rock—the concrete is being laid with rapidity, and trenches for drainage on a complete system are being proceeded with. Preparations are also being made for laying the foundation stone of the new hall, and it is expected will be completed next month. The work of finishing the present portion of the Town Hall is in an advanced condition. The grand stone staircase is completed with the exception of the Sicilian marble strings; the rouge royal marble newells, which are on their way from Belgium; the lining of the steps with slate; and also the Keen's cementing of the walls, which is being commenced. The town clerk's new rooms on the first floor are nearly finished, as is also the Mayor's new room, on the same level. The new council-room is approaching completion rapidly, and will probably be ready for occupation by Christmas. The rooms and corridor above are all completed, and in all the details the various features introduced are working out satisfactorily.

The Government have accepted tenders for additions and alterations to the Custom House, Sydney, which it is stated will have the effect of largely improving the appearance and accommodation of the present structure. The design comprehends the addition of another story to the present building, with a wing on each side, extending sufficiently beyond the main building to admit of a colonnade between them. There will also be a handsome portico, surmounted with the Royal arms. The centre of the building will be appropriated to the exclusive use of the Custom House; the wing on the right will be used for a shipping office, and the one on the left will be devoted to the officers of the Marine Board. The "long room" will be 90 feet long by 30 feet wide, situated on the first floor.

The hall of the School of Arts was crowded on the evening of September 25 with ladies and gentlemen interested in the question of higher education, who had met together for the purpose of urging the establishment of evening lectures in connection with the University of Sydney. The Hon. G. H. Reid, Minister for Public Instruction, occupied the chair. Resolutions in support of the object of the meeting were unanimously agreed to. The principal speakers were the chairman, Rev. Dr. Steel, Messrs. W. Edmunds, A. Cameron, M.L.A., Bent. A. Gordon, Q.C., Rev. G. Woolnough, Rev. J. N. Manning, Rev. E. Hodgson, and Rev. Canon Stephen.

The annual meeting of the New South Wales Social Purity Society was held on September 25 in the Temperance Hall. Mr. W. Neill presided. The report explained the action taken by the society during its 12 months of existence, with the view of bringing about such an amendment of the law as shall tend to shield social purity, and encourage a movement for the abatement of the social evil. One of its first acts was to oppose the passing of a C. D. bill. The bill has hitherto fallen through, and the committee of the society believes it is in possession of information which will make the public aware of the worthlessness of such legislation.

At a meeting of the finance committee of the City Council a report from the city surveyor, having reference to the subjects of the erection of public baths and the watering of the streets with salt water, was laid upon the table. Mr. Mountain reported that in view of the cost it would be impolitic to enter upon a scheme for erecting a public bath in each ward and flushing the sewers with salt water. It was pointed out that the present scarcity of water would be a matter of only four or five years' continuance, at the end of which time it was believed a plentiful supply would be obtained from the Nepean scheme, when the necessity for economising the fresh water for baths, flushing purposes, washing, &c., would no longer exist. Mr. Mountain recommended that the capabilities of the present system be expanded by increasing the pumping power, constructing large tanks, and distributing a few supply mains through the city, with hydrants placed at suitable positions for supplying the watercarts. The estimated cost of the proposed extension is £7480.

On Saturday afternoon, September 29, the private view of the Art Society's fourth exhibition took place at the Town Hall, the vestibule of which was transformed into a picture gallery for the occasion. Addresses were delivered by Mr. E. Combes, president of the society, and the Hon. Alexander Stuart, and then the art union was drawn. Over 70 artists have sent in contributions, and the exhibits number over 280. The art union was drawn by Madame Marius and Mrs. J. W. Sayers, Messrs. C. J. Roberts and J. S. Mason acting as scrutineers. Mrs. J. Nesbitt, of Macquarie-street, won the first prize—pictures to the value of 50 guineas. The exhibition was opened to the general public on the 1st October, and has been largely attended.

One of the most brilliant gatherings of the season was the soirée given by Sir Patrick and Lady Jennings, at the Exhibition Building on September 26, to the performing members of the Sydney Liedertafel. Lady Jennings had issued a large number of invitations, and the assemblage was an imposing one. Lady Augustus Loftus, the Hon. Alexander Stuart, and other members of the Ministry, members of both Houses of Parliament, several of the Consuls, officers of the ships of war in port, officers of the Permanent Force, representatives of literature, science, and art, and nearly everyone of high social standing was there. Sir Patrick and Lady Jennings received their guests until shortly after 9 o'clock, when Lady Augustus Loftus arrived, and then a concert was given. After the concert came supper. Dancing then commenced. No pains had been spared by Sir Patrick Jennings to ensure his guests an evening of unqualified pleasure, and the very complete arrangements he had made with that object were not made in vain.

The following is the financial statement contained in the eighth annual report of the Discharged Prisoners' Aid Society:—Dr.: To balance at the bank, £40 13s. 1d.; public contributions, £62 2s.; return prisoners' money, £3; aid from Government, £50—£115 2s.; total, £155 15s. 1d. Cr.: By paid for clothing, tools, and cash advanced to prisoners, &c., £73 6s. 3d.; paid for food and beds supplied to prisoners, £20 0s. 3d.; gratuity to Mr. Allpress, £16; paid accounts for printing, £7 15s.; sundries, £1 10s.; stamps and stationery, £1 15s.; commission, £6 2s.; balance at bank, £39 6s. 7d.; total, £155 15s. 1d. Thomas Walker's donation, £200, fixed deposit at 6 per cent.

The candidates for admission this quarter to the Sydney High school numbered in all 126, there being (curiously enough) 63 boys and 63 girls. Of these 54 boys and 43 girls passed the requisite examination, so that the schools will commence with 97 scholars in all.

At the last meeting of the Linnean Society of New South Wales, Baron Maclay exhibited a sketch of a new species of Heterodontus, recently received at the Australian Museum from Japan, and pointed out the marked difference between it and Heterodontus Phillippi, the species with which the Japan fish had hitherto been confounded. He suggested for it the specific name of "Japonicus," and said that he would give a detailed description of it at the next meeting of the society. Mr. William Macleay exhibited, in illustration of Mr. De Vis' paper, casts of a gigantic humerus of a diprotodon, and a smaller humerus, probably of Nototherium.

On the 20th September, at 7 p.m., a comet was observed in the north-western sky at Wellington, New Zealand. In noticing the discovery, Mr. John Tebbutt, of the Observatory, Windsor, writes:—"In a paragraph copied from the Athenæum into the Herald of the 26th instant it is pointed out that the great comet of last year will probably soon become visible again in a powerful telescope. Considering, indeed, the present position of that body, southern observers would have a better chance than northern ones for rediscovering it if they were possessed of telescopes equal to those of the northern hemisphere. It is much to be regretted that the comet was not detected in the southern hemisphere before it became visible to the unassisted eye. Had we been successful in establishing in the colony a corps of amateur comet-hunters similar to that in the United States, we should probably have been able to furnish a better pre-perihelion history of this highly interesting body, and to decide beyond doubt the question as to the influence of the solar atmosphere on the motion of the comet in perihelion. M. Gautier's paper conclusively shows that by means of the same parabola, or a very eccentric eclipse, the observations both before and after perihelion can be represented within the probable errors of observation, and that the perturbations due to the solar atmosphere are insensible. Owing to the very numerous observations of this comet, and the corrections which they will require, due to the peculiar structure of the nucleus, a long period will elapse before we are put in possession of the definitive elements of its orbit."

On the 27th September Sir Alfred Stephen and the Hon. W. J. Trickett accompanied General Sir Frederick Haines, Commodore Erskine, Commodore C. de Amezaka, Commander Glessler, the Italian and German Consuls, and other gentlemen and several ladies, on an excursion to the Blue Mountains, for the purpose of showing the distinguished visitors the beauties of the district. A most enjoyable day was spent.

The building material, household furniture, and other property of the "Anderson Training Home," or, as it is more generally known, "Artisans' College," at Middle Harbour, were submitted for sale by auction, on the ground, on Saturday afternoon, September 22. A number of private vehicles were driven out, about 100 persons assembling on the ground, a great number of whom were doubtless attracted by curiosity, as the bidding was slow and confined to comparatively few of those present. The auctioneer, Mr. Brown, read a Government document giving notice that the house, chattels, &c., would have to be removed by the 31st October. The furniture and household effects were first disposed of, one of the boys' bedsteads being sold for 9s. 6d., and the rest being purchased at 7s. 6d. each. The "college" itself, however, was the principal item in the sale, and this was knocked down to Mr. Anderson for £235. During the auction objection was raised to Mr. Anderson bidding for the goods offered, as the sale had been announced to be "unreserved," and "by order of Mr. Anderson and the trustees," but the auctioneer said that, as the sale was on behalf of the trustees and subscribers, and not of Mr. Anderson, he could not object to the latter bidding. The tools, portions of half-made coaches, and two vehicles, which were knocked down for the sum of £1 the two, and other property in the boys' workhouse and the outhouses, were also offered for sale.

The annual demonstration and picnic of the Eight-hour Trades Societies took place at Parramatta on October 1, and were attended by a very large concourse of people. The various societies, with their banners and with bands of music, marched in procession in the morning from Cook Park to the Redfern Railway station, and were conveyed, with other excursionists, to Parramatta by special trains. The demonstration was very successful. The banquet in connection with the event took place at the Masonic Hotel, York-street. The chair was taken by Mr. R. H. Brown, and about 70 persons were present, amongst whom were the Hon. W. B. Dalley, Attorney-General; the Hon. W. J. Trickett, Postmaster-General, and several members of the Legislative Assembly. A number of speeches were delivered, in which the general demeanour of the working classes in this colony was applauded, and the eight-hour system of labour was advocated.

At the Eastern Markets on October 1 some fish realised the following extraordinary prices:—Schnapper, £6 2s. to £7 4s. per dozen; red bream, £1 6s. 6d. per dozen; garfish, £2 to £2 12s. per basket; and small flathead, 18s. per dozen. The reasons for these prices appear to be that the roughness of the weather has to some extent precluded the operation of fishing.

On Tuesday evening, September 25, Mr. J. S. Shearston, seaman's missionary, held his first meeting on board of H.M.S. Miranda with the new crew which arrived recently in the ship Windsor Castle. The meeting was held in the forecastle of the ship, and resulted in the formation of a branch of the Royal Navy Temperance Society, and the appointment of officers to work it. On Wednesday night a second meeting was held for the purpose of instituting a Templar Lodge on board—all the paraphernalia for that purpose being left by the Templars of the last ship's company. Twenty-three men gave their names as candidates for membership, and with the assistance of a party of friends from H.M.S. Nelson, they were made members, and officers were elected and installed, and the lodge duly instituted.

The particulars of the wreck of the steamer New England, near the Clarence River Heads, will no doubt be fresh in the recollection of some of our English and American readers, and the bravery of John Lemaire, Vito Loscocco, Peter Jules, and Antonio Costa in putting off in a small boat for the rescue of the survivors. It will also be remembered that a public testimonial was given to the brave fellows above mentioned, and that an application was made by the Government of this colony to the Royal Humane Society of London for medals and certificates for them. The application, it appears, was refused by the Humane Society of London, evidently because it did not come through the "Royal Humane Society of Australasia." In consequence of this, Mr. Stuart wrote to the Victorian Government, asking for information respecting this society, and how far it received aid or countenance from the Government, as the society at home evidently looked upon it as a general society for the whole of the colonies. It seems, from the reply furnished by Mr. Service, the Victorian Premier, that the Royal Humane Society of Australasia has received intermittent grants of money from the Government in aid of its operations, and the title it bears was conferred upon it by the Queen on an application made by the Governor without reference to the Government. The Royal Humane Society of Victoria has relegated to the Australasian one the rewarding of certain acts of bravery, and through it medals and certificates have been granted to the heroes of the New England wreck.

A sad accident happened on the 19th September, during the voyage of the ship Smyrna, which arrived here on September 29. An apprentice on board named Philip Nunn fell overboard from the mizentopgallant yard, shortly after the vessel had passed Cape Leuwin. A boat was immediately lowered, and two of the crew—J. Glass a boatswain, and Alexander Norbey, an A.B.—who occupied it in endeavouring vainly to rescue Nunn were also drowned.

During the voyage of the ship Cimba, which arrived here from London on September 24, an apprentice on board named John Dunn, fell from the royal yard overboard and was lost. The accident occurred at about 8 a.m. on the 19th August, whilst the ship was in latitude 39 S., and longitude 3·40 W., and a heavy gale was blowing at the time. In his descent the unfortunate youth struck the lower yards, and it is thought that he was killed prior to falling into the sea. The deceased was a son of the late Captain Dunn, well known in the P. and O. Company's service.

Two men were recently picked up by the steamer Katoomba on Dent Island, and brought up at the Brisbane Police Court on suspicion of being escaped convicts from New Caledonia. They were remanded, in order that the French authorities on the island may be communicated with. They contradict their original story, stating that they left San Francisco in July last, in the ship Le Oreo, bound for New Caledonia, and that when off Mackay a mutiny occurred, and they, together with a third man named Sattello, were sent adrift in a boat, which afterwards was wrecked. The men state that they swam to Dent Island, their companion, Sattello, being drowned. They gave their names as Giovanni Arnoldi and Antonio Tapanilli, but it is believed that they are Frenchmen.

A strange story comes from Piper's Creek, 60 miles from Melbourne. A large savage animal, about as big as a year-old heifer, with a great head, shaggy mane, bushy tail, and heavy limbs, frightened two young men, who ran away. Traces of the animal were afterwards seen. About a fortnight ago several children reported having seen a large wild animal like a lion in the locality, the residents of which believe the young men's story.

The case against Henry Winter, who has travelled all over Australia as the "American Indian Corn Doctor," and who latterly was carrying on business as a grocer in one of the suburbs of Melbourne was brought before the Victorian Central Criminal Court on September 22. Winter, who was arrested out of the colony, was charged on eight different counts with fraudulently insolvency, and was found guilty. Judge Williams, who presided on the bench, remarked that he considered this the most wholesale case of swindling creditors he had ever heard of. The Judge, in sentencing the prisoner, said:—"I dare say you expected to receive a sentence of six months, and that you have a large amount of money still secreted somewhere, or put out of the way, is very plain. I must therefore pass upon you a substantial sentence to show the trading community that these offences are not to be permitted, and that the interests of commerce and trade must be protected." The prisoner was sentenced to two years and six months' imprisonment.

Captain Livingstone, of the steamer Nowshera, from London, reports that when at Batavia on the 26th August, the vessel's funnel, masts, and sides were perfectly white with ashes and powdered pumice stone, the result of the volcanic eruptions on the island of Krakatoa, about 90 miles distant from Batavia. The deck of the steamer was also covered with powdered pumice stone and ashes, to a depth of nearly two inches.

The trial trip of the Port Jackson Steamship Company's new steamer, the Brighton, took place very successfully on September 22. There was a representative gathering of about 800 persons on board, and all passed off most pleasantly.

A very successful trial of a new steam yacht, built for Mr. T. A. Dibbs, manager of the Commercial Bank, took place recently. The yacht, which has been named the Ena, is the finest of the kind in Australia, and a credit to her designers and builders. She is magnificently fitted up, designed with great skill for commodiousness and comfort, and capable of running in harbour waters at a speed of 11½ knots an hour. She is intended solely for pleasure purposes, and, with that object in view, she has been fitted with a special sleeping-cabin for ladies, sleeping accommodation for gentlemen, cooking apparatus, and during accommodation. Everything on board is not only in the most perfect taste, and of the best description, but the arrangements are so complete that a pleasure party of 30 or 40 persons could live on board for days at a stretch with the utmost convenience and comfort. She is 53¾ tons, fitted with engines of 70 horse power nominal, is 82 feet in length from stem to stern, and as the deck is free of encumbrance there is a clear promenade of over 100 feet round the vessel. In the fore part is a very handsome cabin, panelled with walnut of bird's-eye maple, fitted with pier-glass and marble-top sideboard, velvet cushioned seats, carpeted floor, and convenient lockers, and covered by skylights of frosted and coloured glass, and all the metal fastenings nickel-plated. She was built, under Mr. Dibbs' supervision, by Mr. William Dunn, of Berry's Bay, and has been supplied with a 14-feet dingy, built by Goddard.

At an ordinary general meeting of the medical section of the Royal Society of New South Wales, on September 21, Dr. Manning read some notes of a case of hallucinations from the use of salicia. Dr. Belgrave brought up a report on a case of cancer which was operated on four years ago by Dr. Cox. The subject of the operation made a good recovery, and remains in robust health at the present time. Dr. Chambers read a paper entitled "Observations on Ovarian Disease, with cases."

A challenge was forwarded to Edward Hanlan, on behalf of James Hunt, that Elias Laycock, of Sydney, would row Edward Hanlan, of Toronto, Canada, for the championship of the world and £1000 a side, and allow the sum of £200 for expenses; the race to be rowed over the champion course, on the Parramatta River, on a date not later than the 31st March, 1884. The challenge has been duly delivered by Platt, and Hunt received a cable from Edward Hanlan, from New York, as follows:—"Row for purse of £1000, the winner taking all. £300 expenses." At present Elias Laycock is laid up with a broken leg, and it will probably be some time before he has recovered sufficiently to go into training. In the event of Laycock not being able to row at the time fixed, William Beach is the man who will be called upon to uphold the championship of the world.

Dr. George Fullerton died on September 24. He was a colonist of over 40 years standing. He arrived in Sydney in 1841, and was one of the first physicians of the Sydney Hospital. He retired from practice in 1853, and in 1857 settled in Brisbane, where he was a member of the first Queensland Legislative Council. While in Queensland he published a Family Medical Guide, which has passed through several editions. He returned to Sydney in 1873, and during the last years of his life resided in the suburbs.

A sad fatal accident happened at Woogaroo Lunatic Asylum, Brisbane, on September 29. Miss Smith, a young lady of Sydney, who was visiting Dr. Scholes, the medical superintendent, was sitting alone near the fire when her dress ignited. In great terror she rushed to the servants' quarters, screaming for assistance; but the servants, thinking her a lunatic, shut the door. Before assistance could be rendered she was severely burned, and so seriously injured that she died next morning. Dr. Scholes was some distance away in another part of the building at the time, and Mrs. Scholes was in the garden.

An extraordinary scene occurred in the Bank of Victoria, Melbourne, on October 1. Mr. Henry Thomas, auctioneer, &c., of Heathcote, walked into the public banking-room, and, much to the astonishment of the customers and the clerks, he jumped upon a round table which stands in the centre of the apartment. All at once he commenced loudly talking, and gesticulating most wildly, when the clerks and others in the bank laughed. He then called out in a loud voice, "Don't laugh, don't laugh," and at the same time produced a revolver. This was the signal for a general stampede, the clerks and customers in the bank taking refuge behind the pillars and other positions of safety. Almost immediately after producing the revolver, Mr. Thomas fired three shots in quick succession. The first went high up in a backward direction, and injured one of the plaster ornaments of the cornice of the ceiling. The direction of the second bullet could not be traced, but the third took effect under Mr. Thomas' scalp, and he fell to the ground. For a dozen persons to rush and secure him was the work of a moment, and it was then found that the remaining two chambers of his revolver were fully loaded. After the wounded man had been removed the business was resumed as usual. The cause which induced Mr. Thomas to attempt to destroy himself would appear to be business losses. From all that can be gathered, it would appear that business of late had not been so prosperous with him as usual, and he attributed it to the influence of the local manager of the branch of the Bank of Victoria at Heathcote, and he apparently came to Melbourne to have revenge.

The progress made in the work of destroying rabbits in the south-west cannot be regarded as quite satisfactory. The following is the report of the Chief Inspector of Stock to the Minister for Mines for the week ending September 19, respecting the rabbit pest:—"For the week ending the 19th September 28 out of 43 inspectors have reported they have made 104 inspections, travelled over 2298 miles, and found over 550,000 acres infested. They report that on 19 runs the rabbits are increasing, on 21 stationary, and on 36 decreasing. The number of men employed rabbiting is 156, the number required being 268. The efficacy of the bisulphide of carbon as a means of destruction has been proved beyond doubt, and other modes, as trapping and the domestic cat, still show good results. The number of rabbits returned as destroyed is 4142, the unusually small number being due to the heavy rains in various districts having prevented the men from working their full time."

The musical event of the month has been the series of concerts given by Herr Max Vogrich and Miss Alice Rees, but they have not been half as well attended as they should have been. Herr Vogrich is about the best pianist in Australia, and he has been playing excellently; and Miss Rees, whose lovely voice has strengthened and developed very much of late, has seconded his efforts worthily. At the theatres there have been changes, but unimportant ones.

The biggest hall in Sydney, indeed in Australia, was filled night after night by people eager to hear the evangelistic addresses of Mrs. Hampson. Mrs. Hampson shows her unquestionable shrewdness in avoiding ugly singularities of dress. She arrays herself as a woman of the 19th century. There is nothing unworthy of the evangelist in that. Not only almost every woman, but almost every man, is conscious of an instinctive dislike to dress which is apparently meant to be a loud protest against artistic beauty and the passing fashion. In appearing on the platform as her sisters appear on the floor, Mrs. Hampson shows that she understands how things that are trifles in themselves may help or hinder a great work. And the bringing of Evangelical doctrines, backed by her own passionate earnestness, upon gathered crowds in city after city is a great work—one that must be a tremendous tax upon her vitality. This series of huge meetings may be regarded as a triumphant demonstration of the strength—a strength of loyalty as well as of numbers—of the Evangelicals among the Protestant Christians of Sydney.

We notice a proclamation, dated the 18th September instant, which appeared in the Government Gazette of the 19th instant, prohibiting the importation of dogs into New South Wales from any country or colony other than those of Australasia or New Zealand. This measure, we believe, has been taken with a view to prevent the introduction of hydrophobia into the country. We learn that a letter from the Colonial Secretary was addressed to the Government of Victoria, suggesting a six months' quarantine. This proposition is about to be carried out in that colony, and a six months' quarantine has been decided upon in South Australia. After consideration, it was found that the only course open in this colony was to absolutely prohibit their importation, as the law as it now stands does not admit of quarantine regulations being issued for dogs.

Meetings continue to be held in various districts in connection with the libel law and contempt of Court. The present law and practice is much criticised, and a consensus of opinion strongly urges such a modification as may protect the press in the honest discharge of one of its most important functions—the exposure of abuses.

LEGAL.

A case was heard in the Banco Court, on the 20th instant, Robinson v. Moffat, in which the plaintiff sued on a promissory note, of which he was the holder, the defence being that there was no endorsement and delivery of it, so as to make complete endorsement to the plaintiff. In Beveridge v. O'Brien, the action was brought with reference to the purchase of a station near Wagga Wagga, the plaintiff saying that he had been induced to pay the purchase money upon the fraudulent representation of the defendant that it was 25,000 acres in extent, and carried 12,000 sheep, whereas in reality it was only 16,000 acres, and carried no more than 6000 sheep. The defence was that there was no moral fraud in the representation of the plaintiff, and therefore no legal fraud; and that the plaintiff, from his living in the neighbourhood, must have been acquainted with the extent and capabilities of the station. The jury returned a verdict for the defendant.

The case of Toohey v. the Commissioner for Railways came on for hearing a second time on the 21st September. It will be remembered that it was the case in which the question was raised as to the legality of running steam motors through the streets of Sydney. This was argued before the Court, which declared such running of steam motors to be in itself illegal, and a new trial was granted. The Legislature accordingly by a specially convened session provided against the difficulty by legalising them for the future. Mrs. Toohey, the administratrix of the deceased, has now recovered in damages £1350—£350 for herself, and the rest divided proportionately amongst her children.

In the Vice-Admiralty Court, on September 25, his Honor Mr. Justice Windeyer delivered judgment in the Northampton salvage case on the 20th October, 1882. This vessel struck on a rock near Port Hacking, and received considerable damage, but was taken in tow by the steamer Civility, then on her way from Kiama to Sydney, and placed in safety in Botany Bay, after a number of the immigrants on board the injured vessel had been transferred to the Civility. In giving judgment, his Honor said:—"It is not in the interests of the public that owners should be shabbily recompensed when their vessels at some hazard have rendered salvage services of this kind, or that masters should be induced in a time of imminent peril to human life to make nice calculations whether they and their employers will be properly remunerated for the responsibility which they are incurring and the risks to which their employers' property is exposed. For the salvage service which the Civility, at risk to herself, heavily laden with road metal as she was, so promptly rendered to the Northampton in coming alongside of and towing her from her dangerous position, I award the sum of £400, and of this I allot £50 to Stanley Brown, the master of the Civility, making a total sum to be paid by the respondents to the promovent of £935 2s. 6d., together with the costs of this suit." Another steamer had also rendered assistance, the Dairymaid, to the owners of which vessel £100 had been paid.

RELIGIOUS.

The following announcement respecting the appointment of Rev. Canon Barry as Bishop of Sydney was made in St. Andrew's Cathedral on Sunday, September 23:—"It is hereby publicly notified by the authority of the President of the Synod of the Diocese of Sydney, and in accordance with the provisions of an ordinance for the appointment of bishops of the See of Sydney, that the Rev. Alfred Barry, Principal of King's College, London, and Canon of Westminster, Doctor in Divinity, has been duly elected Bishop of this diocese, and as such Bishop he is Metropolitan of the province of New South Wales, and Primate of the diocese constituting the General Synod of the dioceses in Australia and Tasmania."

On October 1 a public meeting, for the distribution of the honours gained by the Sydney and suburban competitors in the recent examinations made by the Sabbath school committee in connection with the Presbyterian Church of New South Wales was held in St. Stephen's Church, Phillip-street. The prizes consisted of a choice selection of well bound and useful books, which were handed to the successful competitors by the president. A number of certificates of honour were also given. During the evening some good music was rendered by the choir of the church. At the close of the meeting the members of the choir presented the organist, Mr. Phillips, with a testimonial, as a token of the appreciation in which his services had been held.

A public meeting in connection with the anniversary of the Newtown Wesleyan Church took place on September 25. The chair was occupied by Mr. Joseph Mitchell, M.L.A. Interesting addresses were delivered by the Rev. R. Caldwell and the Rev. J. Walkden Brown. The financial statement was satisfactory.

THE REV. CHARLES STRONG AND THE SCOTS CHURCH, MELBOURNE.

The annual meeting of the congregation of Scots Church, Collins-street, was held on September 24, at the close of a special meeting held to consider the relations between their pastor and the Melbourne Presbytery. Dr. M'Crea moved a resolution requesting Mr. Strong to retain the pastorate of the congregation as long as he remained in the colony, and remarked that the only way for the congregation to obtain liberty to worship as they pleased was by severing their connection with the Presbyterian Church of Victoria. At the same time, he denied that the congregation did not accept the standards of the Church, and only claimed the right of free interpretation. The motion was carried amidst applause. Mr. Gavan G. Brown moved the next resolution,—"That the congregation should take steps to separate from the Presbyterian Church of Victoria and return to the position it occupied previous to the union." Dr. Morrison strongly opposed the motion. Mr. R. Agnew, who supported the motion, denied that the congregation wished for any alteration of the standards. Several speakers maintained that the presbytery, in depriving the congregation of the services of the Rev. Charles Strong, had given quite enough reason for separation. The Hon. James Lorimer, M.L.C., assured the congregation that so long as the standards were adhered to, and the trustees acted within their powers, no one could interfere with them. The motion was carried by a majority of over 200 to 20 amid loud applause.

The case of the rev. gentleman and the threatened secession of the congregation of the Scots' Church from the Presbyterian Church of Victoria was again brought before the Presbytery of Melbourne on October 2, when long discussions took place regarding them. The fact was commented upon that the Rev. Mr. Strong had never been definitely asked to appear before the Presbytery to state his views. Mr. Strong, it was said, was ready to come forward at the desire of the Presbytery, and was willing to stand or fall by his opinions; but he would not answer the clamours of a few men representing neither the Presbytery nor the church. Hence his silence. Mr. Strong has definitely announced to the Scots' Church congregation that he intends to leave the colony in a few weeks. Steps have been taken to raise a testimonial, open to public subscription, expressive of the high regard and affection felt for him.

THE WEATHER—AGRICULTURAL AND PASTORAL.

The wool harvest is progressing satisfactorily. Over 8000 bales arrived this week by rail, and many of the largest sheds of the West will soon be in full swing. There is no dearth of labour, and the clip although light will be at least equal to that of last year. Many districts of the North-West, West, and South-West are in a precarious condition, the pastures being almost bare, and the remnant of the stock ill-fitted to meet summer. Although the week's record shows that rain fell during the week in several districts, much more moisture is required. In its absence the losses of stock will be extraordinarily heavy. The districts near the coast are well grassed, and the young crops are strong and healthy. Out past Forbes, Narrabri, and Dubbo, the pastures are very bare, and the holders of stations are anxiously looking for a change. Pine scrubs are extending, and it is now plain that, if New South Wales is to keep 40,000,000 of stock, nature must be assisted more liberally.

SEVERE STORMS IN SYDNEY AND THE COUNTRY.

A heavy thunderstorm occurred in Sydney shortly after 7 p.m. on 26th September. The rain fell in torrents, and continued almost without cessation throughout the night. The thunder-claps were extremely violent, and the lightning was very vivid. During the heaviest part of the storm the kerbing and a portion of the verandah in front of Hurst's, jeweller, and Cameron's, hairdresser, George-street, suddenly gave way, completely filling the excavations which had been made for the purpose of repairing the sewer in that locality. The railway, also, at the intersection of King and George streets, sank several inches owing to the force of the water. Reports from the country indicated that the heavy and tempestuous weather had been pretty general. At Newcastle there was a severe thunderstorm, and heavy rain passed over the town, while at Goulburn, Wagga, Gulgong, Tumut, Kiama, Orange, and Tamworth, heavy rain was falling. A terrific thunderstorm visited Taree, in the north. Peals of thunder shook the earth like an earthquake. The Bank of New South Wales was struck by lightning, which caused considerable damage. A portion of the roof was torn right away, and the ceiling fell in, greatly alarming the inmates, who had a narrow escape from instant death. A flash of lightning entered a bedroom, making a large hole in the roof and passing out through the wall. Another resident, who was sitting in his front verandah during the progress of the storm, was struck by a flash of lightning and rendered insensible for some time, while two young men in the next house were also prostrated by the force of the electric fluid. A curious incident occurred in the same town. A man was standing under a lamp-post in the storm smoking his pipe, when a blinding flash of lightning struck him, dashing his pipe out of his mouth. The man's head was twisted round in a most extraordinary fashion, and although he received no fatal injury he had a ride shock. The pipe could not be found afterwards. Heavy rain fell in Sydney almost continuously till the 29th, accompanied by southerly squalls. On the 30th the weather became fine, and remains so.

CRICKET.

At the annual meeting of the Cricket Association held on the 21st instant, the report said:—"The task which has devolved upon the committee of presenting to you a report of the proceedings of the past year once more affords them the opportunity of congratulating you upon the very interesting character of the season 1882-83. The third Australian Eleven which, under the auspices of the Victorian and New South Wales association, visited England at the close of the preceding season, met with very marked success, and achieved the distinction of defeating a representative team of Englishmen on the Surry Oval. The eleven returned to the colonies at the commencement of last season, and their participation in most of the important matches added largely to their attractiveness. The usual intercolonial matches were played during the season at Melbourne on the 26th, 27th, and 29th December, 1882; and in Sydney on the 9th and 10th February, 1883. The former was won by New South Wales and the latter by Victoria. The visit of an English team, under the captaincy of the Hon. Ivo Bligh, rendered the operations of the season unusually interesting and attractive. The first match played by the Englishmen in the colony was against an eleven weakened by the absence from it of the New South Wales contingent of the Australian Eleven, and ended, as was anticipated, in a signal victory for the visitors. It is a matter for regret that a second match which had been arranged against the full strength of the colony fell through, owing to the refusal of the Melbourne club to carry out the engagement entered into. The colony was thus denied an opportunity of testing the prowess of the Englishmen with a representative eleven. The Englishmen, however, played two additional matches in Sydney; one against the Australian Eleven, the other against a combined Australian team. The visitors were victorious in the former match, but suffered defeat in the latter. The committee observe with regret that a team is now being organised for a fourth visit to England. In the first place it appears to the committee that the constant visits of Australians to England and of Englishmen to the colonies are proving disastrous to club cricket, inasmuch as they reduce the number of ordinary club matches within very narrow limits, and tend to impede the progress of young players, inasmuch as they confine all the principal matches to a very select circle of players. In the second place, it appears desirable that any future visits of Australian elevens to England should be under the auspices of the Cricket Associations of the leading colonies. The committee are strongly of opinion that it will be for the interests of cricket if the operations of the now opening season are confined to club matches and the ordinary intercolonial contests." The balance-sheet was as follows:—Dr.—To ground members' account: 1257 subscriptions, £1319 17s.; 493 entrances, £258 16s. 6d.—£1578 13s. 6d.; ground fees account, £331 19s. 3d.; delegate ditto ditto, £10 10s.; intercolonial match ditto, £127 18s. 8d.; commission ditto, £1622 19s. 1d.; sale of bars ditto, £802 1s.; sports ditto, £257 17s. 9d.; football ditto, £85 8s. 3d.; balance, Mercantile Bank, £753 14s. 4d.: £5571 1s. 10d. Balance per bank pass-book, £743 7s. 2d; add unpresented cheques, £10 7s. 1d.; balance above, £753 14s. 4d. Cr.—By Mercantile Bank (overdraft 1st September, 1882), £1110 12s. 10d.; charges account, £880 19s. 2d.; improvement ditto, £820 0s. 9d.; wages ditto, £754 1s. 3d.; debenture redemption account, £1500. Interest account: On debentures, £480; overdraft, £25 7s. 10d.—£505 7s. 10d.: £5571 1s. 10d. Debenture Account: July 1, 1883. To cash, £1500: August 31, balance, £4500: £6000. September 1, 1882. By balance, £6000. Mr. F. H. Dangar was unanimously re-elected president, the proposer making eulogistic reference to Mr. Dangar's love for the game, and to his interest in cricket in the colony. Mr. H. C. Dangar, M.L.C., responded on behalf of his brother, who at present is absent in England. The following gentlemen were proposed as vice-presidents:—Messrs. M. H. Stephen, A. Cameron, E. Barton, P. B. Walker, and W. Clark. Messrs. J. M. Gibson and D. W. Gregory were nominated for the honorary secretaryship, while Messrs. R. Teece and S. Lindeman were proposed for the office of honorary treasurer. The result is as follows:—Vice-presidents, Messrs. M. H. Stephen, P. B. Walker, A. Cameron, and Hon. E. Barton; honorary secretary, Mr. D. W. Gregory; honorary treasurer, Mr. S. Lindeman.

THE BANK ROBBERY IN MELBOURNE.

It was reported in our last summary that 14 bars of gold and a large number of mutilated notes had been abstracted from the strong-room of the Commercial Bank, Melbourne. The matter was placed in the hands of three detectives, who succeeded in tracing the thief and recovering the whole of the bullion and notes taken by him. The person arrested was a young man named Richard Henry Corbett, son of the messenger of the bank. It appears that young Corbett was apprenticed to a blacksmith in Sydney, but more recently was taken into the Commercial Bank to assist his father, and not long before a mysterious robbery of £1000 was committed from the bank. He was lately reported to be in Sydney again. He was telegraphed to, and a reply was sent to the effect that he had gone to New Zealand. In reality, however, he came to Melbourne, and there went to a locksmith, from whom he obtained duplicate keys of the bank strong-room. Hearing of the expected arrival of the bars of gold, he lurked about the bank and eventually got in, and from the strong-room, whilst unobserved, he carried off as much as he could carry. The detectives having ascertained that he was staying at an hotel at Sandridge, they went there to examine his room. Then they learned that he had represented himself as the son of a bank manager. In his portmanteau the officers found three bars of gold; also a quantity of notes and gold of the value of upwards of £112. Corbett had a double-barrelled revolver, loaded, also a sword-stick. He was arrested by Detectives Brown, Potter, Nixon, and Ward. After his arrest he confessed fully and freely that he had committed the robbery, and had got the keys made for the strong-room. He said that the remainder of the gold had been planted in the Emerald Hill swamp. He took the detectives to a spot where the alleged plant was, but there was no sign of any. He was conveyed back to the city watchhouse and lodged there. The police again interviewed young Corbett, and ascertained that three of the missing bars of gold were hidden in a recess in one of the windows of the front office of the bank. They went to the place described, and found the three bars of gold, valued at £2000, and a bundle of the missing notes to the value of nearly £500. Later on Corbett offered to the detectives to show them where the balance of the gold was, and stated it was "somewhere in the Mordialloc district." Accordingly, on the 25th September, Detectives Nixon, Ward, Potter, and Brown took the prisoner in a drag to Mordialloc. Upon arriving there, they went to a spot pointed out to them near the beach, carefully watching Corbett, who made no attempt to escape. Near Rennison's Hotel Corbett kicked up some sand, and disclosed two bars of gold. Not far off, under a tree, he told the detectives to make a further search, which they did, and at the spot indicated they unearthed a canvas bag buried, and in it they found the remaining eight bars of gold and the missing notes. The prisoner stated that before the robbery he was waiting outside the bank for several nights in expectation of the arrival of gold from the country branches. When the gold from Ballarat arrived, he sneaked into the bank unobserved, and having obtained access to the strong room, he took 14 of the bars and the notes. Three of these bars he hid under the window, and only took away as much as he could carry. When crossing the Yarra, on his way to Sandridge, he threw the duplicate keys of the strong room into the river. A day or two after the robbery he engaged a vehicle to take eight of the bars of gold and a portion of the stolen notes to Mordialloc, where he planted the plunder. He felt sure he would have no difficulty in subsequently removing what he had left in the bank. The bank directors have received a large number of applications for the reward of £1000 offered by them for information respecting the recent robbery. A board is being appointed, to which all the claims will be referred. The directors have dismissed Corbett, the bank messenger, who has been eight years in their employ. Lest more duplicate keys should be in existence, all the locks throughout the strong-room and on the safes on the bank premises have been removed and others substituted. Henry Corbett was brought before the City Police Court on October 2, charged with the Commercial Bank robbery. His solicitor announced that he would plead guilty at the Criminal Court. The case lasted all day, and, at its close, the prisoner was committed for trial.

MINING.

There is nothing new to report in mining since the departure of last mail, and the advices from the various goldfields show that while work is progressing steadily, the yields are not on the increase. The Tarcutta field, in the Murrumbidgee district, is to be thoroughly tested, and a company, called the Intercolonial Gold-mining Company, has been formed, and expect shortly to commence operations. It is stated that the best proof of the richness of these veins at Tarcutta is supplied by the fact that a local landowner takes an immense interest in the undertaking, and has pegged out the site for a township adjacent to the reefs. In copper-mining, we learn by recent advices from Eugowra that a copper lode has been discovered near that place, and some splendid specimens have been brought in.

LABOUR MARKET.

The following are the prices paid for labour in some of the principal trades of the colony. In compiling the list regard has been had, in setting down the minimum and maximum, to the circumstance that the earnings of some men of more than average competency are something in excess of the maximum, and that others taking up certain classes of work for which they are not specially fitted earn less than the minimum. In each of those cases the earnings are exceptional, and it has been ascertained that the rates given below are those paid as a rule:—

Printing Trade.—Compositors, on newspapers, 1s. to 1s. 1d. per 1000; bookwork, 1s. per 1000; jobbing, £2 10s. to £3 per week.

Building Trades.—All labour is paid by the day of eight hours. Carpenters, 10s. to 12s. (city), 13s. (suburbs); stonemasons, 11s. to 12s.; stonemasons' labourers, 8s. to 10s.; plasterers, 11s. to 14s.; plasterers' labourers, 8s. to 10s.; bricklayers, 12s. to 13s.; bricklayers' labourers, 8s. to 10s.; painters, 9s. to 11s.; joiners, 10s. to 12s.; plumbers, 11s. to 12s.; gasfitters, 9s. to 11s.; sawmill hands, 9d. to 1s. per hour.

Iron Trades.—The following rates are paid by the hour, the men working eight hours a day, with two breaks in summer and one in winter. Iron-turners, 1s. to 1s. 5½d.; engine-fitters, 1s. to 1s. 5d.; shipsmiths, 1s. to 1s. 6d.; blacksmiths, 1s. to 1s. 6d.; blacksmiths' strikers, 9d. to 10½d.; ironmoulders, 1s. to 1s. 5d.; pattern-makers, 1s. to 1s. 4½d.; boilermakers, 1s. to 1s. 4d.; boilermakers' assistants, 9d. to 10½d.; general labourers in ironworks, 8½d. to 10½d.; engine-drivers, 9½d. to 1s. 4d., or £2 2s. to £2 10s. per week; furnacemen, 10d. to 1s. 3d.; dressers, 8½d. to 1s.; machinemen in fitting shop, 10d. to 1s. 2d. Country blacksmiths receive from £75 to £80 per annum, with rations or board.

Brass and Copper Trades.—At per hour, the men working eight hours a day, with one break. Brass-finishers, 1s. to 1s. 6d.; brass-moulders, 1s. 2d. to 1s. 3d.; coppersmiths, 1s. 2d. to 1s 6d.

Brickmakers, £1 2s. 6d. to £1 5s. per thousand; pipemakers, £2 10s. to £3 per week; potters, £2 10s. to £3 ditto.

Coachbuilders (eight hours).—Coachsmiths, 1s. to 1s. 3d. per hour; body and carriage makers, 1s. to 1s. 2d. per hour; painters, 10d. to 1s. 2d. per hour; coach-trimmers, 1s. to 1s. 3d. per hour.

Wheelwrights.—City, 1s. to 1s. 3d. per hour; country, £3 10s. per week.

Shipwrights, 9s. to 12s. a day of eight hours; sawyers in mill, 9d. to 1s. 3d. per hour.

Tailors (paid by the piece) can earn about £2 10s. to £3 10s. per week, thoroughly efficient and skilled workmen can earn as much as £4, and in some establishments £4 10s.

Shoemakers earn on an average from £1 15s. to £2 10s. per week; saddlers, £2 to £2 10s. per week, exceptionally good hands £3 per week.

Tinsmiths, who work by the piece and by the day, and, in different establishments, 10 hours a day, can earn from £2 10s. to £3 6s. per week. Galvanized iron workers, working 8 hours per day, can earn from £2 10s. to £3 per week; black iron workers, working 8 hours per day, can earn from £1 10s. to £2 2s. per week; working 9½ hours per day, can earn up to £2 15s. per week.

Coopers.—Those who work by the day are paid at the rate of 12s., or £3 7s. 3d. per week of 56 hours; the greater part of the work is, however, done by piece. The rates are as follows:—Wine casks: 450 gallons, £2 6s.; 500 gallons, £2 16s.; 550 gallons, £3 6s.; 600 gallons, £3 16s., 4s. extra being paid in each case for making the manhole. Oil and water casks, £1 per ton. Brewers' casks: Hogsheads, 8s.; half-hogsheads, 3s. 9d.; and kilderkins, 3s. 6d. each; barrels made from hogsheads, 9 and 10 gallon kegs, 3s. Spirit kegs: 16 to 20 gallons, new oak, 4s. 6d.; ditto, bent staves, 3s. 6d.; 11 to 15 gallon, new oak, 4s.; ditto, bent staves, 3s. 3d. Tallow casks: Split staves, per ton, 15s.; sawn staves, 4 x 1, 12s. 6d.; ditto, 3 x 1, 12s. 6d. Beef tierces: Split staves, 5s.; ditto, dry bent, 3s. 6d.; beef kegs, 10 gallon split staves, 2s 9d. Harness casks, 40 and 50 lb., 3s.; ditto, 2 cwt., 7s.; ditto, 5 cwt., 12s. 6d. Pork barrels, split staves, 4s.; ditto, dry bent, 3s. Butter kegs, from 2s. 3d. to 2s. 9d. Barrel churns, 12s. to 20s.; upright churns, 15 inches and under, 4s. 6d.; treacle hogsheads 6s. 6d., kegs (1cwt.), 3s.; ditto, 3 cwt., split, 4s. 6d. Oval kegs, from 5s. 6d to 15s. Washing-tubs, 12 inches to 30 inches, from 4s. to 8s. Cheese vats, up to 20lb., 3s. to 4s. Tobacco, half-tierces, 7s.; ditto, quarter-tierces, 5s. Well buckets, 5s. to 7s.

Domestic Servants.—Cooks: Females, £40 to £78; males, £50 to £90; laundresses, £45 to £52 ditto; house and parlour maids, £28 to £40 ditto; general servants, £28 to £40; nursemaids, £20 to £30; grooms and coachmen, £45 to £60.

Station Hands.—Including rations or board: Married couples (without encumbrance), £65 to £85 per annum; farm labourers, £40 to £52 ditto; bullock drivers, £40 to £52 ditto; horse-team drivers, £40 to £65 ditto; boundary riders, £40 to £52 ditto; stockmen, £40 to £75 ditto; shepherds, £35 to £45 ditto; gardeners, £40 to £52 ditto; useful boys, £25 to £35 ditto; roadmakers, 6s. to 8s. per day of 9 hours.

Lumpers and Wharf Labourers.—Day work for handling general cargo, 1s. per hour; ditto for handling coal, 1s. 6d. per hour; night work, 1s. 6d. per hour.

Corporation Labourers.—Skilled labourers, 8s. to 11s. per day of eight hours; unskilled ditto, 7s.; carters (finding horse and cart), 11s. 6d. per day.

REVENUE RETURNS.

New South Wales.—An abstract of the revenue returns will be found in our commercial reviews.

Victoria.—The revenue returns for the quarter and for the year ending September 30 shows that in the Customs the revenue for the quarter was £449,509, and for the year £1,766,693. This is a substantial increase on the previous years. Excise and inland revenue show a falling off both for the quarter and for the year; the decrease is mainly in the beer tax and the tobacco duties. The total for the year was £521,663, as against £591,450 for the previous year. The territorial revenue also fell from £175,696 to £138,834 on the quarter, and from £806,992 to £643,071 on the year. There is a great falling off in the proceeds of auction sales, which declined for the year from £131,101 to £59,815. The Public Works, the Ports and Harbours, the Post and Telegraph Departments show a good increase both for the quarter and for the year. The total revenue for the quarter was £1,399,765, being a decrease of £12,875. The total revenue for the year amounts to £5,589,191.

South Australia.—The approximate revenue returns for the quarter ending 30th September give a total of £494,896, being nearly £50,000 less than the fourth of the estimate for the year, and £42,000 less than the corresponding period of last year. The Customs revenue has declined £21,000, and the land sales £22,000. The postal and telegraphs revenue shows an increase of £4000, and the railway £12,000.

Queensland.—The total revenue proper for the quarter ended the 30th September was £709,000, showing an increase of £59,896 on the corresponding period of last year. The principal increase is in the Customs, which is £15,000, and in the railway receipts £30,000. There is also an increase under Pastoral Occupation of £31,000. The land revenue, on the contrary, shows a decrease of £15,000. The expenditure for the past quarter was £107,072, being an increase of £51,924. The expenditure on the loan fund was £414,000, being an increase of £16,479. The credit balance on the 30th September was £613,591.

AUSTRALASIAN STATISTICS.

Mr. Hayter has just issued a preliminary resumé of the statistics of the Australasian colonies for the year 1882, from returns furnished by the Governments of all the colonies, with the exception of New South Wales. The figures relating to New South Wales are stated to have been derived from various sources, chiefly official, and are believed to be accurate in most, if not all, cases. The estimated population of the various colonies on the 31st of December last was:—Victoria, 936,225; New South Wales, 817,468; New Zealand, 517,707; Queensland, 248,255; South Australia, 293,509; Tasmania, 122,479; Western Australia, 30,766; making a total population throughout Australasia of 2,936,409. During the year the births numbered 99,952, deaths 43,151, and the marriages 22,607. The average of births in Victoria was 30·04 per 1000 of the population, and New South Wales 37·16, while the other colonies averaged—Queensland, 35·85; South Australia, 37·40; Western Australia, 35·81; Tasmania, 33·50; New Zealand, 37·32; total average percentage, 34·73. The deaths averaged 15·31 in Victoria, 16·03 in New South Wales, and 17·99 in Queensland, the other colonies ranging between 11·19 in New Zealand are 15·79 in Tasmania. The whole of the colonies, with the exception of Western Australia and Tasmania, are ahead of Victoria in the marriage rate, but the differences are not very great, the averages being—Victoria, 7·08; New South Wales, 8·69; Queensland, 8·56; South Australia, 8·73; Western Australia, 7·07; Tasmania, 8·03; New Zealand, 7·07; total marriage rate for Australasia, 7·86. The arrivals in Victoria during the year were—59,404 by sea and the departures in the same way were 48,524. To and from the other colonies there were—New South Wales, 47,289 arrivals, and 27,972 departures; Queensland, 27,000 arrivals and 9957 departures; South Australia, 11,870 arrivals and 14,136 departures; Western Australia, 932 arrivals and 848 departures; Tasmania, 12,822 arrivals and 11,403 departures; New Zealand, 10,945 arrivals and 7455 departures. In the matter of the value of the imports and exports New South Wales was during the year far ahead of all her competitors. The figures were Victoria: Imports, £18,748,081; exports, £16,193,579. New South Wales: Imports, £21,281,130; exports, £16,716,961. The trade of the other colonies was comparatively small. The total imports for Australasia were £63,844,359, and the exports £50,638,335. The average rate of revenue, &c., per head of the population in the various colonies is given as follows:—

INTERCOLONIAL.

Victoria.

The Supreme Court quashed the judgment recently passed by the Pilot Board, suspending the certificate of Pilot Gafford, who was in charge of the George Roper at the time of her wreck. The decision was given principally on technical points, as to the power of the Pilot Board.—A large and enthusiastic meeting of citizens was held at Ballarat on Saturday, to protest against the Pacific Islands being used by any Power as receptacles for convicts, and also to urge the Imperial Government to annex New Guinea and the other Islands adjacent to Australia and New Zealand.—In the debate in the Assembly on the Mallee Leases Bill Mr. Bosisto moved as a compromise that the tenure of B blocks should be seven years, instead of five, as provided by the bill, or ten as suggested last week. Mr. Kerferd stated that the Government must stick to the bill. He considered that the compensation offered for improvements with five years' tenure sufficient to reimburse the occupier for the outlay in destroying vermin. After a long discussion on the amendment, the bill was read a third time and passed.—The Premier has received a cable message from the Agent-General, stating that Major-Gen. Scratchley, Major Disney, and Capt. Thomas approve of the defence scheme prepared by Major Sargood, copies of which were forwarded to London.—The Gippsland farmers oppose the reduction of the duty on maize proposed in the draft report of the Tariff Commission, partly because maize can be landed cheaper in Melbourne from Sydney than from Gippsland.—The Education Commission met and recalled the Rev. N. Cahill, who, in the course of his evidence, mentioned that only four Roman Catholic schools had been, to his knowledge, granted to the Redmond Brothers for their lectures.—From the pulpits of the Roman Catholic churches on Sunday, September 29, it was announced, as an instruction from the Archbishop of Melbourne, that for the future the church burial service would be read only over the remains of those who had lived as good practical Catholics. All priests of the archdiocese were charged faithfully to observe this instruction.—The convict Robert Burns, who was sentenced to death for the murder of his mate at Wickliffe, was executed at Ararat on September 25.—George M'Ewan, a well-known resident of Dunolly, drowned himself in the local reservoir. His brother was killed at Ballarat on the previous day, and this occurrence is supposed to have seriously affected his mind.—At the conference of the Melbourne Chambers of Commerce and Manufactures, held on September 25, it was resolved:—"1. That, in view of the rapid progress of the Australian colonies, the time has arrived to sink minor differences, and combine to form a united dominion in Australasia. 2. That, as a prelude to federation, the Government be urged to try and arrange for intercolonial free trade in colonial goods. 3. That, failing this, the Government be urged to arrange for intercolonial free trade in all goods upon which the duties are the same in all the colonies. 4. That, in the opinion of this conference, Parliament should be allowed an early opportunity of discussing the desirability of repealing the stock tax, as recommended by the Royal Commission on the tariff. 5. That this conference specially urges upon the Government the importance of arranging for free interchange in colonial wines, more especially as between New South Wales, South Australia, and Victoria, the amount of the duty collected being wholly inadequate to compensate for the disadvantages attendant upon the imposition of the tax."—Messrs. Howard Smith and Sons have formally transferred their steamship business to a limited liability company, to trade under the same name. Captain W. H. Smith will be chairman of the directors in Melbourne, and Mr. E. E. Smith in Sydney. The capital of the company is £1,000,000, in 100,000 shares of £10 each.—The divorce case, Bolam v. Bolam, was closed before the Divorce Court on Saturday. After the addresses from counsel on either side, the Chief Justice summed up, without appearing to lead the jury to one side or the other. The jury having retired, after two hours' deliberation, returned into court, when the foreman said there was no probability of their agreeing. They were again locked up for two hours, and then failing to agree, were discharged. It is understood that five jurymen were for returning a verdict against Mrs. Bolam for adultery at Dunolly, and seven were against that decision.—The Education Commission took the evidence of Mr. N. Fitzgerald, M.L.C., who pointed out that since 1873 the Roman Catholics had spent £31,567 on schools and lands, and £96,570 was paid in salaries. There were 24,215 children attending Catholic schools. The delay of the Roman Catholic body in furnishing statistics to the Education Commission as to attendance at the Roman Catholic schools is the subject of comment, taken in conjunction with the recent Church command to withhold the burial service except where deceased had been good practical Catholics. It is believed that the object of the delay is to secure increased attendance at the Denominational schools in order to utilise the swollen rolls.

QUEENSLAND.

The Premier has concluded an arrangement with the New South Wales Government, whereby this colony secures the use of the Orient mail service on the same terms as New South Wales; thus Queensland will have a fortnightly service at a 6d. rate of postage.—Parliament has been further prorogued to the 6th of November; it will probably meet for the despatch of business on the 13th of that month.—The official correspondence has been published which passed between the Governor of Hongkong and Lord Derby with reference to the proposal of Messrs. Butterfield and Swire, a commercial firm in Hongkong, to send indented Chinese emigrants to Queensland. Lord Derby, in forwarding the correspondence to the Governor of Queensland, states that he has instructed the Governor of Hongkong not to allow Chinese emigration to Queensland under contract of service without further instructions.—No less than 1297 immigrants were landed at Brisbane during last week, besides those landed at the northern ports, and 7900 more are now on their way.—The following members have been returned to the Assembly:—Aubigny, Hon. P. Perkins; Balonne, Hon. B. D. Morehead; Blackall, Hon. A. Archer; Bowen, Hon. C. E. Chubb; Bulimba, J. F. Buckland; Bundanba, J. Foote; Clermont, D. S. Wallace; Dalby, J. S. Jessop; Enoggera (2), J. R. Dickson and J. L. Hale; Fassifern, A. Midgley; Fortitude Valley, F. Beattie; Gregory, T. M'Whannell; Gympie, W. Smith; Ipswich, J. Macfarlane and W. Salkeld; Leichhardt, J. Scott and C. B. Dutton; Logan, E. J. Stevens; Mackay, M. H. Black; Maranoa, J. Lalor; Maryborough (2), R. B. Sheridan and J. Hurley; Moreton, J. F. Garrick; Mulgrave, Hon. Sir T. M'Ilwraith; Normanby, J. Stevenson; North Brisbane, Hon. S. W. Griffith and W. Brookes; Northern Downs, H. M. Nelson; Oxley, S. Grimes; Port Curtis, Hon. A. Norton; Rockhampton (2), J. Ferguson and W. K. Higson; Rosewood, J. B. L. Isambert; South Brisbane, S. Fraser and H. Jordan; Stanley, P. White and W. Kellett; Townsville, J. M. Macrossan; Wide Bay, M. Mellor and W. G. Bailey; Drayton and Toowoomba, R. Aland and W. H. Groom; Warwick, J. Horwitz; Darling Downs, Messrs. Kates and Miles. The result is a complete defeat of the Ministry. The pending elections cannot affect the state of parties.

SOUTH AUSTRALIA.

The important case of Joseph Thompson v. Blackler and others, in the Supreme Court, has concluded. Plaintiff, a bookmaker, who had been charged for admission to the racecourse, claimed that defendants' lease of a portion of the East Park lands should be set aside as bad. He applied also for an injunction restraining defendants from charging admission to the grounds which they use as a racecourse; and he also claimed £5000 damages for illegal arrest and for assault. Plaintiff's counsel contended that, under the Municipal Corporation Act, the park lands could not be leased except by a special Act, their lease already granted having expired. A verdict was entered for Thompson, with 40s. damages; the Court declaring defendants' lease bad, and granting an injunction restraining defendants from charging admission to the course. Defendants will have to pay the costs of all the proceedings since the commencement of the action. The matter will, however, be brought before the City Council at the next meeting, with a view to consider the advisability of obtaining a fresh Act.—In consequence of the decision of the Supreme Court in the case of Thompson v. Blackler, the Marine Board doubt their power to allow the jetties to be used for the purposes of profit in connection with aquatics.—In the Assembly, on the 27th September, the Chief Secretary, on being interrogated relative to the attitude of the Government upon the Pacific annexation question, replied that the Government having already forwarded a minute expressing their views on the question, did not intend, as suggested, to send a telegram to the Agent-General with the object of obtaining definite information from the Earl of Derby as to the position which France intends taking up in respect to the annexation of the New Hebrides and the deportation of French convicts to the Pacific islands.—The Government were again defeated on the taxation proposals, which the House finally rejected, with but little discussion, by 18 to 13. Immediately the result was known the remainder of the Government business was postponed till Tuesday, in order to afford the Government time to consider their position.—The Government are making early and active exertions towards the construction of the railway works recently authorised in the Northern Territory. Mr. James, who conducted the preliminary survey of the line from Palmerston to Pine Creek, has been appointed to superintend the whole of the permanent surveys and other works on behalf of the Government.—A return of metals and minerals exported from South Australia, laid on the table of the Assembly, gives the total value of all mineral exports from 1842 to 1882 at £17,562,735, including 2,783,656cwt. of copper, valued at £11,807,263; 23,355cwt. of lead, valued at £49,637; 512,229 25-28th tons of copper ore, valued at £5,401,104; 7343¾ tons lead ore, valued at £124,880; and 3075 tons regulus, valued at £118,516. The gold exported from the Northern Territory from August 14, 1880, to December 31, 1880, amounted to 7463¾oz., valued at £26,523. The amount exported during the year ended December 31, 1881, was 31,509½oz., valued at £119,914 19s.; and during the year ended December 31, 1882, the amount was 23,016oz., valued at £80,721; these making the total export £17,781,923 10s. since the year 1842.—There was some excitement in the South Australian Legislative Assembly on October 2, consequent upon an expectation that the Ministry would resign owing to the adverse vote passed in the House last week, when the Government taxation scheme was under consideration. The galleries were crowded by persons anxious to know what the Government intended to do, and the Ministerial statement was eagerly listened to. The Chief Secretary, who was equal to the occasion, disappointed the office-seekers. He said the Ministry were not to be bluffed or chaffed out of office, and as they believed they still commanded a majority in the House, they had no present intention of resigning. They intended to reintroduce the taxation scheme next week. He challenged the Opposition to put a direct vote of want of confidence, and it was not done.

TASMANIA.

Shocks of earthquake still continue to be felt at intervals on the East Coast, but they are not now so severe as formerly.—Bishop Sandford is on a visit to Launceston, where he has received a most hearty welcome.—Mining prospects on the island are rather improving. There has been a proposal made to grant £500 to test the quartz lodes at a great depth.

NEW ZEALAND.

The Hon. Frederick Whitaker, Premier and Attorney-General, has resigned the Premiership owing to the claims of his private business. The Colonial Treasurer, the Hon. Harry A. Atkinson, undertook the formation of a new Ministry, which has been announced as follows:—Hon. H. A. Atkinson, Premier and Colonial Treasurer, also Commissioner of Customs; Hon. William Rolleston, Minister of Lands and for Immigration; Hon. John Bryce, Minister of Native Affairs; Hon. Thomas Dick, Colonial Secretary, Minister of Justice and of Education; Hon. W. W. Johnston, Minister of Public Works; Hon. E. T. Conolly, Attorney-General; Hon. R. Oliver, Postmaster-General, and Commissioner of Telegraphs.—The Hon. H. A. Atkinson, the present Premier, together with the Hon. F. Whitaker, the late Premier, will represent New Zealand at the annexation conference.—A fresh trouble arose with the natives in the Waikato country, in the provincial district of Auckland. The Government has recently placed beacons and buoys in Kawhia harbour, and these the natives have removed and destroyed; at the same time ordering all Europeans who have settled there to leave forthwith, under threats of violence if they remain. The natives living on one side of the harbour have removed with their families to the other side. It has been proved that the removal of the buoys from the harbour of Kawhia was directed by Tawhiao.—The Hon. J. Bryce, the Native Minister, goes to Kawhia to establish a constabulary station there.

WESTERN AUSTRALIA.

The Executive Council at Perth has decided to reduce the port charges at King George Sound as follows:—A charge is to be made of 2½d. per ton on the net tonnage of vessels; but in case of steamers calling for coals, putting in for shelter or for supplies, and no breaching cargo, the maximum charge to be £10.—A commission has been appointed to inquire into the present arrangements for the customary treatment and employment of native prisoners. The commission will suggest alterations or improvements, and will also investigate the method of dealing with sick and infirm aboriginals in the settled districts. The members gazetted are the Surveyor-General, Judge Stone, and Messrs. Shenton, Brown, Marmion, Johnstone, and Waylen.—Bishop Perry is visiting the North-west settlements, where he will remain till the end of October.—Governor Broome laid the first telegraph pole of the overland line between Northampton and Roebourne, the latter terminus being destined to connect with Sir Julius Vogel's cable scheme.—Mr. George Shenton and Dr. Scott are the only candidates for the mayoralty of Perth.—The King George's Sound Pastoral Company of Melbourne have chartered the steamer Ocean to take sheep to the Kimberley district, where the company own a 1,000,000 acres of first-class land on the Meda River. The capital of the company is £50,000.

PUBLIC COMPANIES' REPORTS.

SYDNEY COFFEE PALACE COMPANY.—The annual meeting of the Sydney Coffee Palace Hotel Company, Limited, was held on the 28th September; Mr. B. James, jun., chairman. The report showed that the revenue for the twelve months ended 31st August had been £31,836, previous balance £29, making a total of £31,865. On the other side, provisions had absorbed £19,924; trade expenses, £11,278; leaving a balance of £663, which was placed to depreciation account by writing off the company's assets as follows:—Building account, No. 1 Palace, £200; building account, No. 2 Palace, £163; preliminary expenses, £300. The report was adopted. Mr. S. E. Lees and the Rev. J. Barnier were re-elected directors, and Messrs. W. H. Chater and B. H. Chapman auditors. A vote of thanks was passed to the directors and manager.

SYDNEY LLOYD'S ASSOCIATION.—The first annual meeting of Sydney Lloyd's Association was held on September 28; Mr. T. F. Waller in the chair. The report showed the net premiums to have been £9978. The losses had been inconsiderable. Out of the balance of £8035, it was resolved to give the insurers a bonus of 10 per cent. The report was adopted. Messrs. W. H. Armstrong, C. Hope, and M. C. Cowlishaw were appointed a committee for the ensuing 12 months. A vote of thanks was passed to the board of management.

MONETARY REVIEW.

The money market continues without any noteworthy change. The Bank rates are:—For deposits 4, 5, and 6 per cent. for three, six, and 12 months respectively. Discount, 7, 8, and 9 per cent. for three, four, and five months' bills. Exchange on London, 60 days' sight, 15s. per cent. premium selling, 5s. per cent. discount buying. During the month Butler's Tin-mining Company, Limited, capital £20,000, in £1 shares, has been formed. The prospectus of the Co-operative Building and Steam Joinery Company, Limited, Balmain, has been issued; capital, £10,000, in shares of £1 each.

Abstracts of the revenue receipts and expenditure for the quarter ended 30th September show that the total revenue proper for the quarter was £1,391,348, a decrease of £360,071 on the corresponding quarter of 1882. Taxation yielded £459,459 against £490,621. The Customs returned £383,314 compared with £398,961, the chief items in which there were reductions being specific duties to the extent of £7358, tea to the amount of £5517, ale and beer £2193. Except spirits, tobacco, and opium, which gave some slight increase, all other articles yielded a smaller income than in the corresponding quarter of last year. Refined sugar and molasses gave £10,466, a decrease of £5133. The increase from stamps fell off from £57,580 to £48,513; and the return from licenses was reduced from £16,595 to £13,578, the retail licenses for fermented and spirituous liquors, and the billiard and bagatelle licenses, representing the whole of the reduction. The total land revenue was £221,125, as compared with £653,111, in the same quarter last year. The chief falling-off was in the items under the head of sales. There were the following reductions among others:—Auction sales, £157,556; selection after auction, £184,833; deposits on conditional purchases, £72,450. The interest from land conditionally purchased was £6151, against £12,656. There was a reduction of £1686 in the amount of rent received from runs, and of £770 in the proceeds of auriferous leases. Other items showed very little change. The total receipts for services rendered amounted to £647,941, showing a substantial increase of £88,728. Of this increase the railway returned £72,615, the receipts being £502,428. The Post Office yielded £109,543, an increase of £20,939. The Public school fees fell off from £10,211 to £5031; other items exhibited no very marked change, unless it be that the Mint receipts, amounting to £1417, were less by £681. General miscellaneous receipts were £62,522, against £48,473 in the corresponding quarter of 1882. The trust funds receipts amounted to £799,146, an increase of £216,502. Looking at the year's revenue we find that taxation yielded £1,875,362, against £1,900,388 in the previous year; the Customs figures showing scarcely any change for the two periods. The land revenue was £1,983,014, against £2,901,184; receipts for services rendered, £2,578,339, against £1,243,303; and miscellaneous receipts, £266,086, against £138,433. The total year's revenue proper was £6,702,802, compared with £7,255,251, a decrease of £552,451. The quarter's expenditure amounted to £1,609,860. At the close of the quarter there was an overdraft of £902,396, on the Sydney account, at the Bank of New South Wales, and one of £397,633 on the London account, without taking into consideration any portion of the proceeds of the late loan of £3,000,000, but against this there were special deposits in the bank to the amount of £864,198, leaving a cash debit balance of £435,831. Securities were held to the value of £628,382, leaving a net credit balance of £192,551.

The following is a return of the Customs collections at Sydney for the period from 1st January to 30th September, for the years 1882 and 1883 respectively:—

September	115,211 14 6	September	99,941 0 5
Total	£955,329 9 1	Total	£958,602 19 4

Decrease for the above period, £636 9s. 9d.

In the Stock and Share market business has not been very active, except in mining stocks, some of which have fluctuated in value very considerably. Other stocks for the most part have exhibited very little change.

BANKS.—The transactions in bank stocks have not been numerous. Commercial, New South Wales, and Federal are dearer, others without change. The course of sales has been:—Commercial, 106, 107; Joint Stock, 16½, 16¾, 16⅝; City, 13⅞, 13¾; Mercantile, 5¾, £5 16s.; New South Wales, 57½, 58; New Zealand, Sydney register, 23⅞—New Zealand register, 22¼; Queensland National, 9⅞, 9¼, 9¾, 9⅞; Union, 67½.

STEAM.—The amount of business done in steam was not large, and quotations have been steady. Australasian sold at 20¾ and 20⅞. Balmain Ferry quitted at 16s. 6d. and 17s. For Hunter River 11 was paid, for Newcastle 20s. 3d., for North Shore Ferry 30s., and for Port Jackson 75s.

INSURANCE.—But few sales have been reported. General have been sold at 95s.; Pacific are dearer, with sales from 73s. to 75s. Sydney Marine and United are both dearer. City Mutual sold at 10d. and 11d., and Mercantile Mutual have realised 2s., 2s. 1d., 2s. 2d., and 2s. 1d.

MISCELLANEOUS.—Stocks under this head have been very steady, except Sydney Freehold, which are dearer, and Shale and Oil, which are lower. Australian Gaslight have sold at 12⅛, 12⅝, and 12¼; new shares (10s. paid), at from 57s. 6d. to 59s.; another 10s. has since been paid. Castlemaine Brewery have sold at 24s. 6d.; Commercial Building and Investment at 57s. 6d. to 60s. 6d.; Hudson Brothers, at 12s. 9d. and 12s 6d.; Shale and Oil, at 18s. 6d., 18s., 17s., and 16s. 6d.; Exchange at 12; Saywell's Tobacco at 19s.

MINING.—In stocks under this head a good many sales have been reported. Except Bulli, which have been steady, coal shares have advanced. Wallsend are 39s. dearer, with business at 28; Waratah have gone up 20s., and sold at 13 to 14; Vale of Clwydd have advanced 2s. 6d., and sold at 27s. 3d. to 29s. 3d. Great Cobar are 4s. dearer, and have been placed at from 72s. to 76s. Nymagee sold at from 46s. down to 46s. 9d cum div. of 2s. 6d., with business at 44s. ex div. In New Mount Hope business was done at 61s. Brickwood tin are 10s. dearer, with sales at from 16s. to 24s 3d.; Wesley are 8s. 6d. higher, having been sold at 6s. 9d. to 15s. 3d. Band and Albion are lower, with sales at from 35s. to 41s., and afterwards at 28s. 3d. and 28s., the market having fluctuated considerably. Some business was done in Barmedman at 8s., 7s. 6d., 8s. 3d., 8s., and 7s. 6d., the market closing with seller at 8s.

DEBENTURES.—New South Wales debentures, due 1896, were sold at 100.

COMMERCIAL REVIEW.

EXPORT MARKETS.—Although the fleece is now coming to hand pretty freely, about 33,000 bales having arrived since our last, the auction catalogues are yet inconsiderable, and chiefly comprise fellmongered parcels of scoured, which sell up to 21d.; medium lots of greasy have realised 8d. to 10d. Sheepskins have been scarcely so firm: best lots sell at from 6d. to 7½d.; medium, 4d. to 5d.; and inferior from 1½d. At the weekly auction sales of the past month 1280 packages of tallow were disposed of; the market closes scarcely so firm. Prime mutton, £35 10s. to £36; and best beef, £34 to £35. 21,900 hides have been disposed of publicly during the month. There is scarcely any change to notice in the market. Extra heavy are quoted at 4d. to 4½d; medium, 3½d. to 3¾d.; and light, from 3d. Horns have commanded ready sale at from 30s. to 40s. per 100 for large and sound; smaller sizes in less request at from 5s. for small. Bones have brought better values, and may be quoted at from £4 to £11 per ton. Horse tail is worth 15d. to 18d. per lb.; mane, 9d. to 11d.; cowhair from 4d. to 14½d. Beeswax sells readily at from 8d. to 10½d. The leather market is dull. At this week's sales the prices realised were—Kip, 10½d. to 16d.; sole, 8d. to 10½d.; damaged, from 4½d.; calf, 18d. to 30d.; harness, 11d. to 13d.; yearling, 18d. to 23d.; tweed, 13½d. to 21½d.; bridle, 6s. 6d. to 11s.; bag, 2s. 6d. to 12s.; kangaroo, 20d. to 35d.; strapping, 4d. to 6d.; collar, 7s. to 8s.; basils, 5s. to 13s. Copra, sun dried, is worth £14 12s. 6d.; pearlshell, gold-edged, £128 10s. to £129 10s.

The following are the clearances since the 6th September:—The Gulf of Carpentaria (s.), for London, via Melbourne and Adelaide, with 5856 bales wool, 135 casks tallow, 6 packages effects, and 4 bales skins; the Clyde, for London, with 73 bales wool, 84 bales glue pieces, 40 bales basils, 40 bales rags, 53 bales leather, 8 bales cotton, 9 bales fleshings, 4 bales skins, 3 bales 29 kegs sinews, 1000 casks tallow, 6577 hides, 147 drums 9 casks oil, 10 drums glycerine, 987 bags and a quantity copra, 180 pigskins, 2600 horns, 26 bags bones; the M.M.S. Gold, uncoined.—May, 2 boxes, value £10,518; July, 1 box, value £800; August, 3 boxes, value £12,100. Total, 6 boxes, value £23,418.

IMPORT MARKETS.—In the import markets business has been extremely quiet, and the course of sales has been marked by very little fluctuation.

AMERICAN GOODS.—Several shipments of American goods have arrived during the month, and with almost every line the market is fully stocked. At the prices realised for lumber cargoes importers complain. On the 12th September, at Messrs. Fraser and Co.'s, the Lady Bowen's shipment of undressed Oregon was sold at from 11s. 6d. to 12s.; flooring boards, 6 x ¾, T. and G., 17s. 9d.; 6 x 1, 18s. 9d.; 4 feet pickets, 12s.; 4½ feet laths, 12s.; 268 Eastern States clear pine doors were sold at from 10s. to 17s. 3d., the latter for 3 x 7 x 1½. Redwood doors, ex City of Sydney, brought 9s. to 15s., according to size, octagon realising 16s. to 17s. On the 25th September, the Pacific Slope's cargo of Oregon brought from 11s 6d. to 12s. 9d.; pieces, 16 x 16, brought 16s 6d., and 18 x 18, 17s. 6d.; T. and G. flooring boards, 6 x 1, 17s. 9d.; 6 x 1¼, 15s. 9d.; pickets, 12s 3d.; laths, 23s. Ex Johan Irgens, Redwood mantels, 12s. 6d. to 17s. Slates, 20 x 10, £8; Bangor, £10 10s. Resin, £8 for pale amber. Kerosene, 1s. 6d. for low test, 1s. 10d. for high test; colonial, worth 1s 6d., with discounts. Salmon, owing to arrivals, has declined, and is now quoted at 7s. 3d. Oysters, 5s. 9d.; lobsters, 7s. 3d. to 7s. 6d.; dried apples are dearer, and prime fruit in parcels is worth up to 7½d. Tobacco has advanced about 1d per lb., consequent on the advices of higher prices in the States. The following are quotations:—Black Swan twist, scarce, 1s. 3d. to 1s. 4d.; St. Andrew's twist, 1s. 4d. to 1s. 4½d.; Snaillard's twist, scarce, 1s 4d. to 1s. 5d.; Emu, 1s. 1d. to 1s. 2d.; Elephant twist, 1s. 1d. to 1s. 2d.; T. C. Williams' brand, scarce, 1s. 10d. to 2s.; colonial, dark, 1s. 5d to 1s. 6d.; colonial (American leaf), 2s. 6d. to 2s. 9d.; twist, 2s. 9d. to 3s.; Manila cigars, plentiful, No. 1 58s. to 60s., No. 2 55s.

BREADSTUFFS.—The market has eased somewhat during the month, the trade being quiet. South Australian town brands are quoted at £12 to £12 5s.; country, £11 to £11 10s.; New South Wales, £10 15s. to £11 10s.; and Victorian, £10 10s to £11 5s.; wheat, 5s. to 5s. 2d. for best samples; oatmeal, £15 to £18.

BUILDING MATERIALS.—There is scarcely any change to notice in articles under this head. At auction, on the 12th September, white Baltic dressed timber, 6 x ¾, T. and G., sold at 18s. 3d.; 6 x ⅞, T., 11s. 9d. to 12s.; 6 x 1¼, 15s.; 6 x ½, 9s. On September 26th following prices were paid for New Zealand timber:—Ex Prospector: Kauri flooring, 6 x 1, 19s.; dressed shelving, 12½, 20s.; 14 to 18 x ⅞, 21s.; undressed boards, 9 x 1, 10s.; 15 to 18 x 1, 17s. 3d.; deals, 14s 3d. to 15s.; flitches, 13s. 9d. Ex Darcy Pratt: New Zealand yellow pine, 6 x 1, T. and G., white, 12s.; 12 x 1 by 18 to 1, 13s.; rough pine scantling 6s. 9d. to 7s. 6d.; board, 12 x 1, 9s. 9d.; 14 x 1, 10s. 9d.; 12 x ¾, 9s. 9d.; 16 x ¾, 7s. 9d.; 12 to 18 x 1 boards, 11s. 6d.; pine flitches, 8s.; 6 x 1, T. and G., totara, 13s.; 2 x 2 to 12 x 3, honeysuckle, 15s.; 5 feet architraves, 9s. Cement is still dear, the market having been inconveniently scarce. For immediate delivery the price is 18s. to 19s.; for forward delivery 16s. 6d. to 17s. 6d. is quoted.

CANDLES.—The market has been barely stocked, and prices have advanced ½d. per lb.; 10d. is now paid for D.R Jones's on the spot, and close at hand. Colonial-made have been sold freely for delivery all this month at 9½d.

COFFEE.—There is very little doing in coffee; 10d. is quoted as value of parcels of No. 1 Ceylon Plantation. Barry's chicory 6¼d. in trade lines. Epps' cocoa, 1s. 5d.; Taylor's, 1s. 3d.

DRIED FRUITS.—There has been more demand for currants, and in cases they now command 5¼d.; elemes, 6d. to 6½d.; sultanas, 7d. to 7½d., scarce; figs, 9½d. per lb.; Barcelona nuts, 4½d.

DRUGS AND CHEMICALS.—Soda crystals, £7; cream of tartar—in kegs 1s. 4½d., cases 1s. 6d.; tartaric acid—in kegs 1s. 11d., cases 2s.; flour of sulphur, £14; alum, £12; saltpetre in lump, £33; carbonate of soda, £12; soda—60 per cent., £12 10s., 70 per cent., £15, and 76 per cent., £20.

FISH.—There has been very little inquiry for fish. Sardines are worth 8s. 9d. and 4s. 9d., halves and quarters respectively, the latter being scarce; fresh herrings, 5s. 9d.; kippered, 9s. 6d. to 10s. 6d.; red, 33s.; ling, up to 6½d. for best.

HOPS AND MALT.—There is yet only a very small inquiry for hops for country requirements, and it is difficult to give quotations. 2s. 9d. to 3s. is paid for single bale lots of prime. English malt, 7s. to 7s. 6d.; New Zealand, 6s. 9d.

JUTE GOODS.—The market is very quiet; 2s. 5d. is outside value for 11¼lb. full-weight woolpacks. Small sales of cornsacks are making from 7s. 9d. to 8s.

LIQUORS.—The trade in bottled beer is quiet; best brands command 10s. 6d. and 7s. 3d. for quarts and pints respectively. Stout is also neglected; 9s. 9d. and 6s 9d. are the quotations. In brandy, Hennessy's is scarcely so dear; 48s. may be quoted as value of three star, and 35s. 6d. of single star. Lowndes' rum has been selling at lower prices, but the market closes at 3s. 11d. firm; Preston's 3s. 9d. Geneva is selling in large contents at 11s. 9d. Burnett's old tom, 11s. 9d. Whisky may be quoted at 12s. to 22s. for Scotch in case, and 4s. 6d. to 12s. in bulk; and for Irish 14s. to 20s. in case, and 5s. to 10s. 6d. in bulk.

METALS.—In metals the trade is decidedly quiet. Galvanised iron of the various brands is quoted at £22 10s. to £24 15s. Pig iron is more plentiful, a quantity having been discharged from the steamship Garonne; 85s. is quoted as value. Sheet lead has also declined in value, and is now quoted at £16 10s. There has been rather more inquiry for fencing wire, but prices continue very low; £12 10s., £13, and £14 15s. may be quoted as value of Nos. 6, 8, and 10 of leading brands, others at about 20s. less. Steel wire has also been selling more freely. Wire nails are worth 15s. 6d. I. C. Coke tin plates are moving at 18s. 9d. Muntz metal, 7½d.

OILMEN'S STORES.—Stocks are ample, and trade quiet. Bottled fruits, 11s. 6d.; Moir's marmalade, 6s. 4½d. Mustard—Keen's D.S.F., quarters, 4s 10½d.; halves, 8s. 9d., and 1lb. at 17s. Pickles—London, 8s. Salad Oil—Whybrow's half-pints, 5s. 1½d.; pints, 9s.; quarts, 17s. 6d. Castor—Pints, 7s. 6d.; half-pints, 3s. 10½d. Starch—Colman's, £41. Preserved milk, 6s. to 7s. 3d.

OILS.—Raw and boiled oil is still dull of sale, with large stocks; 3s. 3d. to 3s. 4d. is value in drums. Castor is scarce, and worth 4s. 3d. on the spot, but for forward delivery sales have been made at 3s. 10d; with China the trade has been replenished, and the price is now 3s. 8d.

RICE.—The market is largely stocked. Fine table is quoted at £19 to £20, ordinary grades are worth from £14 to £16. Sago and tapioca, 1½d.

SALT.—The salt market is weaker. Liverpool coarse is worth 67s. 6d. to 70s.; fine, 85s. to 90s.; rock, 67s. 6d. to 70s.

TEA.—Importers still complain of a very dull market, the effect of the numerous importations by distributing houses yet being apparent. With the diminished import, a better trade is looked for before the close of the season—an anticipation, however, that must necessarily be subject to the extent of further shipments.

The following table shows the declared value of the Imports and Exports at the Sydney Customs from January 1 to September 22, 1882 and 1883:—

PROPERTY CIRCULAR.

RICHARDSON AND WRENCH.—This market is now improving, and enquiries are more numerous than formerly for city investments in favourite business positions, as well as for terraces of private residences that give fair rental returns on the purchases. City building lands in the business centre are eagerly taken up from time to time as they come under the hammer, and the prices obtained for some very recently quite surpassed vendors' expectations. Suburban improved properties having good rent rolls can easily be placed at fair figures. Enquirers for eligible blocks of land are on the increase, and large subdivisions on our railway lines will shortly be placed in the market. The attendance at sales upon the ground is on the increase, and a greater interest is taken in subdivisions than formerly. Building operations are still quiet, but with the prospect of an easier money market, the master builders are starting operations, and expect shortly to do a large amount of business in that line. Suburban residences with grounds, handy to the city, are inquired for, and can now be quoted at satisfactory prices. Among our sales since the departure of the last San Francisco mail we notice the following:—Three blocks of land, parish of South Wagga, New South Wales, together with improvements thereon, £3500; 16 allotments of land, being the whole of Marathon Estate subdivision, at Darling Point, at prices ranging from £8 to £13 12s 6d per foot; amount of sale, £7465 9s 2d. WOOL AND PRODUCE MARKET.

From Messrs. Mort and Co.'s annual circular we take the following items:—"Following our annual custom of briefly commenting upon matters bearing more especially upon the markets for wool and other produce, we have to report that the results of the past year's transactions have fairly borne out our anticipations as to the advantage to growers of realising their clip in the Sydney market. From the very commencement of our sales, which opened on October 21, there was great buoyancy in the bidding, with a full attendance of French, German, American, and English buyers, who were armed with unlimited orders, and most anxious to do business at prices which the sequel shows to have been well up to English values. In the light of the unsatisfactory result for the most part to those growers who preferred relying upon the home market to accepting colonial rates, it must be a matter for great regret that buyers' disposition to operate did not receive a freer response. A large number of growers have become so habituated to shipping to London direct, without the means of testing this market, that they do not realise how much they have at times lost through not giving the buyers here an opportunity of bidding for their clips. This, we feel sure, is because they do not appreciate the change that has come over our wool market during the past few years. Rapidity of operation, which has become so essential a part of all modern commerce, is now a necessity in the wool trade. For early delivery, a manufacturer can afford to pay as well as for any other advantage, and in no way can he get wool into his warehouse so quickly as by buying here and importing direct. Early last season it was estimated that the previous dry weather and the consequent loss of stock would seriously diminish the wool supply, and at the same time sensibly deteriorate the quality of a large proportion of that available. So far as this colony is concerned, the former contingency has not been borne out, but we regret to say there is ample evidence of the latter in the lower figures which are now being realised for inferior-conditioned and wasty wools generally. The export for the year from the colony reaches 272,191 bales, or an increase of 30,810 bales; whilst from the other colonies the increases and decreases were as follows:—Victoria, decrease, 22,051 bales; South Australia, increase, 2103; Queensland, about the same; or an aggregate increase of some 13,500 bales. It will be seen from this that New South Wales is not only fully holding her own, but is steadily increasing her export, and rapidly assuming her right position as the leading wool market of the colonies. This view is now fully recognised in all the colonies, and through the efforts of those who, like ourselves, are closely connected with this important trade, Sydney will shortly have an array of splendid wool warehouses unequalled in this hemisphere. Although the coming clip will, as regards those districts which have not suffered severely from the dry weather, be sound and well grown, our advices lead us to expect that the wool will be unusually light. It is expected that we shall have a number of fresh buyers both from America and the continent of Europe, and already foreign buyers are beginning to assemble; and when the market fairly opens, we anticipate the establishment of a satisfactory demand at rates, which, we feel sure, will compare favourably with those recently advised from London."

Stud Sheep; Despite the depressing influences of dear money and the uncertain character of the season, the sales of stud sheep at auction in Sydney this year exceed those of last by some £15,000. Indeed, the Sydney stud sheep sales have this year attained the leading position. A few years since Victoria had a monopoly in this respect; but a comparison of results for this year shows that, while the Melbourne sales grossed only some £32,000, those of New South Wales reached nearly £48,000; and we are glad to say that Victorian breeders have so far recognised the importance of the Sydney market as to send some splendid drafts of sheep for disposal here. A noticeable feature in this year's sales was the variety of stock submitted for inspection, New South Wales, Tasmania, Victoria, South Australia, Queensland, and California being all represented. This combination afforded the grandest display of high-class sheep ever submitted for public competition in the colonies, and that it was appreciated was evidenced by the large attendance at the sales, and by the satisfactory values realised for the principal exhibits. The diffusion throughout the flocks of this country of blood of such a high character must ultimately prove of incalculable benefit to all connected with the great pastoral interest.

SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT.—In order to keep time with the greater competition in the STATIONERY and BOOKSELLING trades, I have this day determined to place my prices beyond the possibility of being beaten by competition. It's an ill wind that blows good to nobody, and the wind of strained competition in our trade blows good to the consumer. The public are now participating, and shall more participate, in the benefits of competition in the STATIONERY TRADE. Every description of article in possible request in our line of business may be had at STATIONERS' HALL, at a fraction over COST PRICE, and along with the article will be served civility and politeness.

Cheap account books, cheap note papers, cheap envelopes, cheap ink, cheap pens, cheap desks, cheap blot cases, cheap leather desks, cheap purses, cheap penknives, cheap blot paper, cheap drawing-paper, cheap copybooks, cheap ladies' baskets, cheap toilet sets, cheap portrait albums, cheap scrap albums, cheap inkstands, cheap writing cabinets, cheap articles of every description.

N.B.—The reader is not to suppose that CHEAP means inferior. It does not. It means value, par excellence, for the money. The prices for the articles agree with the quality of the articles, and customers may choose their own prices.

In the BOOK DEPARTMENT a most superb, extensive, and miscellaneous stock may always be found. Almost any honourable book the press has issued may be had on application at FULLER'S DEPOT, 385, 387, George-street.

Country orders accompanied by a remittance promptly attended to.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO THE IMPORTERS FROM ENGLAND.—All engaged in trade with Great Britain and Ireland will do well to subscribe to THE BRITISH TRADE JOURNAL AND EXPORT PRICES CURRENT, as it gives the most complete and exact information of every branch of Trade, and so renders it unnecessary to read each departmental publication. It is a comprehensive Monthly Resume of all items of interest to Traders resident out of England; the Shipping, as well as the Markets and other commercial news, being written and compiled expressly for the merchant, planter, and exporter and importer abroad.

The BRITISH TRADE JOURNAL was established in January, 1863, and enjoys the support of the general Commercial Public IN EVERY PART OF THE WORLD. It is published on the 2nd of every month, and is regularly supplied direct from the office to its subscribers.

The subscription is £1 sterling per annum, payable in advance; free by post to any part of the globe. The amount can be remitted by Post Office order, cash, or stamps, or any mode that may suggest itself. An equivalent amount in the currency of the country remitting will be accepted.

STEINWAY NEW YORK PIANOS, the FINEST in the World.—A SHIPMENT JUST LANDED. BRADLEY, NEWTON, and LAMB, PIANOFORTE WAREHOUSEMEN, SPRING and O'CONNELL STREETS.

SALE EXTRAORDINARY.

NOTICE to QUIT our STORE
at 56, Clarence-street, having been given by Lister Henry, in consequence of his requiring more room, we are COMPELLED TO SELL
Our Large Stock of over
200 PIANOS and ORGANS
before the end of this month.

This is the more unfortunate, as we have only just landed some beautiful instruments, which, by reason of their excellence of finish, would command high prices, but which we must turn over at lower rates than our competitors ask for inferior goods.

Careful inspection and trial will infallibly bear out the truth of our statement and those of many eminent authorities who have seen our instruments, that

They are UNEQUALLED in AUSTRALIA for VALUE, MAGNIFICENCE of FINISH, and RICHNESS of TONE.

Those who wish to see the most beautiful Model Pianos in Sydney are cordially invited.
No one is pressed to buy.
OUR PIANOS and ORGANS SPEAK for THEMSELVES.

THE SMITH ORGANS,
from 11 to 90 guineas, will be sold during the month at liberal discounts.

DAVID LEE says:—"By far the finest instrument of the kind I have ever seen."

JULIUS HERZ says:—"The nearest approach to the pipe organ which ever came under my notice."

J. CHURCHILL FISHER, the eminent Professor of Music, writes:—"I am happy to testify to the excellence of your Smith American Organs. The one in use in the Public Training School, Fort-street, has given general satisfaction. Its tone is pure and pipe-like in quality, the Kalophon especially being an exquisite solo stop."

A Clergyman says:—"During the last three days I have visited every music store in Sydney, but have found your instruments far superior both in quality and cheapness."

PEPPER'S QUININE AND IRON TONIC possesses all the powers of these valuable tonics in banishing the cases and symptoms traceable to weakness. It rouses and develops the nervous energies, causing increased action of all the nerve centres, enriches the blood, promotes appetite, dispels languor and depression.

PEPPER'S QUININE and IRON TONIC strengthens the nerves and muscular system, improves digestion, animates the spirits, thoroughly recruits the health and strength. Bottles (32 doses), 4s 6d. Sold by chemists everywhere. Insist on having Pepper's Tonic. Made only by J. Pepper and Co., London.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—An External Means of CURING SKIN DISEASES. There is scarcely any eruption but will yield to "Sulpholine," and commence to fade away in a few days. Ordinary pimples, redness, blotches, scurf, roughness, vanish as if by magic; while old, enduring skin disorders that have plagued the sufferers for years, however deeply rooted they may be, "Sulpholine" will successfully attack them. It destroys the animalcules which cause these unsightly, irritable, painful affections, and always produces a clear, healthy condition of the skin. "Sulpholine" Lotion is sold by most Chemists, and ELLIOT BROTHERS, Sydney. Bottles, 2s 9d. Made only by J. PEPPER and CO., London.

TARAXACUM and PODOPHYLLIN.—This fluid combination, as a stimulant to disordered liver, is safer than calomel, blue pill, or destructive antibilious medicines. In all cases of congestion or liver complaint, Taraxacum and Podophyllin sets the sluggish liver in action, moves the stomach very gently indeed, giving a sense of lightness and comfort within a few hours. The symptoms of liver derangement—headache, torpidity, costiveness, flatulence, heartburn, sense of over-repletion, shoulder pains, repugnance to food, general discomfort and depression—are quickly dispelled by Taraxacum and Podophyllin. Prepared solely by J. PEPPER and CO., London. Insist on having the correct preparation. Bottles, 2s 9d and 4s. 6d. Sold by Chemists everywhere.

24 CHOICE VILLA BLOCKS.

SALE ON THE GROUND.

OVERLOOKING MOSSMAN'S BAY.
Each Lot having frontages of from 46 to 58 feet, by depths of from 200 to 249 feet.

MILLS and PILE have received instructions from the Attorney for the Owner (now in England) to sell by public auction, on the Ground, on SATURDAY, the 20th instant, at 3.30,
The above-described
VALUABLE BLOCKS OF LAND, suitable for villa residences, occupying a commanding elevation, overlooking Mossman's Bay and Little Sirius Cove, and close to the Military-road.

These lots, as will be seen by the plan on view at the Mart, are of unusually large size, and will be sold on the following wonderfully liberal terms:—
10 per cent. deposit;
Balance in 18 monthly payments,
with interest added at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum.

Lithographs are now in course of preparation, and the lots are all pegged out.

Title first-class.

For particulars apply to
Messrs. ROBERTSON, FISHER, and RALFE, Solicitors, Bond-street.

SATURDAY, October 20.

ON THE GROUND.

THE BRUSH FARM TOWNSHIP.

In consequence of the death of one of the proprietors.

Situate on the main road from Ryde to Parramatta, close to the future railway station on the main railway line from Sydney to Newcastle, the northern districts, and Queensland, and in the centre of the fruit-growing district of Pennant Hills.

MILLS and PILE have received instructions from the proprietors to sell by public auction, on the ground, on SATURDAY, October 20, at 3 o'clock,
THE BRUSH FARM TOWNSHIP,
comprising about
100 ALLOTMENTS OF LAND,
each having frontages of 66 to 132 feet to the following streets:—
Railway-street
Wentworth-street
Main Government Road
Blaxland-street
Clanwilliam-street
And other main streets.

It is needless to dilate upon the manifold charms of this magnificent suburban district, of which Brush Farm is the cream and the centre. It is situated on the crest of a SERIES OF RICH BALSALTIC HILLS, OVERLOOKING THE PARRAMATTA RIVER and the whole of the southern portion of the county of Cumberland. From many of the beautifully richly rounded peaks, the blue waters of the wide Pacific Ocean can be seen, through the heads of Botany Bay and over the low hills to the south, and the whole expanse of coast from the South Head to the Illawarra mountains are within view. To the west the Prospect Hills, the site of the storage lake to supply Sydney with water, seem to lie at your feet. On portions of this ridge of hills are to be seen the mansions of Messrs. R. and E. Terry, J. E. Manning, and numerous other magnates; and on Brush Farm, besides the palatial mansion, charming grounds, lovely gardens, and orchards of the hospitable resident proprietor, villas will shortly be built by Messrs. Rowe, Green, George, and Smith, and many others who purchased at the first and second sales, and who have already planted extensive gardens and orchards preparatory to building.

Not the least of the charms of this superb locality consists in the REMARKABLE PURITY OF THE ATMOSPHERE.

It is, in the true sense of the word, balmy. Far removed from the enervating character of the coast atmosphere, and from the harshness of the mountains; and it is, in fact, a golden mean, equable at all seasons of the year.

Since the first sales the railway which is to connect Sydney with Queensland and with the whole of the northern districts of this colony has been commenced. This railway will pass close alongside this property, and the station will be on the main line of road, as will be shown in the lithographic plans now in course of preparation, bringing Brush Farm within 20 minutes of the metropolis.
The Auctioneers have also received instructions to sell on the ground, at the same time, the remainder of the SUBURBAN PORTION OF THIS ESTATE, consisting of about 20 BLOCKS OF 5 ACRES EACH
or thereabouts, PLANS of which are being prepared.

THE WHOLE OF THIS SPLENDID ESTATE IS UNDER TORRENS' ACT.

The terms are: 20 per cent. deposit, and the balance in four quarterly payments bearing 6 per cent. interest.

Arrangements will be made to convey intending buyers to the ground free of charge.
LUNCHEON PROVIDED.

MILLS and PILE,
Auctioneers.

Personal.

A. A. H., formerly with J. P. B., Bil.,—Should be glad to hear from you. J. E. P., Imperial Hotel.

A. POW, Bath, England.—His Sister will please address, Post Office, Brisbane, Queensland.

ARTHUR CUBITT, "THE ARCADE," KING-STREET, SYDNEY. MISSING FRIENDS, NEXT OF KIN, AND PRIVATE INQUIRY OFFICE. CERTIFICATES OBTAINED OF BIRTHS, DEATHS, and MARRIAGES. COPIES OF WILLS AND OTHER DEEDS OBTAINED. PRIVATE INQUIRIES CONDUCTED WITH THE GREATEST CAUTION.

ARTHUR CUBITT thankfully acknowledges the great amount of support which has been accorded him during the past twelve months, brought about by an almost unvarying SERIES OF SUCCESSES which has attended the many difficult and important investigations that have been placed in his hands.

TO THE LEGAL PROFESSION the advertiser desires especially to point out the valuable aid he can offer them by the procuring of witnesses and THE COLLECTION OF EVIDENCE.

A. C. has frequently been instrumental either in saving estates from the entanglement of that "legal maze," the COURT OF CHANCERY, or in withdrawing them from the proverbial PERPLEXITIES OF EQUITY.

Another important branch in connection with TRACING OF LOST HEIRS and matters pertaining to the Ecclesiastical Courts here, as well as in Great Britain and other parts of the world. In this particular department Mr. CUBITT has often rendered essential service by the discovery of rightful claimants and the INVESTIGATION OF PEDIGREE.

With an ever-shifting population, and with a people almost of necessity to a large extent itinerant in its character, it is not to be wondered at that daily inquiries are made for MISSING RELATIVES AND FRIENDS.

It is by no means an exaggeration that, through the facilities afforded by this Institution for obtaining information in every direction, HUNDREDS HAVE BEEN RESTORED to their anxious acquaintances, or tidings of them ascertained. It not unfrequently happens that assistance is required by some in the shape of STRICTLY PRIVATE INQUIRIES; but, in the fear of undue revelation, many abstain from taking steps to satisfy their minds upon the very matters which so sorely perplex them. All business of this character is attended to SOLELY BY MR. ARTHUR CUBITT.

In the prosecution of intricate and delicate inquiries, clients may rely upon THE MOST UNSWERVING CONFIDENCE, and the carrying out of such with a high regard to their SACRED CHARACTER AND IMPORTANCE.

Through ARTHUR CUBITT'S AGENCY LOST WILLS have been brought to light, PROPERTY conveyed to rightful owners, MISSING FRIENDS have been DISCOVERED, LOST RELATIVES RESTORED, NEXT OF KIN TRACED, and ESTATES CONVERTED to their PROPER CHANNEL.
